PUPIL'S SIRE APPEALS FROM SON'S SUSPENSION

Trenton, April 24.—Objecting to the corporal punishment administered to his son by the school authorities and the subsequent suspension of the boy from school, Richard J. Tatham, of Wallingford, has appealed from the decision of the local board affirming the suspension to J. B. Betts, assistant commissioner of education.

In the petition filed by Mr. Tatham it is asserted, that on January 18 last Principal John M. Myers, together with Janitor Baucknecht and certain teachers of the school, inflicted corporal punishment upon Mr. Tatham's son Hobson and "violently assaulted" him. The father objected to the treatment accorded the boy, which was later followed by the order of suspension.

The petition states that Mr. Tatham appeared before the local board February 5 and requested a hearing, which was not accorded him. The local board has been given until next Tuesday to answer the complaint. Upon receipt of the answer Mr. Betts will determine what further action should be taken.

NEWARK THEATRES.

The new theatre's famous production of "The Blue Bird," the exquisite fantasy by Maeterlinck, will be presented at the Shubert theatre, Newark, for one week starting Monday, April 29, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. In "The Blue Bird" Maeterlinck has revealed a new and comforting philosophy of life, expressing it through the light and delicate fancy of the pursuit by two children of the blue bird, the symbol of happiness. They are accompanied on their journey by "Bread," a jolly grotesque individual; "Milk," a beautiful, timid creature; "Water," a flowing, sylph-like girl; "Fire," a hissing, tempestuous youth; "Sugar," a silly chap with candy hands; the faithful "Dog," the sly, scheming "Cat" and other things and animals embodied in human form by the magic of fairy Berylune. "The Blue Bird" brings tears to the eyes and then chases them away with laughter; plunges you in revery and then startles you with some joyous surprise. Children and those who like to take their amusement lightly, derive infinite pleasure from the amusing actions and witty sayings of things and animals turned into human beings. To those who look deeper, however, the author has furnished a bottomless well of mysticism, romance and inspiring sympolism. Particular attention will be given to out-of-town orders; mail orders with remittances and self-addressed stamped envelope will receive prompt attention. The prices are 50, 75 cents, $1.00 and $1.50, according to location. All orders should be addressed to Manager Lee Ottolengui, Shubert Theatre, Newark, N. J.

COMBINATION OF SAFE IS CHANGED BY THIEVES

Westfield, April 24.—Mystery surrounds the theft of $500 from a safe in the store of S. Scheuer & Co. The store, which was entered by burglars, is not minus much except the cash.

The thieves changed the combination of thes afe so that it could not be opened. It was necessary to break open the strong box and the theft of the cash was then discovered. Apparently the thieves if they did not have the combination had no difficulty in guessing it and then changing the numbers before they locked the safe again.

All that the burglars took from the store's stock was some canned goods.

MORE THAN FIFTEEN MILLIONS TO VOTE

Government Statistics Indicate Enormous Total of Ballots at Presidential Election.

Washington, D. C., April 24.—That more than 15,000,000 persons in the United States will record their votes for President in the campaign of the present year is evident from the official statistics of Presidential vote published in the Statistical Abstract of the United States, which has just been issued by the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor. Prior to 1888 no Governmental official record of the vote cast for President existed, but an act passed by Congress on February 3, 1887, made it the duty of the Executive of each State to report to the Secretary of State the names of electors and the number of votes given or cast for each person voted for, and these reports, made to the Secretary of State in 1888 and in each subsequent Presidential election, form the basis of the official record of Presidential elections in the United States. This record which has been published for several years in the Statistical Abstract of the United States, suggests that the total number of votes cast in the Presidential election of this year will for the first time exceed 15,000,000. The total number in 1908 was 14,887,000; in 1900, 13,965,000; in 1892, 12,041,000, and in 1888, 11,381,000. Dividing the vote thus officially recorded into the population named by official counts or estimates for the years in question, this shows the average population for each vote cast, as follows: in 1908, 5.98 persons for each vote cast; in 1904, 6.1; in 1900, 5.44; in 1896, 5.1; in 1892, 5.4, and in 1888, 5.27. The statements published in the Abstract show the vote cast in each State for the various candidates in each Presidential election from 1888 to 1908 and the electoral vote by principal political parties, State by State, during the same period.

The statement showing the official record of Presidential elections during the last quarter of a century illustrates the variety of interesting and official information presented in the Statistical Abstract issued annually by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics, the thirty-fourth number of which has just made its appearance. It shows, for example, that the average per capita wealth of the country has grown from $307 in 1850 to over [illegible] latest official record on this [illegible] the money in circulation from [illegible] per capita in 1850 to $[illegible] in 1911; the bank clearings [illegible] $52,000,000,000 in [illegible] year for which an official [illegible] available to $152,[illegible] in 1911; the [illegible] banks from $2,[illegible] the earliest [illegible] are available [illegible] 000,000 in [illegible] depositors in [illegible] 000,000 in 1866 to [illegible] 1911; the exports [illegible] ducts from a little [illegible] in 1849 to over $[illegible] 1911, and the [illegible] produced in the country [illegible] 000,000,000 in 1870 to $2[illegible] 000 in 1910, and many other [illegible] interesting evidences of national growth.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The interpreters of the principal persons of the story of "The Newlyweds and Their Baby" are well placed. They are Charles Morgan and Miss Olga von Hatzfeldt as the Newlyweds; Earl Knapp, a celebrated midget and clever actor, as both the little Napoleon and Major Knott Much, who has posed as an example of the beautiful possibilities of the incubator. J. N. Dyer as the lover of Mrs. Newlywed's animated sister, Dolly, Miss Maybelle Janot as that interesting young female person; Milton Dawson as the incubator man; Daniel F. Murphy, a thoroughgoing comedian and characteractor as a tongue twisting kellner; L. W. Carter as the family doctor; Miss May Emory as the Baby's nurse; Hal Starks as a comedy bear; Gus Stiehl as the always useful policeman. Mabelle Janot, J. N. Dyer, and the excellent chorus make a fine hit in the popular musical number, "Can't You See I Love You?" in the 60½ people music show "The Newlyweds and Their Baby." A lot of entertaining qualities and novelties and several fine ensembles brigten the production. Same excellent cast as last season. This play will appear at the Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and evening.

A grand production of Dante's "Inferno" has recently been shown before a distinguished assemblage of students, scholars and statesmen in the world famous amphitheatre of the University of Sorbonne, the oldest and most famous of the French institutions of learning. The commendation of the great work was unanimous. The reproduction is in moving pictures made by the Milano Films Company, and consisting of about one hundred life-like scenes from Dante's immortal poem. Special music and an elegant explanatory lecture will accompany the film, making the story perfectly clear. The production possesses a high educational value, which has been recognized by the best authorities. It will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre Monday and Tuesday, April 29 and 30.

FLURRY IN METUCHEN OVER RETURN OF CONNERS

Metuchen, April 24.—The arrival in Metuchen of Frank Conner, the [illegible]-year-old choir boy, and his [illegible]-only-appearing bride, formerly Mrs. Mary M. Upjohn, 43 years old, caused a flurry. No announcement of their homecoming had been made, but they had no more than stepped from the train before nearly everyone in town knew of their arrival.

The couple greeted a few friends, entered a taxicab and were driven to Woodwild, the country home of Mrs. Conner. As they passed up the main street they waved a friendly greeting to a number of acquaintances.

A social feud is threatened by their return. Already two families have been disrupted, those of Mrs. Upjohn and young Conner. His father and mother separated when she approved the attachment of young Connor and Mrs. Upjohn.

Some of the fashionable set of St. Luke's church, where Connor and his bride were choir members say they will "cut" them. Other members of the church are preparing to extend a cordial welcome and talk of giving a reception in their honor. The members of the Metuchen Club are also at variance and interesting developments are expected.

The affairs of Conner and his wife have been the subject of much comment in Metuchen for a year. In fact, there has been gossip ever since Mr. and Mrs. Upjohn came to Metuchen two years ago. They had been there only a short time when Dudley T. Upjohn, now president of the All-Night Mission, No. 8 Bowery, separated from his wife. Soon afterward Mrs. Upjohn inherited $200,000 from her father.

In June of last year Conner and his father, John M. Conner, had an altercation over Mrs. Upjohn. Conner said his son was causing a scandal by paying so much attention to her. Mrs. Conner took her son's part and she and her husband became estranged. Conner, who made a fortune in hat manufacturing, since that time has lived in a small house in the northern part of Metuchen.

After that trouble Mrs. Upjohn went to Reno, Nev., and a few weeks later young Conner disappeared. Nothing was heard from him until February 22 last, when he and Mrs. Upjohn were married in San Francisco, three days after she had ob- [illegible] of the [illegible] after the [illegible]

ROBBINS CIRCUS COMING WITH MANY ATTRACTIONS

[illegible] the hobby [illegible] years have [illegible] on a show on the road. Frank A. [illegible] that [illegible] which are not seen with any other [illegible] this year. [illegible] of the winter months [illegible] the country for the kind of features which are [illegible] and which the show of this season [illegible] the best features [illegible] numerous attractions [illegible] this standard. [illegible] the improvements in the performance there has been a substantial increase made in the menagerie, [illegible] the show, which has been in Jersey City all winter, goes forth so changed and improved that there little that is old about it.

The greatest feature of the show last year is retained, and in that the Robbins circus has one which not to be seen with any other circus on the road today. Hillary Long, the man who walks down stairs on his head, and the only person who does the act today, will be seen at every performance. Defying all laws of nature, and without the use of his hands at any time, he mounts a platform, balances on his head, and bounces along a distance of ten feet to a flight of steps. Down these slowly and deliberately, taking all of the jolt on the top of his head, and having the jar on his body with his shoulders he drops step by step, until the bottom of the flight is reached. The performance was given twice a day last year before thousands of people, and hundreds who had entered the canvas covered arena skeptical, left only to praise.

Another act which will draw applause from the lovers of animals is one in which eight handsome, coal-black Belgian stalions, imported at a cost of $16,000 a few years ago, go through graceful evolutions, indicating intelligence seldom seen in animals. The Carreas, two of the most graceful women bareback riders in the country; the Cevene family of aerialists, recently returned from a triumphant tour of South America, a big group of fun makers, three bands, and a hundred other performers provide an entertainment which lasts for two solid hours.

Two shows will be given, no matter what the weather. The first will be at two o'clock in the afternoon, and the other promptly at eight. The doors of the big canvas will open one hour earlier, so that the splendid menagerie, greatly enlarged this year, may be viewed leisurely, and with full knowledge that nothing will be missed in the main tent.

TRIBUTE TO HER MOTHER.

Out in Oklahoma, the people are going to pay a tribute of love and respect to their mothers on Sunday, May 12. That is the day that it will be generally observed throughout the country but it will be the first time that the newest State has had the opportunity to participate. The Governor has issued a special proclamation calling on the people to suitably give expression to their maternal affections. He did not write the message himself. Very appropriately he assigned that pleasant task to his sixteen-year-old daughter. This young woman is motherless and her touching tribute to her own mother is woven in the proclamation which furnishes a pattern for similar documents. Here is what she wrote:

"To pay tribute to the patient, loving mothers now departed from our midst, and to honor and reverence those left with us, an international honor day has been designated by the civilized nations of the earth.

"The sweetest treasure that life contains is your mother, who, dwelling here on earth, is more a part of heaven—but, whether with you or above with the angels, she is your mother still. Your mother's love is eternal, living on when youth has faded, when other love has withered and been forgotten, and when the leaves of friendship have fallen.

"Nothing that we can ever do can remove the debt of gratitude we owe our mothers; nothing can repay them for their patience, purity and loving kindness; but on this day, dedicated to them, we can, in a small yet sincere way, show our thoughtfulness of and gratitude to them to whom it is given. 'To garden the earth with the roses of heaven.'

"It is fitting that we as a nation and as a State honor these true workers of God, though they aspire not to fame; though they seek not popular applause, yet is their worth recognized and admitted by all who are capable of appreciating truth and excellence.

"Whereas, I, Lee Cruce, governor of the State of Oklahoma, do hereby proclaim Sunday, the twelfth day of May, 1912, as Mother's day, and request each citizen of Oklahoma, whether old or young, rich or poor, happy or sorrow-laden, to remember her whose love passeth human understanding and remembering, manifest to the world your love and gratitude by wearing a white carnation in honor of the dearest of all mothers, and wearing it think of her and love her."

Examinations of candidates for positions on the district election boards in Union county will be held at Elizabeth on Wednesday, May 15, and for those in Somerset county on the preceding day. As there is much uncertainty as to the requirement of candidates to be quizzed by the State Civil Service Commission, the following extract from the election laws will be instructive to those who desire to become district election officers, as well as to all who wish to become familiar with the act:

"The said commission shall give five days' notice by mail to all the applicants from each county whose applications are filed with them as aforesaid, of the time and place of holding the civil service examination in such county. The said examinations shall be held for the purpose of determining that the said applicants for the said appointments shall possess the following qualifications; the ability to distinguish readily the ordinary colors, such as red, blue, black, green, white and yellow; such eyesight as will enable the applicant, with or without eyeglasses, to read nonpariel type; the ability to read the English language readily; the ability to add and substract figures correctly; the ability to write in a legible hand with reasonable facility; a reasonable knowledge of the duties required to be performed by them as election officers under the election laws of the State; health, which would permit them to discharge their duties as such election officers; and that each applicant shall be of good moral character and shall have resided in the election district in which he makes application to be appointed, or in any territory of a readjusted district included in the new district for the term of at least one year, and that he is a legal voter in such district."

New Jersey took the initiative in publishing an industrial directory and so popular did the original edition prove that it was soon exhausted. Now a new volume has been compiled by the Bureau of Statistics of Labor and Industries and it will soon be ready for distribution. It will contain a list of nearly 5,000 factories and a brief review of the manufacturing resources and facilities of each community. Since New Jersey issued its first book of this kind, many States have gotten out handbooks on their industrial activities, among them being New York, Masachusetts, Illinois and Pennsylvania. While Pennsylvania and some other States may greatly surpass New Jersey in number of factories and industrial business generally, our State is rapidly advancing in this respect and we will have reason to be proud of our showing in the forthcoming volume.

The City Union of King's Daughters has every reason to feel proud of its new Day Nursery which was formally opened yesterday. The new quarters, where a splendid work is to be done, is complete in every respect and represents an outlay of some $10,000 and a considerable amount of painstaking effort. Through the generosity of a real philanthropist, one who does not wish her name paraded a la Carnegie, the building has been furnished throughout and as it stands is an institution typical of what the community is doing for those in need. The present home was made possible by the will of Mrs. M. E. Edgerton, who bequeathed $10,000 to the Union, which although but seven years old, is on the average caring for twenty-five tots each day.

If the Speaker of the House should defeat the Governor of New Jersey in the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination James B. Clark and not Thomas W. Wilson will be the party's standard bearer. These names seem strange to some who are not aware that Champ Clark's real name is James Beauchamp Clark and that Woodrow Wilson's is Thomas Woodrow Wilson. Cleveland's Christian name was Stephen Grover while U. S. Grant's was Hiram Ulysses.

The public thought it had heard the last of Harry K. Thaw when he was sent to a madhouse, but now it will find that a fresh edition of that disgusting episode will be served up through the columns of the big dailies for that strange specimen of humanity is renewing his attempts to regain his liberty. Unless the miraculous has happened during his confinement Thaw will be a dangerous man if allowed to run at large.

STRIKERS CLASH.

Summit, April 24.—The police were called to the Summit silk mill yesterday to quell a disturbance between some of the striking weavers and those who were on their way to work. The strikers, it is said, tried to intimidate some of the weavers, and in consequence there was a mix-up of the two. No one was hurt.

CLAUDE VIOLIN BURIED.

Westfield, April 24.—Funeral services for Claude Violin, who for many years conducted a stained glass studio in town, were held at his late home in Prospect street. Mr. Violin had been a resident of Westfield for about twenty-five years.

cost, according to his itemized account, just $2,133, counting in the jewelry, walking sticks, two sets of toilet articles and a fountain pen that went with it. Add to this the 750 German marks and you have a total of $2,320.50 which von Drachstedt has figured he is out by reason of the sinking of the Titanic and for which he has already made plans to bring suit.

It was this young man's first voyage away from home. He lives in Cologne. He was taken from the Carpathia by friends to the German Hospital, in New York, last Thursday night suffering from the reopening of an old wound, caused by his exertion at the oars in the lifeboat in which he escaped. Von Drachstedt was able yesterday to compile the list of his wardrobes and this he has laid before Lawyer Opp, whose office is at 15 William street, New York, who was still busy yesterday looking up admirality cases covering a loss such as his new found client had met with on his first voyage to this country.

Young von Drachstedt's mother is a widow and lives in the Saschen-Ring-Cologne. They belong to the city's aristocracy, the mother being descended from a long line of barons. Over in Cologne von Drachstedt has been going in for motoring and aviation, but, as his friends explained for him yesterday, a short time ago he wearied of this and got his mother's permission to look over the New World. If he liked it he was to stay and engage in this country in business.

Lawyer Opp said yesterday that he hadn't filed the Baron's suit as yet, but that an examination of the authorities made him think he had a good case. Whether or not von Drachstedt got back the money spent for the wardrobe depended, he thought, very much on Mr. Ismay.

"If it can be proved that Mr. Ismay knew the ship had been warned of icebergs and nevertheless was proceeding to top speed," said Mr. Opp, "it would appear as if the limitation as to liability which would othrwise govern the case would be removed. Of course we shall make the claim first to the company before actually filing suit. I don't think there is any question but that similar suits will be brought, although I should say that the wardrobe here enumerated was probably unusual."

The Baron, who expected to arrive in the new land comfortably fixed for a start both as to clothes and money, is now practically living on the bounty of his friends until the good mother in Colonge, thankful no doubt that he has his life, comes forward with assistance. A letter to his mother written before he fled the Titanic bidding her good-by he says he tore up when he reached the Carpathia's deck.

ANDERSON SECRETARY OF JURY REFORM COMMISSION

Trenton, April 24 (Special)—The jury reform commission appointed by joint action of the Legislature, met in the Senate chamber yesterday, Senator G. W. Lewis, of Burlington, being made chairman, and Assemblyman W. de la R. Anderson, of Somerset, secretary. It was decided to communicate with every State in the country, for the purpose of obtaining copies of laws and literature on the subject; also prosecutors and sheriffs in every county of the State, and the press of the State will be notified that the commission will be glad to obtain ideas and suggestions on the subject.

Senator Lewis was delegated to communicate with the counties in the southern part of the State, and Assemblyman Anderson with those in the northern part. The commission will codify all communications from which ideas will be secured and draft plans, after which public hearings will be held in every county of the State to obtain further suggestions regarding a reform of the present jury system.

HINT FOR HOUSEWIVES FROM MEASURES CHIEF

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, April 24.—William L. Waldron, State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, called attention today to the fact that the new law just enacted fixing a standard size for fruit and vegetable baskets at a half bushel, does not apply unless the customer specifically asks the dealer for a half bushel. Mr. Waldron said that if commodities are purchased in future by the basket, the dealer will not be legally bound to deliver a half-bushel basket. People who wish to get the benefit of the new law, therefore, should insist always in getting a half-bushel of whatever commodity be purchased.

Since the appointment of the assistant superintendents, which was made possible by an appropriation of $5,000 made by the last Legislature, Superintendent Waldron has actively prosecuted the campaign against short-weights and measures. Instruction has been given to the local weights and measures inspectors in the localities throughout the State and in connection with the County Superintendents, practically all of whom had been appointed, work has been organized for a definite and thorough crusade to protect the people against being imposed upon by unscrupulous dealers.

Superintendent Waldron and his assistants have already gathered in quite a collection of bad scales, measures, baskets, etc., showing how the people have been cheated in buying. Superintendent Waldron is planning an exhibit of this collection at the Inter-State Fair next September, in order that the people may view it and profit by the knowledge of how dishonest dealers ply their work.

THE FORUM.

DEMOCRAT PRAISES SENATOR.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I was much interested in reading the letter from Mr. Williams in your issue of 22d inst., detailing the highly honorable position taken by Senator Pierce with regard to legislation promoted by the machine leaders, having for its object the prevention of independent nominations. Though I did not vote for Mr. Pierce because of our different views with regard to National policies, I am proud of him as a member of our State Legislature, and feel that were that body composed entirely of such men it would matter little to which of the great parties they might belong, or which party might be in the numerical ascendency.

For the machine leader, without regard to the party he pretends to support, is the great enemy of the public, and the ready tool of the corrupt private interests who control his action and to whom he looks, not in vain, for his compensation. To control the primary in the first place and next to thwart any revolt against his choice is his constant effort, and unless the voters take enough interest in their own affairs to participate in the primary, this public enemy will prevail.

At least 100,000 voters in New Jersey are not entitled to take part in the primaries this year, because of failure to vote last fall, unless they take the necessary steps prescribed by law to secure the right. I hope they will do so. It is true that ours is a government of law and not of men, but we have to rely on men to enact and enforce the law, and only at the primaries can we ensure the selection of fit men, men such as Senator Pierce. Let us hope that no voter in Plainfield will neglect to attend the primary election.

EDWARD C. PEARSON.

NO APPOINTMENT YET OF ASST.-SEC'Y. OF STATE

Trenton, April 24 (Special).—The fight over the position of Assistant Secretary of State is not yet settled and as a result the place was not filled yesterday, although Secretary of State Crater has been in office some time. Governor Wilson, when asked how soon the appointment would be made said he did not know.

"I do not make that appointment. It is made by Mr. Crater," he stated. "But it is well known that Mr. Crater is deferring to your wishes," he was told. The Governor reiterated that he did not know when the place would be filled.

Secretary of State Crater declared that he could not tell how soon the appointment would be made. Democratic State Chairman Edward E. Grosscup deprecated the thought that he had anything to do with the appointment, though it has been very patent some time that all the State leaders were anxious about the matter.

The general opinion is that Job Lippincott, of Jersey City, is in the lead for the appointment. One thing that is believed to be in Lippincott's way is that he was Police Commissioner, of Jersey City, when the recent police pension scandal broke, which is to be investigated by a Legislative committee.

MANY NURSERY VISITORS.

The opening reception at the King's Daughters' Day Nursery yesterday afternoon and evening was a great success. Nearly 700 friends of the charity called and inspected the commodious quarters and expressed their pleasure with the well-equipped home. During the day about thirty children were cared for at the nursery and the visitors were much interested in the little ones. Yesterday gold lettering, "King's Daughters' Day Nursery," was placed over the front porch.

HAD NO LICENSE.

George Faturos, a West Front street fruit dealer, was taken into custody yesterday afternoon by Chief Weiss for peddling without a license in North Plainfield. This morning when he appeared before Recorder Gano he was fined $15 and severely reprimanded.

Albert Naylor, musician, 256 E. Second St., Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I suffered from an ache in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting. I took Doan's Kidney Pills as I was told that they were good for such troubles and by the time I had finished the contents of two boxes, I was feeling better in every way. IN WOMAN'S REALM

Woman's World

Mrs. Bell a United States Commissioner.

MRS. MABEL VAN DYKE BELL.

Mrs. Mabel Van Dyke Bell of Covington, Ky., recently appointed a United States commissioner, is probably the only woman in the United States endowed with judicial powers. Mrs. Bell recently tried her first case, in which she presided with as much dignity as any old practitioner. Her roles of office consisted of a white shirt waist and a brown tailored skirt. She arose and courtesied to the members of the bar in the most dignified manner, disposed of the case and then went home to enforce the domestic laws that govern every well regulated household.

Mrs. Bell had been a deputy in the office of United States Court Clerk John Menzies, and the experience gained there enabled her to preside over her court as flawlessly and with as much judicial dignity as any of her predecessors.

It is the duty of the commissioner to extend preliminary hearing in all cases developing in his jurisdiction and to either dismiss the prisoner, if there is insufficient evidence, or hold him to the next term of the court, fix the bond, pass upon the securities and perform other similar duties. Violators of the internal revenue and postal laws, moonshiners, counterfeiters, retailers of liquor without federal licenses and even bankers who may deal in "frenzied finance" to the displeasure of Uncle Sam may be brought before this woman. In all these preliminary hearings the commissioner exercises a judicial function—is, in fact, a judge.

Mrs. Bell is at a loss to understand why such an unusual interest has been taken in her. She regards her commissionership as the most natural thing in the world and her appointment as the natural order of events. However, her two boys, Davis and James, while their mother is officiating as an arm of the United States government, are quite confident that she is the one woman of the country. These are the only children that resulted from Mrs. Bell's marriage. Before going to the federal building to preside over her first court Mrs. Bell, in the most motherly manner, washed her children's faces and hands, put their clean bibs and tickers on them and started them off to school.

Besides being the only woman federal jurist in the United States, Mrs. Bell has the distinction of being one of the most attractive of the her sex. She was a belle in her girlhood days. She is still in the twenties and girlish in appearance.

She's Still Miss La Follette.

Miss Fola La Follette, daughter of the Wisconsin senator, has not assumed for every day use the name of George Middleton, the dramatic author, to whom she was married last October.

"It was my desire to retain my own name," said she, "and Mr. Middleton generously consented to it. I believe a woman who has done things should not lose her personality when she marries. If she take her husband's name she to a certain extent loses the personality which her work has given her.

"I think the time is coming," said she, "when all women will retain their own family names through matrimony. It is not because I am on the stage that I desire to keep my name. It is purely a personal feeling with me. I believe public opinion is tending this way, and in the near future we shall regard it just as reasonable for a wife to ask her husband to take her family name as for a man to ask the woman he marries to adopt his name.

"Of course if a woman feels this way about it she should have an understanding before her marriage, Mr. Middleton is a reasonable man, and he agreed with me in my point of view before our marriage."

To Wash Khaki Suits.

When washing tan colored clothes or stockings or the khaki colored suits put a little brown dye in the rinsing water and in the starch. One ten cent package of dye dissolved in boiling water and then bottled will last a whole season. Add only a little to the water. Using the dye prevents that washed out look so common to the khaki colored suits after laundering.

RIBBON GIRDLES.

Dainty Dresden Ribbons to Be Worn at the Waist.

Ribbon girdles are to enjoy a tremendous popularity, according to dressmakers. Summer gowns of wash fabrics will be considered scarcely finished without some sort of bright girdle or sash to encircle the waist. Many of the girdles are to be fashioned of the dainty Dresden ribbons in colors to harmonize with the gowns.

Very broad ribbon is used and laid in folds to make the girdle of suitable width. A rosette of the ribbon or a dainty rosette finishes one end and hides the place where the belt is lapped over.

A buckle covered with ribbon may be substituted for the rosette or choosing any fancy ornament that can be covered with ribbon being considered suitable for this purpose.

A Fancy Dish.

Scalloped Salsify.—Boil the salsify until tender, then peel and cut crosswise in slices half an inch in thickness.

Butter a baking dish and put in a layer of the salsify. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with bits of butter.

Add a layer of breadcrumbs, then a layer of salsify, seasoning as before, and have a thin top layer of breadcrumbs.

Seed Cakes.

If you wish to make a very plain seed cake it may be built up on the recipe for a simple currant cake. Where the recipe calls for currants just substitute caraway seeds.

Another way to make a plain caraway seed cake is to use Vienna bread dough or dough with milk and add to it an ounce or two of butter or sugar and caraway seeds to taste. The allowance of seeds is usually small, a teaspoonful of them to the pound of flour being used. Too many seeds in the cake will make it dry.

THE WOMAN SUFFRAGE PARADE

One of the liveliest offices in the city of New York is the headquarters of the Woman's Political Union on East Twenty-ninth street. In one room twelve paid workers are busy addressing envelopes. In another room as many volunteer workers are engaged in the same occupation. They are sending out thousands upon thousands of invitations to march in the great Woman Suffrage Parade on May 4. And already 3000 pledges to march have been returned,—as many as the total number of marchers in last year's procession. Tables and chairs are piled high with these pledges, which come from women's clubs, school teachers, actresses, writers, doctors, lawyers—literally all kinds and conditions of working and professional women. Among the Woman Suffrage societies in New York which will march are the Collegiate, the Equal Franchise, the Men's League, the State Association, Political Equality Association and the Woman Suffrage Party.

The four Woman Suffrage societies in New Jersey will also march. The New Jersey Woman's Suffrage Association, the Equal Franchise, the Men's League and the Woman's Political Union will take part to bear witness to their faith in the cause of Equal Rights. There are in fact about twenty states and nations outside New York that will be represented.)

The Chinese delegation will be found extremely interesting. Mrs. Loo Lin will march, carrying a banner. Miss Mabel Lee, a Chinese student at Barnard College, will ride. The Swedish delegation will be led by the translator of the Selma Lagerloff's works, Mrs. Velma Swanston Howard. The Norwegian women will be led by Mrs. Gertrude Lothen Dreyson. The dramatic section has a strong committee, including Miss Ethel Barrymore, Miss Lillian Nordica, Miss Lillian Russell, Miss Gertrude Elliot, Miss Mary Shaw, Mrs. Otis Skinner, Miss Helen Arthur, Miss Constance Collier, Mrs. Harriet Otis Leiterbaugh, Mrs. H. C. DeMille, Miss Julia Opp, Mrs. Louise Closser Hale, Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock, Miss Martha Leonard, Miss Susanne Sheldon, Miss Ada Wetherman, Miss Olive Wyndham, Miss Flora Zabelle, Mrs. Thomas London, Miss Pauela Gaskorne and Miss Sarah Cowell Le Moyne.

The parade will take place, rain or shine at five o'clock on the afternoon of May 4. Any New Jersey suffragist desiring to join the procession should send name and address and description to Mrs. Mary L. Calvin, 56 North Maple avenue, East Orange, New Jersey.

This will be the greatest suffrage parade ever held in the United States and it is estimated that the marchers will number at least 15,000. Further particulars will appear in the "Woman's Journal," the organ of the National American Woman Suffrage Association.

CLARA BARTON ON SUFFRAGE.

On April twelfth the world lost a great woman in the death of Clara Barton. Senator George F. Hoar has called her "the most illustrious citizen of Massachusetts." But she was a citizen of the world and as such will be mourned.

Like Florence Nightingale, Clara Barton was a life-long advocate of equal rights for women, and it would seem appropriate at this time and in this column to recall what she has said on that subject. The following extract is from an address given by Miss Barton before the May Festival of the New England Woman's Suffrage Association:

"I believe I must have been born believing in the full right of women to all the privileges and position which nature and justice accord to her in common with other human beings. Perfectly equal rights—human rights. There was never any question in my mind in regard to this. I did not purchase my freedom with a price; I was born free; and when as a younger woman, I heard the subject dsicussed, it seemed simply ridiculous that any sensible, rational person should question it, and when later, the phase of woman's right to suffrage came up, it was to me only a part of the whole, just as natural, just as right, and just as certain to take place.

"And whenever I have been urged, as a petitioner, to ask for this privilege for woman, a kind of dazed, bewildered feeling has come over me.

"Of whom should I ask this privilege? Who possessed the right to confer it? Who had greater right than woman herself? Was it man, and, if so, how did he get it? Who conferred it upon him? He depended upon woman for his being, his very existence, nurture and rearing. More fitting that she should have conferred it upon him!

"Was it governments? What were they but the voice of the people? What gave them their power? Was it divinely conferred? Alas! No; or they would have been better, purer, more just and stable.

"Was it force of arms—war? Who furnished the warriors? Who but the mothers? Who reared the sons and taught them that liberty and their country were worth their blood? Who gave them up, wept their fall, nursed them in suffering, and mourned them dead?

"Was it labor? Women have always, as a rule, worked harder than men.

"Was it capital? Woman has furnished her share. Who, then, can give her the right, and on what basis? Who can withhold it?

"There is once in a while a monarch who denies the right of man to place a crown upon his head. Only the great Jehovah can crown and anoint him for his work, and he reaches out, takes the crown, and places it upon his head with his own hand. I suspect that this is in effect what woman is doing today. Virtually there is no one to give her the right to govern herself, as men govern themselves, by self-made and self-approved laws of the land. But in one way or another, sooner or later, she is coming to it. And the number of thoughtful and right-minded men who will oppose will be much smaller than we think; and when it is really an accomplished fact, all will wonder, as I have done, what the objection ever was."

PERTH AMBOY CURBS AN AGED SAMARITAN

Perth Amboy, April 24.—The police have found it necessary to check the activity of Mads Christensen, a self-appointed missionary to the lodgers and prisoners at the city lockup. More than seventy years old, Christensen is at the city hall nearly every morning when the lodgers turn out at 6 o'clock and the charge is made that he gives some of them the addresses of citizens who will furnish them a breakfast.

The people object to having such visitors as a regular thing and it was some time before the police could find out where the lodgers secured the names of the people visited. Complaints came in so frequently that Chief Burke has had to issue orders to the sergeants on duty and they in turn warn the lodgers against visiting any of the places recommended by Christensen.

SUSPECT MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR CHESTER WAS KILLED

Chester, April 24.—The mystery attched to the identity of the body of the man found Sunday in a brush heap on the Hicks property about a mile and a half west of this village, is giving the county authorities more or less concern. There are all kinds of theories as to how the man met his death. The generally accepted opinion is that he was murdered and that the body was brought to the place where it was found. This belief is strengthened by the fact that the man must have been dead six or seven weeks, while the clothing did not show to any great extent that it had been exposed to the elements.

The man's shirt bosom was still stiff, and this is taken as an indication that theb ody was recently put where it was found. It is argued that if the body had been exposed to the elements for any length of time the rain would surely have washed the starch from the shirt bosom. In the cuffs were a pair of plain gold link buttons. Partly covering the body was a rain coat, although this afforded but little protection.

The man was about five feet eight inches tall, weigh about 160 pounds, age probably thirty-five or forty years. A small scar was on the neck under the left ear. The clothing was of fine texture, even to the underwear. The man was dressed in a gray suit and also wore a gray overcoat. The raincoat was tan colored.

In the shirt bosom were three gold studs. The features were so badly decomposed as to make identification from this source impossible.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

"Big Chief" Meyers shares the top step with Knabe, of the Phillies, in the National League batting list.

A year ago when Hank O'Day, as umpire, visited the city of Chicago the odds were about even on his carrying away a pop-bottle or the mark left when said object is swiftly propelled, from the ball park. On Saturday when he visited the same city he carried a pile of flowers and junk back to his hotel from the ball park.

Which only goes to show that there is some difference between being a manager and an umpire.

Jack Martin was giving his friends about town the glad hand yesterday. He took the run over from Jersey City where his team is trying conclusions with the Indians.

University of Wisconsin is said to have the heaviest 'varsity crew that ever represented that institution, averaging 179 pounds.

Nearly $20,000 has already ben subscribed for the Olympic team fund.

J. Franklyn Baker has had his trusty bat with him so far, heading things in the younger league.

There is a great deal of talk going the rounds about the leagues started too early again this year. But we heard that last year.

About time the Yanks started.

With the old bunch showing up at the Oval next Saturday the fans can smile—that is, if it doesn't rain, or snow or—or—something.

Dorlinger has slated a pretty fast bunch to start off with, but then they'll have to keep off their heels to win at that.

If he gets a pitcher that will live up to the pace set by the rest of the crowd it looks like good ball.

We will hope for a good day.

"Hut" Purdue is the latest, a member of the Boston Nationals, with three victories to his credit so far. And we haven't heard about any great sum exchanging hands for his capture either.

A chinning contest was held last Saturday for the P. S. A. L. championship. There were many chinning matches on Saturday, but this one was on a horizontal bar.

It looks rather funny to see Cincinnati the very first name in the East division in the National League standing.

It is reported that Jack Coombs, of the Athletics, was not hurt so badly as at first thought. Connie Mack is glad of that and so are we.

But Jack Lapp is down with typhoid fever, so that the Jinx still scores.

STILLMAN DROPS SECOND GAME TO WESTFIELD NINE

The Stillman Grammar School team fell before the Westfield team yesterday afternoon on Parker Field in the second game of the Grammar School League by the score of 21 to 2. The Westfield bunch proved to be a fast one and clouted the offerings of Waller and Harding to all corners of the lot, besides putting up a snappy article of ball.

The local boys showed a woeful lack of practice and in that the Westfield boys showed that they had not been caught napping. Errors were the feature of the Stillman school's play, that column of the score sheet resembling the run column reversed. Waller, Harding and Brown were the points for the Plainfield team and were decidedly off form, Westfield getting to them both in good shape.

A strong wind was blowing across the field which prevented a good article of ball, many flys being misjudged for that reason. The next date scheduled for the league games is Friday when North Plainfield plays at Westfield and Cranford comes to this city and plays on Parker Field.

DAHLEN AND RIGLER TO PAY 100 DOLLARS EACH

Manager Bill Dahlen of the Brooklyn Club was fined $100 and suspended for ten days by Prseident Lynch of the National League yesterday, and Umpire Charles Rigler, with whom Dahlen had a fist fight at the Polo Grounds at the end of Saturday's game, was also fined $100.

President Lynch investigated the fracas thoroughly, but did not state in his decision who struck the first blow. Several witnesses and the principals were examined. Rigler contends that Dahlen struck him first, while Dahlen says the umpire hit the first blow.

The trouble was caused when Rigler called a hit in the right field grand stand by Wilson a fair ball. Dahlen said that is was foul by six feet, and President Ebbets of the Brooklyn Club, sustained this version of the situation. Wilson's big hit won the game for the Giants.

ONCE MORE THE JINX HITS THE HARD PHILS

Philadelphia, April 24.—And still another.

Yesterday Mike contracted grip, and is under the care of Doctor Boger. He will be out of the game for several days, though he is not in any danger.

This will probably mean that Downey will be pushed over to short, and Brinker, who can play either infield or outfield, will be moved over to third. Knabe will handle the team.

Eight out of the game, and the season not two weeks old.

HOSPITAL LIST BIG ONE

Magee, Lobert, Killifer and Walsh Out of Game With Injuries at Same Time—Connie Mack, of Athletics, Gives Out a Few Tips.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Hard luck is following the Philadelphia National league team this season, the same as it did last. In 1911 Manager Dooin and Outfielder Titus were out of the game some time with broken legs. Magee, the Phillies' star outfielder and batter, had a run in with Umpire Finneran, which caused him to be suspended for a long period. It is figured that the absence of these men cost them the pennant.

This spring the Phillies looked strong—good enough to win the National league pennant. But hard luck stepped in and put several stars out of

HANS LOBERT, PHILLIES' STAR THIRD BASEMAN.

Where will it end? No one can foretell.

It has an effect upon the players which hurts. With Magee, Killifer Walsh, Lobert and Manager Dooin out of the game and at least two pitchers—Chalmers and Moore—far from fit for duty, the Phillies have reason to feel that the "jinx" is working overtime to put them out of the race.

It is not often that Connie Mack, the great leader of the Philadelphia Americans, breaks into print, but when he does it is usually worth while to read what he has to say.

Probably the best explanation why so many young players of ability fail in major league company comes in the following utterance from the manager of the world's champions.

"It's easy to find good mechanical ball players, but it's hard to discover those with a necessary supply of grey matter and real moral courage. The player who makes good in a pinch is the winner. I don't mean the bluffer who baits the umpire and browbeats his opponents, but the fellow who has the nerve and the backbone to meet every emergency. The bulldozer, as a rule, is yellow, while the player who behaves himself and bridles his tongue is dead game. Rowdies in general are not quick thinkers. That's why I've always steered clear of them. Intelligent players know how to curb themselves when under fire and for that excellent reason they seldom lose control of their think tanks."

Ad Wolgast, the world's champion lightweight, cannot be accused of picking out easy marks, for he is to fight Joe Rivers, the tough Mexican battler, July 4 on the Pacific coast. It is a fact that Wolgast could not have selected a more formidable opponent than Rivers, especially in view of the fact that the champion only recently recovered from a serious operation.

If Wolgast defeats Rivers it will be convincing evidence that the Wolverene wildcat has recovered all his original vim. If Wolgast loses it will be plain that he used bad judgment in picking his man for the first bout after his illness.

With Wolgast in the form he showed in his battle with Owen Moran, Rivers would stand little chance, but if Wolgast has lost much of stamina he will be in great danger.

P. H. S. FRESHMEN WIN GAME FROM NETHERWOOD

The City High School Freshmen defeated the Nethewood A. C. in a close and interesting game yesterday afternoon on Parker Field by the score of 4 to 2. With a strong wind to mix things up for the fielders the two teams battled nip and tuck up to the ninth inning, the score at the opening of that period being 2 to 1 in favor of Netherwood.

During the last session both teams got busy, Nethewood pulling one, and the Fresh jumping into the lead with an additional batch of three runs, which took the game. VanZandt and Lewis were the points for the Netherwood team, while Rosenson and Canter took care of things for the Freshmen.

SCHEDULE HITCH PREVENTS GAME IN GRAMMAR LEAGUE

Through a misunderstanding the game scheduled to be played by the borough and Cranford Grammar Schools was called off yesterday afternoon. The institute is attributed to different interpretation in the reading of the schedule.

The game scheduled for this afternoon between the borough team and Rahway was cancelled this morning in order that the time might be devoted by the members of the local team to a rehearsal for "Our Boys," that is to be given at the Park Club next Friday night.

RUTGERS RELAY TEAM.

New Brunswick, April 24.—The Rutgers track team will begin its season on Saturday, when representatives will be sent to the University of Pennsylvania to take part in the annual relay races there. At the final trials, yesterday, the following men were chosen to represent Rutgers in the races Valentine B. Havens, Highland Park; Earle R. Silvers, Rahway; Edward J. Crane Rahway; Mahlon L. Harker, May's Landing. Rutgers will run in class six, competing with such colleges at Lehigh, New York University, Haverford and Fordham.

LACK OF GLASSES COST 1,635 LIVES

Lookout With Them Could Have Seen Berg.

ASKED FOR THEM, REFUSED

Ismay and Franklin, Witnesses Before Senate Committee, Ask to Be Allowed to Return to New York, but Are Detained For More Quizzing.

CROW'S NEST MAN SAYS GLASSES WERE REFUSED.

We could have seen the iceberg a bit sooner if we had had glasses, enough to get out of the way. We were disappointed because we had no glasses. We had asked Second Officer Lightoller for them, and he said there was none intended for us. We had glasses from Belfast to Southampton.—From Testimony of Lookout Fleet.

Washington, April 24.—That the collision of the Titanic with the iceberg, costing 1,635 lives, could have been avoided if the lookout men in the crow's nest had been supplied with marine glasses was asserted by Frederick K. Fleet, seaman and lookout on the Titanic, before the senate investigating committee.

Fleet is the lookout who first sighted the iceberg that sent the giant White Star liner to the bottom. He declared that he and other seamen who served in the crow's nest had asked for glasses, but in vain. Fleet told in detail what occurred in the Titanic's crow's nest on the night of the collision.

Tells of Distress Cries.

Herbert J. Pittman, third officer of the Titanic, gave to the committee a harrowing account of the groans and cries that went up from the sea after the Titanic had made her final plunge. This officer testified that there was room for more passengers in the lifeboat which he was commanding, but that when he attempted to turn about and answer the cries of distress the passengers, the most of whom were women, protested on the ground that the boat would be overturned and it would mean the needless sacrificing of more lives. Pittman acknowledged he was in sole command of this lifeboat and that he finally yielded to the wishes of his passengers and pulled away out of the sound of the terrible cries. Pittman showed great emotion while in the witness chair and repeatedly urged Senator Smith to refrain from calling the harrowing details of that scene to his mind. He testified that the Titanic was making 21½ knots at the time the collision occurred.

Lifeboats Called Back.

Major A. G. Peuchen, a wealthy manufacturer of Toronto, Canada, who was a passenger on the Titanic, also was a witness. He was the first of the surviving passengers to be examined by the senate committee. He declared that there were not enough seamen in attendance upon the Titanic's lifeboats and charged that the quartermaster in charge of the lifeboat in which he had been saved was brutal and had refused to turn back when he heard cries of distress and a signal calling all lifeboats back to the Titanic. This is the first evidence that has been presented that any effort was made by those in charge of the Titanic to summon the lifeboats back after they had once put off. The signal, as explained by Major Peuchen, was a tooting of the Titanic's whistle.

"We's not going back; it's our lives now, not theirs," Quartermaster Hichen is said to have told the passengers in the lifeboat who pleaded with him to turn back.

Major Peuchen testified, further, that on the morning following the disaster he saw pieces of cork floating near the scene of the wreck. He declined to draw any surmise, but it was apparent that he meant to convey the suggestion that the pieces of cork might have come from the life preservers.

Major Peuchen declared that so far as he knew no general alarm was sounded on the Titanic after the collision, and the testimony of at least one other witness seemed to bear out this statement.

P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the White Star line, and J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine company, asked permission to return to New York for a few days. After an executive session of the committee it was announced that neither Mr. Franklin nor Mr. Ismay would be excused from Washington for even a day.

Second Officer Boxhall, Fifth Officer Lowe and possibly Mr. Ismay will be called today.

Crush at Straus Memorial.

New York, April 24.—Because a crowd many times too large for the auditorium appeared the memorial services for Mr. and Mrs. Straus, who were lost with the Titanic, were abandoned.

Weather Forecast.

Fair in southern, cloudy in northern portion; warmer today; tomorrow fair; moderate westerly winds.

None Less Than $25 Values. Most of Them Are $27.50 to $39.50 Values.

DON'T let anything keep you away. We know so well what this sale affords at this remarkably low price that we'll undertake to guarantee that you will leave the store with the handsomest dress ever sold at this price—a dress that is so smart and stunningly stylish, so exclusive, dressy and distinctive that you will experience a thrill of enjoyment which only good fortune could bring.

We know you'll come—in fact, we'll stake our store-keeping reputation upon your eager attendance if you have a dress want and will read just what this dress sale provides at this extraordinarily low price. We cannot liken this sale to any occasion that has gone before, because the circumstances governing the acquirement of these dresses has no counterpart in our selling events.

In every instance these handsome and smart dresses are priced at less than a first-class dressmaker would ask for the making alone. They are strictly dressmaker-made, too—not factory or shop dresses. Every dress is hand draped on a figure by an artist—that's why they embody those exclusive and distinctive style-points that are impossible to achieve except by a master-designer. All sizes, 32 to 44.

A Maker's Overconfidence Is the Cause

One of America's foremost dressmakers, because of the unprecedented vogue of Silk Dresses, anticipated a record-breaking season in this line, and accordingly fortified his workrooms with an enormous purchase of silk. The backward season, the snow and sleet of March and the rainy days of April all conspired to shorten his orders. Fabric bills were coming due, and in sheer desperation he sought business at any price.

Our Recent Dress Sales Attracted Trade Attention

Just two weeks ago we had a large Silk Dress selling event, and this dressmaker, seeing and realizing our enormous outlet, made overtures for business which resulted in an agreement to copy our best selling $25 to $39.50 models on a basis that would enable us to hold a Silk Dress Sale that would be a memorable value-giving occasion. Early choosing is preferable.

$25.00 to $39.50 Dresses at $12.75

Over 200 models. Many of our Paris models have been faithfully reproduced—some we have modified in order to eliminate the extreme features, and you will find these dresses different from any you have seen. Every smart, fashionable idea that has met the approval of discriminating followers of style in material, color and modelling will be shown, embracing dresses and gowns for all occasions—for the veranda, the boardwalk, indoor social functions, afternoon wear and the theatre; also a number of stunning Decollette Gowns for balls and receptions.

Come Rain or Shine—Come Early—Fifty Extra Salespeople—One Entire Women's Outerwear Section on the Third Floor, Will Be Devoted to the Display and Sale of These Dresses.

For the protection of our customers and ourselves from large purchases by dealers we must make these few simple restrictions:—No mail, C. O. D. or telephone orders. No dresses exchanged, credited or sent on approval. We reserve the right to limit the number of dresses sold to each customer.

All the Fashionable Materials

Beautiful clinging Crepe Meteors, in all wanted colors for afternoon or evening wear. The very popular Changeable Taffetas, all wanted shades, in plain and striped Taffetas. Softly lustrous Crepe Charmeuse, the newest weaves in pongee silk and scores of handsome styles made of Voile, Net, Marquisette and last, but of just as much interest as any, the exquisite Lingerie dresses in the most beautiful effects.

All the New Trimmings Are Represented

The new peplum or postilion effects are seen treated in various attractive ways, many are trimmed with the new ratine and macrame lace, others with shadow lace, gold lace, embroidery, etc., and finished with the new crystal buttons—in all, a Dress Sale you do not want to miss, because you will certainly wait a long time before you get another chance like this.

That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

COMMISSION IS WANTED AT SHORE

Petition Calling For Election Is Filed.

MACHINE TO MAKE FIGHT.

Two Thousand and Twenty-three Names on Petition Headed by Officers of the Commission Government Association—Election to Be May 14.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 24.—Two thousand and twenty-three men in all walks of life signed the petition filed here calling for an election to decide whether Atlantic City shall go under commission government.

The petition, filed with the city clerk, Donnelly, makes it mandatory that the election shall be called. The question of commission government will be settled May 14.

The first signers are the officers of the Commission Government association, Ell H. Chandler, president; Charles H. Evans, head of the Atlantic City National bank, honorary president; Henry W. Merril, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, vice president; S. P. Morris, capitalist, treasurer, and Richard E. Robertson, lawyer, secretary.

About 90 per cent of the lawyers and doctors of the city are among the signers. Colonel John A. Manz, manager of the Atlantic City brewery and one of Commodore Louis Kuehnle's closest friends, William S. Patrick, a Kuehnle man and member of the board of education, are among the "machine" signers.

William Riddle, a former councilman; former Judge Allan B. Endicott, foreman of the last grand jury; William Faunce, member of the state game commission, appointed by Governor Wilson; Samuel Braunstein, millionaire merchant, and George Curry, bank president, are other signers.

Word went out that the force of the local political machine would work to defeat the commission plan or to name men of their own on the commission, but supporters of the plan assert that the voters will overwhelm the old Kuehnle organization in the effort to obtain reform.

WOMAN LEAPS FROM TRAIN.

Sufferer From Dementia Eludes Attendant at Metuchen.

Metuchen, N. J., April 24.—As the Colonial express from Boston to Washington thundered past the Metuchen railroad station more than twoscore of persons awaiting a train saw a woman plunge headlong through the window of one of the Pullman coaches. So great was the velocity at which the express was traveling that the woman's body was hurled through the air for sixty feet before striking against an embankment beside the tracks. She was picked up alive, but unconscious.

The Chicago special, which passes through fifteen minutes later, was flagged, and the woman put on board, where she died in a few minutes.

The Colonial express meanwhile was halted at New Brunswick, and it was learned that the dead woman was Miss Anna Curran of Newport, R. I., who was suffering from dementia and was being taken to a sanitarium at Baltimore by the Rev. Father O'Donnell, also of Newport. The priest had left the young woman alone in her seat for a few minutes while he walked forward to the smoking car. As soon as she was left alone Miss Curran rose to her feet and, without attempting to raise the window, hurled herself through the glass.

DIES IN BRIDAL GOWN.

Woman Commits Suicide While Husband Is at Work.

West Hoboken, N. J., April 24.—When Joseph Brego of this town returned home from work he detected the odor of gas and, walking into the bedroom, he found his wife Amelia, aged thirty, lying on the bed, dressed in a white silk dress she had worn the day she was married six years ago and with a gas hose in her mouth. She was dead.

Beside her on the bed lay an envelope addressed to him, but before breaking it open he rushed out to the street, after having shut off the gas and opening a couple of windows, and told Sergeant Roarback of what had happened.

The doctors said the young woman had been dead a couple of hours.

RECORDER'S TRIAL MONDAY.

Emerson Judge Is Charged With Alleged Extortion.

Emerson, N. J., April 24.—The charges preferred against Recorder Blasius Merindino for alleged extortion by H. W. Bell will be heard by Judge Demarest next Monday, when the trial will be held. The recorder is charged with not only trying assault and battery cases, which do not come under his jurisdiction, but of trying to settle cases in an unlawful manner.

—It isn't every woman who comes up to our expectations, but they can all fill the bill, according to the reasoning of the married man who has to pay them.

TO TEST STERILIZATION LAW IN SUPREME COURT

Trenton, April 24.—Writs of certiorari have been sued out by former Judge Charles T. Cowenhoven, in the Supreme Court, to have that tribunal review the proceedings of the State Board of Sterilization to carry out the provisions of the law under which it is operating, upon eleven inmates of the reformatory at Rahway. Mr. Cowenhoven was appointed by Judge Peter F. Daly, of New Brunswick, to represent the defendants in the proceedings.

The State Sterilization Commission, which when the proceedings were brought, was composed of the commissioner of charities and corrections, Dr. George B. Wight, whose term of office has expired; Dr. H. B. Costill and Dr. Alexander Marcy, called at the Rahway institution February 7 last, and decided that eleven inmates should be subjected to the provisions of the law of 1911. This action was also affirmed by Dr. G. L. Orton, chief physician at the institution.

The next step in the proceedings will be to file the reasons why the action of the board should be set aside. Then final argument will be made before the Supreme Court. The State will be represented by Attorney General Edmund Wilson.

ARCANUMITES ELECT WITH FEW CONTESTS

Lakewood, April 24.—The election of officers of the grand lodge, Royal Arcanum, occupied the attention of the delegates at the annual meeting yesterday. There were few contests, and the higher officers were all reelected. The result was as follows:

Grand regent, Joseph M. Arnold, Princeton; grand vice regent, Charles H. Haring, Elizabeth; grand orator, Henry J. Bierman, Newark; grand secretary, Robert H. Alberts, Hoboken; grand treasurer, William C. McKeever, Rutherford; grand guide, Benjamin L. Odell, Hasbrouck Heights; grand chaplain, John H. Farrell, Paterson; grand warden, Edward T. McNaughton, Union; grand sentry, Robert W. Barr, Jersey City; grand trustee, Daniel S. Horton, Somerville.

In the election of the three supreme representatives a surprise was sprung, a "dark horse," Frank H. Walls, of Vineland, entering the race yesterday morning. He defeated two candidates who had been working to land the office for some time.

First, Theodore S. Class, of Westfield, and Joseph M. Arnold were elected supreme representatives, and then when the election for the third was called it was announced that, in addition to William Koerster, of Bayonne, and Charles L. Britten, of Jersey City, a third candidate had entered the field. Mr. Walls was then nominated.

On the first ballot Walls got 76 voes, Koerster 51 and Britten 35. This eliminated Britten.

New Business — Ferdinand C. Lampe, Corinthian; Parker D. King, Summit; Hamilton F. Scudder, W. T. Sherman Council.

TALKED WITH STEAD'S SPIRIT, WOMAN SAYS

Tells Spiritualists Lost Editor Appeared to Her.

Pittsburgh, April 24.—"Happy, but preparing to be with us in the spirit," was the way Mrs. Mary L. Feldman of Carrick, a delegate to the fifth annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Spiritualist association, in session in the First church here, gave to the convention the message from Editor W. T. Stead, who went down with the Titanic.

Mrs. Feldman said she got into communication with the spirit of the author just a week after the disaster.

Mrs. Feldman gave the details of her talk with Mr. Stead, who has been expected to make an address at the local convention during his stay in this country. According to Mrs. Feldman, Mr. Stead told her he was awakened out of a deep sleep by the violent rush of the waves and of the tread of the people as they ran to and fro over the deck.

"He appeared to me," said Mrs. Feldman, "just as he was as his spirit passed out of the body. He was sitting up in his berth, with one foot on the floor of the cabin.

"I inquired if he had any message. He replied that he was very busy now, but that he would b with us later."

ROOSEVELT REPLIES.

Tells Gardner Taft Men Condemn Rascality Only When Profitable.

New York, April 24.—Colonel Roosevelt found time to answer Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts, who has accused Mr. Roosevelt, among other things, of giving the public a false impression that Senator Lorimer had President Taft's "assistance and support" and of stopping the prosecution of the Harvester trust.

Colonel Roosevelt denies that he ever charged that Senator Lorimer had President Taft's support and quotes from a telegram to Mr. Gardner in which he said that "Mr. Lorimer's name was linked with Mr. Taft's by Lorimer himself" and that neither Mr Gardner "nor any other supporter of Mr. Taft endeavored to break the link until the result in Illinois showed that the association was no longer profitable to Mr. Taft."

Colonel Roosevelt says that "in the same way Mr. Taft leaned on Mr. Penrose until it was made clear that the people of Pennsylvania made equally opposed to both Mr Taft and Mr. Penrose, and now his managers are trying to disown Mr. Penrose" and that "evidently the Taft managers condemn rascality only when it is unsuccessful."

The colonel denied that he suppressed the reports of Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith with regard to the Harvester trust and said that he couldn't have done so "except by conspiracy with successive attorneys general, one of whom was Mr. Knox, the present secretary of state."

COUNTRY CLUB'S GOLF SCHEDULE

Attractive One, Including Many Events, Besides the Junior Championship.

3- AND 4-BALL RULES

Saturday, May 4, the Opening Day and Events Will Run on Steadily From Then up to and Including Thanksgiving Day.

The Plainfield Country Club, through its Golf committee of which R. S. Rowland is the chairman, announced its schedule of competitions for the season today. The season will open on Saturday, May 4, and continue up to and including Thanksgiving Day. The schedule is an attractive one, including many special events. The prizes for the most part are offered by members of the club. Owing to the fact that the schedule was printed before all the donations were received, they will be announced later.

One of the important events of the season will be the first junior championship under the auspices of the Metropolitan Golf Association, a tournament for boys under 18 years of age, belonging to clubs in the association. This will be held at the local club on Monday, June 24.

Special attention is called to special rules for three and four ball matches. No three or four ball matches shall start from the first tee at the time while a two ball match is waiting to play, and on Saturdays they must not be started between 1 and 3:30 o'clock. On holidays they are permitted to start before 9:15 and 11 a. m., and 1 p. m. and after 3:30 p. m.

Unless three or four ball matches are at least one clear hole ahead of the match following, except in medal play competitions when regularly scheduled, all the players must leave the green immediately after one of the players has won the hole by holing out in less strokes than either of his opponents has done or can do. Matches that play aggregate scores, stakes a corner, ringers or any freak form of three or four ball match, thereby balking the course, shall have no standing and give way immediately on request to the match following. Players are especially requested to read and observe all rules with the hope that they will make a conscientious effort to become thoroughly acquainted with them and by living up to them, raise the standard of golf on the course. The schedule follows:

May 4, opening day handicap, 18 holes, medal play, handicap, for Classes A and B. Prizes presented by "A Golfer." May 11, May handicap. Qualifying round, 18 holes, medal play, handicap. Two sixteens to qualify regardless of class. Match play rounds at 18 holes, handicap, May 18, 25 and 30. Prizes presented by C. W. King for Class A and S. D. Lounsbery for Class B. May 18, first round, match play, for May handicap. Both sixteens. 18 holes, handicap. May 25, second round match play, for May handicap, both sixteens, 18 holes handicap. May 30, morning and afternoon, 18 holes, medal play, handicap, Class A and B. Prizes presented by W. T. Kaufman; morning, semi-finals for May handicap; afternoon, finals for May handicap.

June 1, June cup, qualifying round, 18 holes, medal play, Class A, scratch; Class B, handicap, 16 to qualify in each class; match play rounds June 8, 15, 22 and 29. Prizes presented by J. P. Stevens for Class A and by "Niblick," for Class B. June 8, first round, match play for June cup; June 15, second round for June cup; June 22, semi-finals for June cup; June 29, finals for June cup.

July 4, morning, four ball, 18 holes, medal play handicap, both classes, teams to consist of two players, both of whom must be in the same class; afternoon, driving contest, approaching and putting contest. July 6 to August 24, inclusive, handicap competitions each Saturday, with entrance fee.

August 31, Fall trophy, qualifying round, 18 holes, medal play, handicap. Four eights to qualify regardless of class. Match play rounds at 18 holes, handicap. BESLER DENIES RUMOR OF A SIX-TRACK ROAD

Roundhouse and Terminal to be Removed From Roselle to Aldene, But Conditions Preclude Laying of Two More Tracks.

The New Jersey Central has in contemplation a number of important improvements during the next year, which will include the removal of the roundhouse, turntable and terminal point from Roselle to Aldene. The reason for the proposed change is lack of accommodations at Roselle. With the increasing number of trains the company has found it impossible to handle the business at Roselle as satisfactorily as it desires.

The removal, which is to be made gradually, will occur during 1913. The company has plenty of land at Aldene and will be able to lay out and equip a first-class terminal for its New York trains operated from that point.

There has been a rumor current during the last day or two to the effect that the company is planning to make its road a six-track one, by laying two extra tracks, one east- and the other westbound for express passenger service. W. G. Besler, of this city, vice president and general manager of the company when questioned about the rumor today, flatly and emphatically denied that the company had any such plans under consideration. Under present conditions, he said, such an improvement would be impossible.

MISS ALICE L. WILSON BRIDE OF JOSEPH LAIBLE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Wilson, of Chatham street, was the scene of a pretty wedding last night when their daughter, Miss Alice L. Wilson was united in marriage to Joseph Laible, of Hightstown. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and was witnessed by fifty relatives and friends. The house was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and plants and the couple stood beneath a floral bell when they were made man and wife.

The bride was attended by Miss Helen Laible, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, while Leon Ely, of Hightstown, attended the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Laible will be at home in Hightstown, where the bridegroom is a successful farmer.

INDIANS AND PALEFACES ENJOY INVITATION DANCE

Members and friends of Miantononomah Tribe, No. 118, enjoyed a delightful invitation and dance in Abrams' auditorium last night. One hundred couples were in attendance, many of them coming from Westfield, Bound Brood and other places. Music was furnished by Naylor's orchestra and refreshments were served at midnight.

HOLY CROSS GUILD HOLDS FIRST SALE OF SEASON

The first sale and tea this season under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the Holy Cross church was held in the parish house, from 3 to 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and proved a success financially and socially. About $75 was realized as profit from the affair. Throughout the afternoon there was a large attendance of members of the parish.

Rev. and Mrs. William S. McCoy received the guests, assisted by the general committee, Mrs. J. O. Stevens, chairman; Mrs. Samuel Townsend and Mrs. F. L. Sill. Those in charge of the various tables were as follows: Fancy articles, Mrs. F. W. Creesy, chairman; Mrs. Francis DuBois, Mrs. F. O. Ball; cake, Mrs. Herbert Langford, chairman; Miss L. A. Davis; candy, Miss Laura Long, chairman; Mrs. William R. Faber, Miss DuBois, Mrs. George Worth and Mrs. T. E. Rhoades; utility, Mrs. J. W. Coddington and Mrs. Cornwell.

Mrs. Samuel Townsend and Mrs. F. O. Ball poured, and they were assisted in serving by the Misses Dorothy Langford, Katherine Sill, Frances McCoy and Miss Katherine Overton.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' SALE.

A sale will be held at the home of Mrs. L. B. Alling by the Loyal Daughters Circle of the King's Daughters, Saturday afternoon, April 27, from 3 until 6 o'clock. Cakes, sofa cushions, tapestry and English chintz will be offered at popular prices.

FREEHOLDERS' CLERK OUT OF SUMMIT JOB

Summit, April 25.—Paying over a balance shown to be due, City Clerk J. Edward Rowe submitted his resignation on Tuesday. The resignation, addressed to Mayor Willam Newton Adams, was turned over to Council and will be acted on next Tuesday night.

It is considered certain the resignation will be accepted and that Rowe's successor will be appointed at the same meeting.

The city clerk's accounts were considered Tuesday night at what was designated "an informal conference" between Mayor Adams and the members of Council. Rowe paid over $1,406, the amount which he had collected and which was due. In addition to this sum, he also turned over all moneys received in his office up to Tuesday.

Rowe had no statement to make Tuesday night. He was not detained long by the Mayor or councilmen. It was said yesterday that he is ill and was obliged to leave the city for a few days.

To a reporter yesterday Mayor Adams said the tangle was straightened out completely. The Mayor explained that it had consisted of balances which the city clerk withheld during 1909-10.

Rowe has been a power in local Republican political affairs in this city and the county. He was appointed clerk of the Union County Board of Freeholders about a year ago at a salary of $1,500 per year. A member of the Board of Freeholders, who was active in advancing Rowe's appointment to the clerkship in the freeholders' board, said yesterday that he believed Rowe would probably quit this position. Rowe, as told, is also clerk of the Board of Excise as well as secretary of the Board of Health and health officer.

Until a few months ago Rowe was secretary of the Board of Trade. Mayor Adams said yesterday that when Rowe was asked why he had failed to turn over the money to the city treasurer, the city clerk had had no explanation to offer.

It was expected that Tuesday night's session would be a special meeting of the councilmen with the Mayor, but instead, the meeting was held behind closed doors in the Mayor's office.

City Solicitor Corra N. Williams was in attendance. An ordinance providing for the bonding of the city clerk and other city officials who have not been required to give bonds heretofore, will, it is understood, be presented at next Tuesday night's meeting of Council.

It is also likely that hereafter, when expert accountants are employed to go over city officials' books they will be asked to discover whether balances which may be shown on the books are deposited to the credit of the city.

TEN THOUSAND LIGHTS TO SHINE ON TAFT MEETING

Newark, April 25.—The Taft Business Men's League of Newark has completed arrangements for a mass meeting to be held tomorrow night in the First Regiment Armory, Jay street and Sussex avenue, this city, at which President Taft will be the principal speaker. The President's speech will be delivered under 10,000 incandescent lights installed in the armory for the Newark Industrial Exposition.

The interior of the building will be decorated with red, white and blue bunting festooned about the balcony and over the special platform built for the President and his party and about 200 Vice Presidents of the league.

President Taft will arrive in Newark at 5:30 p. m. The President will go to the home of Arthur B. Leach, at South Orange, where there will be an informal dinner. He is due at the armory at 8:20 p. m., and after speaking there he will go to the home of Clarence H. Kelsey, East Orange, where he will spend the night.

State Senator Austin Colgate will call the meeting to order and introduce Mr. Leach as chairman.

—Among the specials at Neuman Bros.' tomorrow will be fruit, grape fruit, oranges, bananas and choice strawberries.

RECOVER 205 BODIES WIRES MORGUE SHIP

"Bodies Are Numerous, Extending Many Miles East and West."

The following wireless message was received at the White Star offices by the marine department at 7 o'clock this morning:

"From Mackay-Bennett, April 25, 1912—Bodies are numerous in lat. 41:35 north, long. 48:37 west, extending many miles east and west.

"Medical opinion is that death has been practically instantaneous in all cases, owing to pressure when bodies went down in water.

"Drifting in dense fog since noon yesterday.

"Total picked up, 205. We brought away all emblaming fluids to be had in Halifax, enough for seventy.

"With a week's fine weather think we would pretty well clean up the relics of the disaster. It is my opinion that the majority will never come to the surface.

"MACKAY-BENNETT."

EPISCOPAL AUXILIARIES MEET IN STATE CAPITOL

At the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Churches of the New Jersey Diocese in All Saints' church, Trenton, yesterday, Mrs. S. K. Monroe, of this city, reported on Indian mission work and Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city, reported on the Church Periodical Department.

These officers were elected: President, Mrs. Arthur Phelps, of Bound Brook; vice chairman of the upper division, Mrs. Dotton Dale, of Rumson; vice chairman of the lower division, Mrs. Charles Stevenson, of Haddonfield; secretary, Mrs. Charles J. Taggart, of Elizabeth; treasurer, Miss Isabel Tweedy, of Plainfield; educational secretary of the diocese, Mrs. Shepherd, wife of Archdeacon R. Bowden Shepherd.

NO TEST OF PIERCE LAW UNTIL AFTER DECEMBER 1

(Special from Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, April 25.—While it is considered practically certain that there will be a test in the State courts of the Pierce grade crossing bill, which has been filed with the Secretary of State as a law, it is not likely that any litigation will be started over it for several months. The so-called law does not take effect until September 1, next.

The law provides that within three months after it takes effect every railroad company which operates a railroad in this State shall remove or apply to the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners for the removal of one grade crossing for each thirty miles of track operated. If any company shall fail so to do, the Public Utility Board is empowered, where in its opinion public safety requires, order such removal.

Under the circumstances which were connected with the final action on the bill after it had been vetoed by the Governor, the railroads, of course, will refuse to apply for any ground that the measure is not properly a law. This will bring the real test of the law. This test, though, cannot take place until after the expiration of the three months from September 1, or December 1. This will be very near the time for the meting of the next Legislature. Of course, if the law be taken into the courts the litigation will continue until long after the Legislature of 1913 has adjourned. It has been suggested that the best procedure would be for the next Legislature to pass a new bill, but nothing definite has been done about this proposition yet.

MISS ZELIE ENGAGED.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Frances Zelie, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Zelie, to Birney B. Pettigrew. The date for the wedding has not been set. Mr. Pettigrew was formerly baritone soloist at the Crescent Avenue church, and now holds a similar position in Brick church, East Orange. He is a graduate of Syracuse University.

CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT.

An entertainment will be given in the Monroe Avenue church tonight under the auspices of the Missionary Society. The program will include readings by Mrs. Laura Adkins Bogle, violin selections by Harold F. Welch, accompanied by Miss Florence Yeager on the piano.

FOWLER VISITS CITY.

Former Congressman Charles N. Fowler was in town today. He is one of the Roosevelt leaders in Union county.

BORO WATER SUPPLY CONTRACT FOR 10 YEARS

Netherwood Wells as Only Source Specified and Ten Years Agreement May be Broken On One Year's Notice.

By an unanimous vote the North Plainfield Council last night renewed its contract with the Plainfield-Union Water Company for a period of ten years with a privilege of a further extension of ten years. The instrument as signed contains two important provisions. One is that the source of supply shall be the Netherwood wells exclusively and the other is that the borough may terminate the agreement any time it desires at one year's notice.

The provision for breaking the contract at one year's notice to the company is inserted because of the fact that Plainfield is now and for some time past has been considering a scheme for a municipally-owned-and-controlled water supply and that condemnation proceedings to obtain possession of the company's plant by the city are now under way.

Representing the concern as counsel, Assistant Prosecutor Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., presented the form of contract which had been approved by the water committee and explained in detail its features.

By the terms of the instrument the company agrees to charge a rate of $15 per year for each of the ninety-two hydrants and to supply any more hydrants as demand requires at the same rate. It is also agreed that the water rates for private consumption shall be at flat rates the same as heretofore and identical with those in force in Plainfield, and that the source of supply shall by at the Netherwood wells. Meters are to be supplied by the company when requested or when the concern deems proper and meter rates are to be charged but it is not expected that any will be installed in the near future at least.

Provision is made that whenever the water company reduces its rates in Plainfield or elsewhere in its territory of supply that the same reduction will also be made for North Plainfield and it also agrees to install new mains when occasion warrants.

The water contract was presented after approval by Councilmen Buttfield and Stahl a committee appointed to consider it.

The Council also approved of the sale of two lots at Grove street and Dupont place. These tracts were held by the borough for the non-payment of taxes.

PICKED RUNYON AS AN ALTERNATE

Selected to Run on Taft Ticket as Delegate-at-Large Substitute.

IN ACKERMAN'S PLACE

Former Senator Declined Because of His Corporation Affiliations and Former City Judge Consents to Enter the Race.

Having been advised that his affiliations with certain corporations made it inconsistent for him to run as a candidate for alternate delegate-at-large on the Republican ticket as a supporter for President Taft's renomination, former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, has withdrawn from the race.

Senator Austen Colgate, chairman of the nominating committee of the Taft Republican Association, said yesterday that the committee was unanimous in selecting former Judge William N. Runyon, also of this city, in pace of Senator Ackerman. Mr. Runyon had been communicated with, Senator Colgate said, and consented to enter the contest.

Judge Runyon presided at the preliminary meeting of the William H. Taft Club here recently and is active in that organization. He is a graduate of Yale as is the President. When the Plainfielder ran as the Republican candidate for Congress two years ago he was warmly endorsed by Taft, who praised the judge in an open letter addressed to Senator Ackerman.

Judge Runyon's friends are already booming him for the Republican congressional nomination this fall and it is understood that he has the solid support of the organization forces in both Union and Morris counties.

DR. OXTOBY TELLS OF WALDENSES WORK

Rev. Dr. William Henry Oxtoby, of Philadelphia, enlightened a large audience in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, last night, on the work of the Waldenses, the Protestant religious sect, in northern Italy. He is president of the Philadelphia branch of the society and recently spent a long time in Europe studying the general conditions. Numerous beautiful and descriptive views taken by the lecturer, aided in conveying a deep impression.

The Waldenses' work is conducted much the same is that of the McAuli Auxiliary in France. They have 207 stations in Italy, with schools, hospitals, etc., and soon are to have a $200,000 church in Rome. Many of its converts are Italians who have returned to their native land after years of residence in the United States. Marconi, the wireless inventor, has been one of the Waldenses since 1892 and its membership includes numerous other prominent men.

The Waldenses, Dr. Oxtoby said, are akin to the Presbyterians in their beliefs and are rapidly increasing in this country. At the present time they number 2,000 in America, many of whom are located in Philadelphia. Dr. Oxtoby has been touring the east on a lecture trip, devoting the proceeds to the Waldenses' work.

UNABLE TO SAVE $700 FROM BURNING HOUSE

North Branch, April 25.—About $700 in money was burned up in a fire which destroyed a large dwelling house on the farm of M. J. Neuman, near here, Tuesday. Mrs. Neuman ran upstairs to get the money, but was driven back by smoke, and in order to save her life she was obliged to jump out on the porch roof, from which she was rescued by a ladder.

The fire is thought to have started from a defective flue on the second floor. The blaze was prevented from spreading to the outbuildings, although the high wind carried the burning brands in close proximity to them. The loss is about $5,000, which is partly covered by insurance.

Mr. Neuman is a New Yorker and bought the place about a year ago with the idea of establishing a poultry farm there. He is the manager of an athletic club in Manhattan.

IOWA INSTRUCTS FOR PRESIDENT

Cummins Beaten, but Will Not Withdraw.

HOT CONTEST IN MISSOURI

Governor Hadley, Leader of Roosevelt Forces, Refuses Overtures For Compromise, and Two Conventions Are Likely to Be Result Today.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., April 25.—With a vote of 764 against 720 for Senator A. B. Cummins, the Iowa state Republican convention adopted resolutions instructing the state's four delegates at large to the Chicago convention for President Taft. The resolutions were brief. The convention was the wildest the state ever saw.

The delegates at large are Governor Carroll of Des Moines, George D. Perkins of Sioux City, Luther A. Brewer of Cedar Rapids and J. F. Bryan of Creston.

Before the convention met Senator Cummins admitted that it looked like defeat. Asked if he would withdraw from the presidential race, he replied: "I have been knocked down and dragged out, but I never withdraw."

The result in the state contest is that of Iowa's delegation of 26 votes Taft has 16 and Cummins 10.

Two Missouri Conventions.

St. Louis, Mo., April 25.—Two Republican state conventions will probably be held here this afternoon, all overtures of the Taft forces to Governor Hadley, the Roosevelt leader, for a compromise having been declined.

As the hour for the state convention approached, the state committee was still debating on the contests instituted in fifteen counties and the Sixth ward of St. Louis, which involves the seating of 203 delegates. The decision on these contests means the control of the convention. Taft leaders claim that on the final question the Taft forces will control by a vote of 17 to 15.

The St. Louis city committee, controlled by the Taft leaders, unanimously adopted a resolution asking for an agreement by the Taft and Roosevelt forces to support its resolution that "the big four delegates" to the national convention all go uninstructed; to name Governor Hadley for temporary chairman of the state convention, leaving the selection of a national committeeman to Missouri delegates to the national convention.

The city committee's resolution suggests that Governor Hadley and Mayor Kreismann of St. Louis be named as two of the big four and that each side name one other to complete the quota.

After hearing testimony in the contest of the seven Caldwell county delegates, the subcommittee unanimously voted to seat the Roosevelt delegates.

CITIZENS IN BATTLE WITH BANK ROBBERS

Bandits Escape After Firing Bank Building.

Fort Smith, Ark., April 25.—For more than two hours, in which time more than 200 shots were exchanged, six bank robbers and about fifty citizens fought a battle in the business district of Midland, a mining town near here. The bandits robbed the bank of Midland of $1,500 and under fire made their escape.

Citizens of the town were awakened by heavy explosions. Scores of men hurried to the downtown district, and as they ran toward the bank building they were met by a volley of shots fired by four of the robbers stationed behind buildings outside the bank. The citizens armed themselves, returned to the scene under cover and began shooting in the direction of the fire, flashes coming from the concealed robbers' guns. Explosion after explosion occurred in the bank. After gathering up all the cash in sight the robbers set fire to the wrecked vault. The building caught fire, and while the blaze was being extinguished the robbers escaped.

TORPEDO HITS CRUISER.

Hole Torn In Side of the Maryland During Practice.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 25.—The armored cruiser Maryland is lying under the lee of the breakwater in Los Angeles harbor and listing heavily to starboard, despite the fact that her pumps are being worked to the limit, as a result of injuries inflicted by a submarine boat during target practice off the harbor. Although dummy torpedoes were used the head was blown off the one fired by A-5, formerly the Pike. This torpedo is believed to have been the one which did the damage. The fire room is flooded.

The Maryland will have to be sent to Mare island for repairs.

Justin McCarthy Dies.

London, April 25.—Justin McCarthy, the novelist and historian, is dead. He born in Cork, Ireland, in 1830.

PUBLIC SERVICE BUYS THE COAL

Every manufacturer who depends upon his own steam plant for power must provide the fuel to keep the plant going.

If the coal pile gives out the shop must close down for a time.

It means a good sized investment, usually, to keep a reserve supply of coal on hand—an investment which pays no interest—and where there is no reserve stock of coal there are times when the Employer is kept on the anxious seat wondering how he is to keep his power plant running.

Worry never helps a man and often is the cause of lost time

The way to avoid coal pile troubles is to use Central Station Electric Power. For such power Public Service has to buy the coal.

We can prove to you that Electric Power is not only sure and reliable, but that it can be made to do your work just as satisfactorily, and more cheaply, all things considered, than your own independent steam plant is doing it.

Thousands of manufacturers throughout the country are using Electric Power. Let our experts tell you why. A summons by mail or phone will bring one to your office.

RAILROAD MEN WANT COMMISSION OF NINE

Oppose Leaving Engineers' Dispute to Three.

New York, April 25.—After a long session with Charles P. Neill, United States labor commissioner, who is endeavoring to bring about a settlement of the controversy between the railroads and the engineers, the representatives of the railroads have not finished presenting their side to the mediator. Commissioner Neill and Judge Knapp of the commerce court will meet the engineers this afternoon.

It was said on behalf of the railroads that they had not consented to "mediation," but were "conferring." Instead of being satisfied with a board of three arbitrators, as provided for in the Erdman act, for settlement of disputes between railroads and employees, it was said that the railroads wanted a commission of nine members appointed. While it was not admitted, they wish to show that if there is to be an increase in wages for the engineers, there should be an increase in freight rates. Chief W. S. Stone and his lieutenants in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are convinced that this is what the railroad managers are trying to bring about.

2,000 YAQUIS FOR OROZCO.

Indians Will Swell the Rebel Leader's Forces to 10,000 Men.

Chihuahua, Mexico, April 25.—Two thousand Yaqui Indians from Sonora telegraphed General Pasqual Orozco that they would join his forces fully armed and ammunitioned by Sunday. This, he says, will swell his armed forces to 10,000 by withdrawing garrisons from Parral, Sierra Mojada and several small towns.

He ordered the garrisons to begin withdrawing and wired to the front that he would reach Escalon Sunday and begin the advance on the federals near Torreon at once.

Fez Under Siege.

Tangier, April 25.—The French authorities have proclaimed a state of siege at Fez. This was occasioned by the recent outbreak on the part of the Moorish tribesmen, who killed a number of officers and men of the French army.

—One of Mr. Taft's managers says of the Colonel: "He is the keenest man I ever saw for mixing poker with prayers." And if the prayers are not for him, they're crooked. If he does not hold the winning hand the deal was crooked.—New York World.

It figures out about like this, as a series will run out in twelve years:

If $2,000.00 is borrowed (other amounts in same proportion),
He pays $10.00 a month dues for 144 months	$1,440 00
He pays $10.00 a month interest for 144 months at 6 per cent.	1,440 00
Entrance fee, search, etc., about	25 00
Total amount paid	$2,905 00
He has the use of	2,000 00
At a cost for 12 years of	$ 905 00

Which is actual net interest of only 3¾ per cent. per annum.

This is on a basis of 6 per cent. When no money is on hand, the Association will provide money for the borrower at a very slight premium.

The regular meetings of the Association are held at its rooms, 109 Park Avenue, on the third Monday evening of each month. New series are opened at each regular meeting. Plainfield, N. J., April 25, 1912.

For the first time on record, the Federal House discussed woman's suffrage yesterday with an entire absence of levity and after considerable debate gave Alaska equal franchise, a large majority of the representatives voting in favor of giving women the right now enjoyed exclusively by men. It was most marked, according to the press dispatches, that the seriousness of the present stage of the movement was recognized by the opponents as much as the advocates. The Northern congressmen voted almost to a man for the ballot for women but despite their reputation for chivalry the Southerners, with the exception of Hobson, of Alabama, and Sherley, of Kentucky, went on record as opposed to granting the privilege to the so-called weaker sex.

Victor Berger, the Socialist Congressman from Milwaukee, made the pithiest speech: "I favor this amendment,' 'said he, "not because it will do Socialism any good, for the women haven't voted for us in Wyoming and Colorado. There they have proved the mainstay of Brahminism. But, in the first place, they ought to have the vote as a matter of justice. Secondly, they should have the vote as a matte rof Democracy; they ought to have the same rights as men. Thirdly, they should have it for an economic reason, and it is this:

"The time has gone by when all women looked after the kitchen and the dining room. Now they go into offices, school rooms, and factories, where they do a man's work, and they should have the same economic and political rights as men, not because they are better than we, but as a matter of economic fairness."

No popular movement is growing so rapidly as that of "votes for women." It is not a wild prediction that within the present generation half the states will bestow the right.

Young Baron Drachstedt, who has retained a local lawyer to recover from the Titanic's owners the value of his elaborate wardrobe which went down with that vessel, had an outfit sufficient to furnish a small haberdashery. The inventory of the missing articles as supplied by himself, is altogether too long to enumerate. Among his effects were ten suits of clothes, two tuxedos, four overcoats, twenty evening shirts, twenty negligee shirts, fifteen night shirts, forty collars, fourteen sets of underwear, forty pairs of socks, sixteen pairs of shoes, 120 ties, fifty handkerchiefs, ten pairs of gloves, six pairs of knickerbockers, eleven hats, ten tennis shirts, three tennis coats and five pair of tennis trousers. These are but a few of the items listed as his wardrobe for whose loss he demands the handsome sum of twenty-three hundred dollars. The baron was an exception to the average young man who comes to America to seek his fortune. Until the White Star line "comes across" he will be put to the painful necessity of getting along with one pair of trousers, a sweater a life preserver and his pluck, at least, that is all he brought away from the wreck.

When the beef barons' trials at Chicago ended with the customary acquittals, the consumers were made to bear the expenses they were put to by the legal proceedings, for up went the price of meat. When the Standard Oil trust was dissolved, the costs of dissolution were likewise thrust upon the public for the retail price of oil has soared beyond all reason. It will be the same with the coal strike. After the 1902 strike was settled the retail rate was fifty cents higher than before the walkout. Now we are told that if the companies' plan to advance the miners' wages 5.26 per cent should become effective, the retail price of coal will be advanced twenty-five cents a ton and that if the miners' plan for a ten per cent. advance goes through, the consumer will have to pay fifty cents a ton more. It is so every time and if the railroads have to meet their engineers' demands, the greedy companies will find some way, either through increased passenger or freight rates, to get the extra expense out of the public in order to keep the tremendous dividends unimpaired. It's a case of "soaking" the public every time.

Should it so happen that Governor Woodrow Wilson and Col. Theodore Roosevelt are arrayed against each other in the political arena for Presidential honors, there will be two well-defined issues and they are the recall of decisions and the recall of judges. In an address to the Mercer County Bar Association last night, the Governor declared that to advocate the recall would be striking at the symptom and not at the disease. "The disease lies in the appointments to the bench, for the judges rise no higher than their source," he said. He added that the nature of the age should get in the spirit of the law for the spirit of the law is greater than the letter of the law. Wilson, himself, is a lawyer and when he asserted that it is wise to keep such questions out of politics by appointing the right kind of judges he spoke both as a lawyer and as the appointive power for judges.

After holding eighteen sessions in five days, the Christian Conservation Congress of the Men and Religion Forward Movement in New York has adjourned. Sixteen hundred delegates representing 160 cities gathered for the purpose of exchanging views on how best to attract men to the churches. It was found that there are five million fewer males than females attending religious services and that the seating capacity of the Protestant churches is three times as great as the average membership while the proportion in the Catholic churches is two and a half times. The forward movement is still in its infancy; within a decade it will become a most powerful and fruitful instrument to bring men to a realization of their duty to their Maker and to their fellow-men.

Ismay's thoughts were on himself and not on the sorrow that the disaster caused and as he occupied a comfortable state room aboard the Carpathia after fleeing with women and children from the Titanic he kept the wireless busy sending begging messages for plans to be made for his escape from this country. How much nobler it would have been had he flashed words of sympathy and condolence to those who had been bereaved by the disaster. That spark of manhood did not seem to be in his breast. No matter what the verdicts of the courts of inquiry may be, by his actions he will forever stand condemned in the popular mind.

North Plainfield in renewing its contract with the Plainfield-Union Water Company for a term of ten years possibly considers that by the time the agreement expires Plainfield will possibly have done something towards a municipal water supply system. No, at second glance we find that the borough has protected itself by a clause giving the privilege for further extension.

THE CAMPANILE.

Famous Reconstructed Tower Dedicated In Venice Today.

The old Campanile, one of the most famous structures in Italy, some 365 feet high, fell in 1902 after standing 1,000 years. A large part of the ten years since then has been required to rebuild it. The new structure, a replica of the old one, has been constructed with the hope that it may stand more than another thousand years.

CAMPANILE DEDICATED.

The Pope In Rome Heard the Bells Ringing by Special Telephone.

Venice, April 25.—With the battle-flag which the warship San Marco hoisted for the bombardment of Tripoli flying from its lofty flagpole, the rebuilt Campanile of the Church of San Marco was dedicated today.

The city was in gala attire, and the ceremonies were attended by many celebrities, including the king of Italy, high church dignitaries, officials of state and J. Pierpont Morgan of New York.

PHONE SAVES LIVES AS BIG DAM BREAKS

Operator Warns Residents In Valley In Time.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., April 25.—The new concrete dam of the Witherbee-Sherman company at Witherbee, Essex county, went out, flooding a large portion of Witherbee village, completely inundating Moriah Center and doing property damage estimated at upward of $100,000.

The lives of several hundred people were saved by the prompt action of a telephone operator in the Port Henry exchange, who notified every subscriber up the valley that the dam had burst in time for them and their friends to reach safety in the hills.

The dam which burst held back a lake two miles long and of an average width of half a mile.

Many cattle were lost. About fifty-six families were rendered homeless.

SLIDES DOWN WIRE WHILE BALANCED ON HEAD

One of the features of the Frank A. Robbins circus, which will visit Plainfield this year on May 8, is a slide for life by Dare Devil Devoe, who balances on top of his head and slides down a long wire from a trapeze to the ground. The act is an entirely new one to the Robbins show, and has never before been seen with a circus in this country. The act has been secured at great expense by Mr. Robbins, but is only one of many unusual things which will be seen with the circus when it comes here. Hillary Long, who walks down stairs on his head is another star whose act is not duplicated. The show has been greatly enlarged and improved this year. The parade, which takes place every morning at 10 o'clock has many new features, the menagerie has been nearly doubled in size, and the program of acts provided by a big group of stars of the canvas dome, and a score of bright fun makers keeps the audience interested for a straight two hours. Prior to both the afternoon and evening performances there will be concerts by Prof. Carmenela Naselli's Royal Italian Band, which has been a feature of the show for many years.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For Week Beginning April 28, 1912.

Ours is a great inheritance. The story of the westward march of the pioneers is a thrilling chapter in American history. The dark spot in that bright picture of manly enterprise is the indifference of the church to the spiritual needs of that thin white line of advancing civilization. We are glad to say the church has set herself to redeem that initial blunder. The story of the last fifty years shows the church alive to her obligations and earnestly taking her place and part in the building up of a great Christian nation between the two seas. Very significant is the work among the mountaineers of the south. Four millions of our own stock without school or church, for long years sidetracked on the mountains of the south far from the beaten path of swiftly moving progress, are coming by leaps and bounds into the enjoyment of all the privileges of our Christian civilization. "Westward ho" has still its magic charm. If men do not flock thither now under the lure of gold they are drawn no less by the magical fashion in which the government by her great irrigation plans has opened up vast tracts for settlement. Thus large communities spring up in a single year which call for the advance of the church with Sunday school and preaching station. This same need has followed the opening up of the new lands everywhere. Within a generation 30,000 churches have been built between the Mississippi and the mountains. In the state of Kansas alone 340 Presbyterian churches have been planted by the mission board, but religious destitution yet abounds and in many places it is quite alarming. In Colorado there are 100 villages of from 150 to 1,000 population without any Christian ministrations, either Protestant or Catholic, and this is true in measure of a dozen other states.

The tide of immigration sweeps onward over the whole land. No state is exempt from this ever pressing problem. Arizona has 40,000 Spaniards. Colorado has 200,000 foreign speaking people. Texas has 700,000, with Galveston holding the fifth place as a port of entry. In New York city the Presbyterian church has allotted to her a community of 300,000 foreigners. Last year 1,041,570 immigrants entered our ports, constituting a tremendous problem in industry, politics and religion. To weld these alien forces into the strength of the nation and the church is at once a task and a challenge to the church.

The Indian is an old problem and has the first right on our interest and help. Much has been done. Whole tribes have been civilized and Christianized, but there are yet great needs to meet and wrongs to right before we can repay the debt we owe them. Space is denied us to mention the doors which Providence has opened at our gates. A great awakening has dawned on the islands of the Caribbean sea. A new importance has come to them with fresh life and hope under the fostering care of our republic. Twelve years ago there was not a building erected for school purposes in all Porto Rico. Today there are a thousand, with hundreds of Protestant churches. Roads are being built, a new civic and religious atmosphere is being created which augers well for the future. A mighty and complex problem lies before the church of God, but the task is worthy of her enterprise and calls for that spirit of consecration and sacrifice which has given her greater victories in the past.

BIBLE READINGS.

II Kings xvii, 27; Ps. xcvi, 3; Jonah, iii, 1-9; Luke xxiv, 47; Acts x, 9-20; I Cor. xvi, 9.

Christian Endeavor Ideals.

Christian Endeavor ideals cover the entire Christian life and aim at a perfect, well balanced manhood. They are ideals of knowledge, love and service.

One of the old mystics expresses this thought in a beautiful simile. The angels, he says, that stand nearest the throne of God are cherubs and seraphs. The cherubs are full of eyes which absorb and reflect the rays of the light divine, bringing knowledge of the eternal, but the flaming seraphs are full of wings, which not only move them toward God, but carry them manward in ardent, loving service.

So Christian Endeavor turns the eye of the heart Godward, toward the light that shines in darkness, and pledges the soul to unfaltering devotion. Then it returns to the things of others, to acts of lowly service in the society, in the church, in the home, the workshop and the world.

The young men and women that learn through Christian Endeavor the art of private devotion, the priceless value of the Bible and the supreme blessing of a life of service are following ideals that build up manhood and womanhood, that make strong citizens in the kingdoms of this world and in the kingdom of our Lord.—Rev. R. P. Anderson.

Nothing Impossible.

Christian Endeavor is sure to succeed because it depends solely on Christ for strength. On account of this it finds nothing impossible. Since God has promised to supply all our needs we can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth us.—E. Hover.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

Cookery Notes

Diet In Case of a Cold.

At the beginning of a cold the diet should be light but slightly stimulating and solid. Avoid greasy foods, cheese, pork, veal and game. In catarrhal conditions smoked or salted meats should be tabooed, as also tea, coffee, moist bread and pastry. A full starch diet aggravates catarrh.

In the selection, preparation and service of any invalid's food there are certain fixed rules that may be briefly summarized as follows:

Regularity in feeding. No patient should be made to wait beyond the regular time for meals. Unless one has been ill oneself it is difficult to imagine the sinking, nauseating feeling that comes to a sick person when the meal has been forgotten or delayed.

Give the nourishment in as concentrated a form as possible.

Bathe the patient's face and hands and rinse the mouth before each meal. The comfort of the patient is dependent in a large degree upon the condition of the mouth.

No fried foods should ever be given an invalid.

Provide as much variety as possible and let things be a surprise.

Avoid serving too many things at a time or in too large a quantity.

Do not fill cups or glasses full, but leave at least an inch from the top.

When the diet is limited in variety the patient may be gratified by having it served in courses, eating more than if served all at once.

After eating remove at once all traces of the meal. If it is advisable to have any food or drink left in the sick room cover closely.

Entire Wheat Buns.

One cup of milk scalded, one-fourth cup of butter, one-fourth cup of sugar, one yeast cake dissolved in one-fourth cup of lukewarm water, one-half teaspoon of salt, entire wheat flour, three-fourths cup of dates stoned and cut in pieces. Add one-half the sugar and the salt to the milk and when lukewarm add the yeast and one and a half cups of flour. Cover and let rise until double, then add the remaining sugar, butter (melted but not hot), the dates and enough flour to make a soft dough. Let rise again, then shape into biscuit and place in a buttered pan one inch apart or in gem pans. Let rise until well puffed and bake for twenty minutes in a hot oven. If the mixture is to stand over night one-half of a yeast cake will be sufficient.

Caramel Frosting.

When making a caramel frosting coffee is sometimes used instead of water. It imparts a unique flavor. Brown two tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar and when a reddish brown, but not burned, add three tablespoonfuls of boiling hot coffee. The coffee should be very hot or the caramels will turn to candy. Never pour any cool or lukewarm liquid over browning sugar in a pan. When the boiling hot coffee has dissolved the caramel pour the mixture into powdered sugar and stir it constantly to a smooth paste such as would be easily spread over a cake without "running."

Mock Pineapple Salad.

Core and peel three nice large apples, slice them thin and against the grain of the fruit. Peel two fine oranges and remove the thick outside white pulp, slice them rather thicker than the apple and also crosswise. Lay a slice of orange on a slice of apple as near the same size as possible. Save every drop of orange juice for the sirup. Place the double slices for the cle in a glass dish. Pour the juice you have collected over the fruit. Sift white sugar thickly over it, also the juice of a lemon, or more if the juice used is very sweet.

Pot Roast.

Take any kind of meat, put into an iron pot a tablespoonful of meat fryings or butter, let it brown, wash off the roast and put into the pot. After it begins to fry pour in enough water to half cover the meat, season with pepper and salt, cover and stew slowly. As the meat begins to fry add more water; turn it often and cook about three hours. A half hour before serving add either Irish or sweet potatoes or turnips and let them brown with the meat.

French Cream Cake.

One cup of white sugar, three eggs, one and a half cups of flour, two tablespoonfuls of cold water, one teaspoonful of baking powder. This is enough for two cakes baked in pie pans, to be split while warm and spread with hot custard, or for four cakes baked in jelly roll pans, with the hot custard spread between them, the latter being the preferable plan.

Ginger Drops.

One cupful of light brown sugar, one egg, two-thirds cupful of butter, two-thirds cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of cold water, large tablespoonful ginger, one large teaspoonful soda, flour to make thick batter. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a well greased pan, bake in moderate oven. These are very nice if properly made.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association.
Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

There will be a meeting of the Bryant-Lincoln Parent-Teacher Association this afternoon in the Bryant School building. As this will be the annual meeting reports from officers and all committees will be read, and new officers elected. Mrs. Hervey Doane has made a most efficient president and it is with regret that her resignation has been accepted. The new candidate is Mrs. E. J. Lawson, who has been a prominent member of the association, and will continue the work along the same lines which have been so successful and helpful to teachers and parents.

Many of the states have adopted February 17 as Child-Welfare Day, that being the day on which the National Congress of Mothers was founded. This year Connecticut celebrated the day with a reception and dinner at New Haven. Governor Baldwin in addressing those present said, "Everybody can be a builder in his own generation. A mother is a builder in two generations. She can do her duty by her own. She can do more than her duty by the next generation through her influence on her children. * * * Connecticut holds you responsible for her good government in the coming generation. You hold the key to a golden future." Prof. E. Hershey Sneath spoke on "What Yale Has Done For Mothers." Mayor Rice responded to the toast "What Has New Haven Done For Its Mothers?" There is much enthusiastic work being done throughout the State, the great need being assembly rooms in the schools.

While there are babies in the home a mother will have little time for work outside, but she cannot be an efficient mother unless she keeps in touch with outside influences which meet her children as soon as they enter school. Efficient motherhood cannot be blind to the temptations of life, to the sorrows of the other half. Every mother has time for a Mother's Circle and for child study.

President Taft in a recent speech said that upon women rested the responsibility of future wars. He reminded them that upon the home falls the final and lasting bitterness of war. Andromache speeding Hector on to battle through mourning that she gives "father, husband, son—her life, her all," is the kind of women the past has glorified. It is no model for the twentieth century. The women of today will persuade the modern Hector to find some better way to heal his differences with his fellow-men than by brutal assault upon his person.

A BUSY WORKER.

Julia C. Lathrop, the recently appointed head of the Federal Children's Bureau, who is especially distinguished as the first woman chief of a government bureau, has had an exceptional career.

A member of a wealthy family, she has not had to take only those positions that had salaries attached, but has devoted much of her time to public work without any pecuniary reward. Miss Lathrop has been connected with Hull House ever since it was founded. She was there in the early days when Florence Kelly was also a resident, and those were strenuous times before the work of the Settlement had become systematized.

In 1893 she was appointed on the Illinois State Board of Charities, being the first to hold that position, and when the board was changed she was retained as a member of the State Charities Commission and remained so until quite recently.

Miss Lathrop made her first impression on the National Conference of Charities and Correction in 1894, when that body was meeting in Nashville. Dr. Alexander Johnson told the story of that occasion to a Tribune reporter. "Her introduction to the Conference was unusual," said Dr. Johnson. "It happened this way: Something went wrong with the program that year and the Conference was rather 'petering out' toward the end. There didn't seem to be anything to do for Monday night, the last session, and some of the old conservative leaders decided that as the last meeting wouldn't amount to much anyway it might be just as well to drop off the last day. The younger members were indignant and announced their intention of keeping faith with the public according to the advertisements, so at the eleventh hour N. S. Rosenau and I worked up a program specializing on the women members of state boards. Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks and Miss Lathrop both spoke. Without having had a chance for preparation Miss Lathrop told the story of how Hull House broke into politics, and told it in such a charming way that she became one of the most popular members of the Conference."

One of Miss Lathrop's best known doctrines is that the importance of public charities is underestimated. Private charities, in her opinion, do a great deal, but the progress of preventive and correctional work depends principally upon public institutions after all.

In 1902 Miss Lathrop was chairman of the committee on the care of the insane for the National Conference of Charities, and she brought forward as no one else had ever done the advisability of having harmless patients cared for in families rather than in institutions.

London, England, is to observe "Health Week," from April 28 to May 4. Open meetings, exhibitions, health sermons and demonstrations on cookery, the care of infants and physical culture will be features of the week. Two leaflets have been issued, one to "Women and Girls" and one to "Lads and Young Men," which offer instruction in hygiene.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Never before has an attempt been made to present to the public work of the merit and magnitude possessed by Dante's "Inferno," until a band of renowned Italian artists determined to make this work accessible to the masses by arranging a representation of it in moving pictures. This gigantic task occupied more than two years, and engaged the arduous and remitting efforts of these artists. The result of their labors has been extraordinary. They have produced what must be regarded as the crowning achievement in moving pictures, the work consisting of five reels and constituting a full evening's entertainment, will be presented with a suitable lecture and special music with effects at the Plainfield theatre on Monday and Tuesday, April 29 and 30.

Many theatre-goers will recall the great success made here a few years ago by a musical comedy called "Comin' Through the Rye." Just why, no one could say. Little was known about it, yet a desire to see it seemed to become contagious. It impressed people as being good, and the performance lived up to expectations. Packed houses were the rule. On return dates every ticket was sold in a few hours. That was several years ago. The theory of cycles in things theatrical as well as in the history of nations, seems to be borne out by the success of a new candidate for box office honors bearing the unique title of "The Newlyweds and Their Baby." Its history parallels that of "Comin' Through the Rye." Originally produced in New York, it ran for several months. It was taken on the road and drew packed houses right from the start. People turned away almost nightly. Exactly the case with "The Newlyweds." In a comparatively short time, it has made a fortune—that is a theatrical fortune for its owners. This is the first venture into New England and so far it has hit the bull's eye. It is an excellent entertainment, novel in plot, a line of characters new to the stage. In fact a distinct departure from anything yet offered in the musical comedy line. It's a big company—over 60 people. "The Newlyweds" and their wonderful baby will be seen here Saturday afternoon and evening.

—Perhaps he's never won the things the world looks on as great and perhaps he's never done the things that shape the moves of State to most of us he is a king, though wealth he can't amass, for he has all that life can bring—a precious base ball pass.

Paint that Stays Painted
That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment as regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

DECKHAND BLOWN TO HIS DEATH BY GALE

Elizabeth, April 25.—The big wind which swept over Staten Island Sound was responsible for the death of William Pharamore, a negro deckhand on the steam lighter Wyck. He was throwing a hawser to a dock at Elizabethport when the wind carried him off his feet and he was blown overboard. The man could not swim. He came to the surface once and then sank. The victim was thirty years old and lived in Manhattan.

The same gust of wind blew an untied horse from the forward deck of the vessel into the water. The animal headed for the Staten Island shore, which it reached safely. It was caught on the meadows and brought back to Elizabethport.

A number of small boats were torn from their anchorage by the gale and several of them were dashed to pieces against the piers.

IDLENESS IN THE MINES AFFECTS PERTH AMBOY

Perth Amboy, April 25.—Shipments of coal here have practically been suspended as a result of the idleness in the Lehigh regions. Old employes of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company say that not in twenty years has there been so little coal in the local storage bins. The two piers, over which more than a million tons of anthracite are shipped every year, are idle most of the time. Last week the smaller of the two was worked three days and the men employed there expect to make no more time this week.

The sixty-foot scales on the larger pier have been removed and new ones are being installed. That will mean several weeks before coal can be shipped there again. Nine Lehigh Valley tugs and more than a score of barges are tied up at the coal wharves. One man is kept aboard each of them as a watchman, and the rest of the crews were sent home to wait until called for.

It is five weeks since any of the sea-going tugs that tow between this port and Taunton, Hartford, Boston or points further East has called here. Merchants and other business men along the shore front who depend upon the coal handlers and the boatmen for their support feel keenly the lack of trade.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

One of the Titanic survivors—a saloon stewart—was close to the steamer when she went down, and, in searching for a simile to give an idea of what he heard at that last dreadful moment, he found a most curious one, and one that at first thought gives the mind a painful shock. The mingled cries, he said, sounded like the barking of dogs in a kennel at feeding time!

A sensitive person, even though he had noticed such a resemblance, would not have mentioned it to others, and yet, now that it has been mentioned, one can hardly deny the probability of its marvelous accuracy. Almost certainly those last cries were quite inarticulate, as utter despair always is, and for a moment they rose and fell, a lugubrious ululation. The very bravest may have been silent, but such self-control is almost superhuman, and for its absence there is no reproach. New York Times.

SURPRISE TEA.

Mrs. Irving C. Cubberley, of the borough, gave an afternoon tea as a surprise to her mother, Mrs. Mary A. Meiers, yesterday. Mrs. Charles Thompson, of Metuchen, poured. Mrs. Hummer, of Dunellen; Mrs. Davall, of Westfield; Mrs. Hansen and daughter, Harriet; Mrs. Struthers and others were present. Flowers were favors.

—Neuman Bros. will offer for tomorrow's trade a choice assortment of vegetables, including asparagus, lettuce, tomatoes, cucumbers, beets, wax beans, new peas, radishes, rhubarb and green lima beans.

BY SPECIAL REQUEST

The Interesting Natural Gas Exhibition Will Remain Two Days Longer.

So interesting and instructive has the exhibition of the Gem Oil Burner Company's new invention of heating with natural gas proved that Mr. Barnhisel, the company's representative, has because of many special requests, decided to remain here until Saturday night.

This will leave but two days more in which to inspect this wonderful and at the same time simple contrivance for transforming ordinary kerosene or coal oil into practical fuel.

The absolute safety of the new invention bids fair to revolutionize present methods of heating, and housekeepers will find it a convenience that they cannot dispense with. The exhibition will continue until Saturday night at 124 East Front street, next door to shoe repairing shop, which will be the last of the wholesale exhibition in this city. The selling of their burners will then be left in the hands of a competent local agent.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Did you take an Arlington avenue car yesterday afternoon?

And did you see a game?

AND did you get wet?

The ending of the Leals-Pingry game came with a "blow up" for both teams. And it did blow, too.

Some little question in regard to the H. S.-Cranford game's score, but you'll find it the way it should be in another column.

Cranford has a snappy little bunch considering the number of High School students in that institution.

Pingry was much too heavy and experienced for the younger less experienced players from Leal's, and yet they put up a plucky losing fight.

The grandstand and bleechers are being repaired preparatory to the game—a much needed improvement.

We didn't notice any press stand, however. It's hard for a scribe to sit on a bench and hold his pad in his lap and get everything down.

Parker Field is beginning to look the place it was intended to be. Another week should find it with the leaves out and it will pay even those who are not baseball fans to go out and see the field and incidentally a game.

And looking off toward the Country Club, it looked very much as though the lover of golf would not have to wait.

The Giants are playing havoc with the crippled Phillies in their first series. Yesterday the hardluck team collected eight errors to help along.

The Yankies broke their string of losses on Tuesday against the Athletics but could not make it two straight. Plank was a little too much for the Uplanders.

And now Brooklyn has taken her usual submarian position and the National League standing is beginning to assume its customary appearance.

LOCAL RIDERS TRAINING HARD FOR BIG BIKE RACES

The biggest bicycle event of the East will be the one held over the local road course on Decoration Day. Already a number of local riders are training hard for the road race, the list including Walter Kennedy, Ernest Mantz, Russell Golberg, Percy Haberle, Harry Weiss, E. S. Bird and George Neal, who are no strangers to local crowds. It is expected that some of those entering these races will be those who will try for the Olympic team which will add interest to the event.

Already over 30 exceptional prizes have been received by those in charge of the races, a list of which shows a $50 Pierce racing bicycle to go to the winner of first prize; $30 Reading Standard, second prize, and a $30 bicycle given by the S. A. Baker Company, of New York. The first time prize will be a $50 Columbia racing bicycle besides which 10 pairs of tires have been donated by the different manufacturers, who have shown great interest in the coming speed contests; five, coaster brakes and six lamps swell the list.

This long list of prizes is sure to attract riders of class from near and far, and those who have the arrangements in charge are making preparations for the largest event of its kind ever held in this part of the country.

JACK MARTIN BOUGHT BY N. Y. AMERICANS

Wolverton Pays for Immediate Release From Rochester—Boston Offered $4,000.

Jack Martin was lifted from his Rochester (International League) berth yesterday and shifted to the New York Yankees in order that he might be in the line-up today against the Athletics. Manager Ganzel has been holding Jack on the bench as a utility infielder so far this season, but he has said that the local speed boy was valuable baggage. When Manager Wolverton came across with a big offer yesterday Ganzel reluctantly signed the contract releasing the youngster. This morning's New York Sun has the following to say in regard to the transaction:

"Shortstop Martin, of the Rochester International League Club, has been bought by Manager Wolverton, of the Highlanders, for immediate delivery. Martin was with the Virginia League last year and this year was sent to Rochester for additional schooling, but in order to get the player at once the New York club had to purchase him from Ganzel.

"Martin is a fast and promising young player, and as the New York club appears to be much in need of that kind it was decided to try to get the youngster right away. The Boston Nationals had their eye on Martin and offered $4,000 for him, but were informed that he belonged to the Highlanders.

"There have been two Martins on the Rochester club this spring. The other is John Martin, a young pitcher whom Wolverton brought from California and who was sent to Rochester this spring. He too, will be recalled in this due time if he demonstrates that he merits it."

Beginning with the old Clinton Avenue team, Martin's career has been a steady one through the Plainfield, New Brunswick, Somerville Hoboken, Paterson and Richmond teams. Jack has a host of friends fans and otherwise, in this city, who are glad of his boost.

MANY GOLFERS ENTER ATLANTIC CITY TOURNEY

Golfers from far and near, including a fair sprinkling from the metropolitan district, have entered for the annual spring tournament which begins today on the links of the Country Club of Atlantic City. Most prominent, perhaps, is Walter J. Travis, the Garden City player, who has been winning steadily since he began breaking records over the Palm Beach links during the winter. When the amateurs tie up for the qualifying round the list will probably contain more than a hundred names, included among the entries are the following:

Walter J. Travis, Garden City; J. D. Foot, Apawanis Club; Frederick Pring, Deal; A. C. Pratt and C. E. Van Vleck, Montclair; J. G. Deericks and P. S. Mac Laughlin, Wykagyl; P. P. Safford and F. LEAL'S DROPS A GAME TO THE PINGRY SCHOOL

A comedy of errors marked the first meeting in a number of years between the Leal's and Pingry Schools yesterday afternoon, when the latter won 11 to 1. The Elizabeth team looked much older, heavier, and proved to be much more seasoned ball players than their unsuccessful rivals, but the smaller bunch stuck gamely at it and managed to put one across in the fifth.

As in their previous games the Leal's team took the first two innings in which to settle down, but were getting better as the game progressed, although the black cloud that attended the opening of the sixth disconcerted them to a certain extent but as this inning was not completed the score stood as at the end of the fifth. In the first inning Dickerson received a painfully spiked foot but pluckily kept at it, and although he hardly caught a perfect game worked hard.

Tiemann, who put them across for Pingry, had the local youngsters baffled, allowing them only two hits neither of which resulted in a run.

SCHOOL NINES TIED AS DOWNPOUR STOPS GAME

The Plainfield High School nine played a game with the Cranford High School nine yesterday afternoon at Parker Field, which ended in a tie, being stopped in the ninth by rain. The score was 7 to 7. Cranford had the best of the argument up to the last inning, leading 7 to 4 when the rain started. P. H. S. got three in their half of the ninth.

P. H. S. outfielded their opponents. Denny pitched good ball except in the opening innings. He got eight strike-outs while Tool, who twirled for Cranford, only retired four.

The city lads were quiescent on offense until the seventh when timely hitting and assisting errors netted them four runs. The summary:

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The dash and vim of Miss Blanche Ring's individual performance in "The Wall Street Girl" is, in a great measure, responsible for the success that is being accorded this newest of Broadway shows at the George M. Cohan theatre. Miss Ring's ever buoyant and exuberant personality is offered unlimited scope in the musical vehicle she has chosen to ride upon for the entertainment of her myriad of New York admirers.

In the race for popularity "Officer 666" at the Gaiety theatre is leading the laughing field and running true to form, spurred on by the plaudits of a mighty pleased public who are backing this melodramatic farce favorite to win the run record event of the year. "Officer 666" is a funny cop. He makes you laugh and keeps you guessing. Every night you are sure he is going to make an important arrest, and every other minute or so during the performance it looks as if he might, but the gentlemanly crook under surveillance is a smooth member of the light fingered fraternity trained to avoid the nets set for him by the officers of the law so that, although "Officer 666" has been hot on his trail for fifteen weeks, he is still at liberty, the enjoyment of which is participated in to as full an extent by those who watch as it is by he who is "wanted."

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE FOR MAN

Dear Mr. Man:

We know all about the high cost of living. We know how hard it is to keep down expenses. We know that clothes cost is one of the principal items just about now—that's why we think this is important news for you.

We've just purchased from a prominent makers of good clothing his entire made-up stock.

It is the biggest lot of suits we ever bought at one time for special selling.

There are so many of these suits that while we ought to sell them in a single day we could not possibly transact the business if such a demand were made upon us, so the sale will extend over several days until the suits are all gone.

We promise you the best suits ever offered at such a low price—and the price is so low that men who are accustomed to paying $15 to $20 for suits will be able and willing to buy two suits and be well within their limit of expenditure, and men of all sorts may buy one suit without feeling the slightest pressure on the pocketbook.

It affords lots of dressy men a chance to have an extra good suit for workaday use, saving their better dress suit from the hard wear and tear of business life. By this do not be led to imagine that these suits are not fully up to the highest standard in design and fabric—we simply point it out as a matter of economy.

These suits are designed by high-priced men, cut in the most up-to-date styles, made of excellent fabrics, trimmed that they might retain their shape to the last, and this we must put in bold type:

Suits of Navy Blue Serge	Suits for Stout Men
Suits of Fancy Worsteds	Suits for Slim Men
Suits of Novelty Cheviots	Suits for Normal Men
Suits of Fine Cassimeres	Suits for College Men
Suits of Rich Velours	Suits for Conservative Men

It is a truly great collection of suits we invite you to choose from, beginning tomorrow morning, and they are so fresh and nice that we are sure you will be delighted with them. Just opened them up today—not an old suit in the lot. All snappy, new, Spring styles, and the fabrics are pure wool—imagine getting all wool blue serge suits in fashionable cut, splendidly made, for only $9.67—suits that will stand alongside of any custom-made suit at any price and defy even an expert to tell one from t'other.

Come in tomorrow and see these suits. You will surely buy one or more of them at this unmatchable and heretofore unheard-of price for suits of a quality near as good as these $9.67

BLAMES SEERESS FOR WIFE'S DEATH

Man Asks Warrant For Her Arrest.

WAS DRIVEN TO SUICIDE.

Woman Told by Fortune Teller That She Were Better Dead, as Her Husband Did Not Love Her, and Became Despondent.

West Hoboken, N. J., April 25.—Joseph Brego, whose wife committed suicide, claims that she took her life because of what a fortune teller had told her. He has made a complaint to the police against the fortune teller, charging her with being a disorderly person. Brego claims that because of what this fortune teller told Mrs. Brego, the latter became despondent and a suicide.

Brego told the police that the fortune teller had often read his wife's fortune in cards. Recently his wife had told him, he said, that the fortune teller had advised her that it were better she were dead as her husband did not love her. He declared that a week ago he had gone to the fortune teller's home and taken his wife away from there. He said that the fortune teller's name was Mrs. Walter.

STRUCK BOY, ARRESTED.

Wallington Schoolteachers Charged With Assault and Battery.

Wallington, N. J., April 25.—Miss Julia Dolinsky of New York city and Miss B. Powell of Passaic, N. J., both schoolteachers in the public school No. 1 here, were arrested by Constable Ernest Trainor charged with beating nine-year-old Dudley Tatham, son of Robert Tatham of this place.

The boy would not sit down in his seat. Both teachers were in the room at the time, and when the boy answered back they tried to make him sit down. He made a kick at one of the teachers, and Miss Powell struck him in the face with her fist and blackened his eye. The boy told his father, who had the schoolteachers arrested on a charge of assault and battery.

They were arraigned before Justice Nicholas Campo, who set the bail at $200 each. John D. Kelzger, residing here, furnished the bail. Principal R. N. Myers of the school said he would stand by the teachers.

DOZES ON TRAIN; KILLED.

Westwood Man Decapitated When He Falls Between Cars.

Hackensack, N. J., April 25.—John H. Larsen, a ship chandler, living in Westwood, was instantly killed by falling between the cars on a New Jersey and New York railroad passenger train as it was entering Westwood. Larsen was sixty years old and weighed 240 pounds.

Larsen frequently dozed on the train on his way home, and one of the commuters said he suddenly awakened and hurried out to the platform. This commuter declared it seemed as though Larsen hastened to get off the train, believing he had passed his depot.

Larsen was decapitated.

WOULDN'T TRY TO RESCUE DROWNING

Titanic Officer Startles His Hearers at Inquiry.

WITNESSES ARE RESENTFUL

Britons Think Questioning of Senate Committee Purposeless, and Feeling Between the Two Countries as a Result Is Feared at Washington.

Washington, April 25.—Third Officer Lowe of the Titanic startled all his hearers by declaring before the senate investigating committee that he waited in his lifeboat until "the drowning people had thinned out" before going back to pick up any survivors. He explained that it would have been suicide for all in his boat to have gone back while 1,600 people were struggling for their lives in the waters about the Titanic; that they would have swamped his lifeboat. He also told of rescues he made and cleared up the stories about the use of revolvers by the Titanic's officers.

He said he fired the revolver shots, of which so much has been said, to terrify steerage men.

By testimony given before the committee it was definitely established that Captain Smith and several of the officers of the Titanic were expecting to encounter ice on their course about 11 o'clock on the fatal Sunday night.

This fact was brought out in the testimony of Second Officer Lightoller, who, when recalled to the stand, said that he had been shown a message by the captain, which gave the latitude and longitude of the ice reported to the Titanic by another ship. He told the committee he worked out by means of the chart the time at which the Titanic would probably be nearest this ice and found it was to be expected about 11 o'clock. He so informed the captain and Officer Murdock, who relieved him at 10. Despite this, however, he admitted the speed of the vessel was not lessened and the only precaution he took, he said, was to tell the lookout men to keep a sharp watch for small ice at daybreak.

Sharp Answers For Smith.

This was the most important single development of a stormy session before the investigating committee, as far as the main purpose of the inquiry was concerned. The session was marked by a show of feeling upon the part of the English sailors testifying and the committee. The witnesses made little effort to conceal considerable resentment at the questions of the committee, many of which they appeared to think utterly purposeless and beside the mark. Senator Smith received many a sharp answer from the Englishmen, and the prediction was made that unless conditions improved there was danger of serious ill feeling being engendered between the people of the two countries. Members of the group of White Star officials and counsel declared the senators would meet with more success in their inquiry if they secured expert assistance in examining the Titanic officers and sailors.

J. Bruce Ismay, accompanied by White Star officials and officers of the Titanic, visited the British embassy, and it was persistently reported that they had entered protest against their treatment at the hands of the committee. This report was denied by the persons concerned, both at the embassy and by Mr. Ismay. A request was made that the sailors who had testified be permitted to return home, but Senator Smith refused to grant such permission.

Investigate Canadian Report.

Senator Smith, acting upon advices received through the representative of a Toronto newspaper, enlisted the aid of the Canadian government in investigating the report that the Canadian Pacific line steamer Mount Temple, now at St. Johns, N. B., was within sight of the Titanic when she sank. The captain of the Mount Temple denied this in a telegram to the senator, but it was arranged that a Canadian commission should take his deposition before he sails from St. Johns.

The steamer Bremen of the North German Lloyd, which passed close to the spot where the Titanic sank, reported when she arrived in New York that she had proceeded through a veritable icefield, with scores of bodies floating.

Mr. Taft will leave Boston at midnight tonight, arriving in New York tomorrow morning to attend General Grant's funeral.

DON'T BE ENVIOUS.

The men or women who envy those who happen to be able to dress well and to enjoy the pleasures of life a little more than those who are compelled to work continually will be miserable all their days, for, no matter how high they may get, they will find others still higher. The envious person is never satisfied and never can be.

PRESIDENT TO ATTEND GEN. GRANT'S FUNERAL

Services to Be Held Friday. Daughter Arrives.

New York, April 25.—Arrangements have about been completed for the funeral tomorrow of General Frederick Dent Grant. His daughter, the Countess Cantacuzene, arrived in town on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. from her home in Russia. The funeral had been delayed to allow her to attend. She will probably remain in this country a couple of weeks.

The services will take place at the chapel on Governors Island in the morning at 10:30 o'clock. They will be conducted by the Rev. Edmund B. Smith, the chaplain, assisted by Bishop Samuel Fellows of Chicago. A special train will take the body of General Grant to West Point, where the burial will take place in the afternoon.

President Taft, Vice President Sherman and Major General Leonard Wood are expected from Washington to attend the services. The pallbearers will be Brigadier General William Crozier, Brigadier General H. G. Sharpe, Andrew Carnegie, Hamilton Fish, Dr. Hobart Abbee, William Purington, Colonel E. H. Robinson, Major General F. V. Greene, Colonel R. M. Thompson, Senator Root, Colonel O. Hein, H. W. Taft, Major General T. H. Barry, General Horace Porter, Herman H. Kohlsaat and Brigadier General Tasker Bliss.

BIG REVENUE FROM ESTATES.

Income Tax From Astor's Alone Will Reach Nearly $5,000,000.

Albany, N. Y., April 25.—The revenues of the state will be greatly increased through the inheritance tax to be paid by the estates of a number of those who went down with the Titanic, especially by the Astor, Straus, Guggenheim estates.

The statement that the Astor estate embraces $125,000,000 of realty which is to pass to William Vincent Astor would mean the state would get a tax from this source alone amounting to $4,986,950. If this tax should be paid within six months after it is computed there would be a 5 per cent reduction. Upon the basis of the published values of the three estates mentioned the state would receive, it is estimated, $5,000,000.

JOHN D., JR., FOR UNITY.

New York, April 25.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., declared at the men and religion congress that the greatest duty of Christian people is to get together.

"If the question were put to me, 'What is the greatest obstacle to effectiveness of the church?' " he began, "I would say the lack of church unity. May it not be long before denominational barriers are done away with and there be one great Christian church?

"When a man is shipwrecked he cares not whether he be saved by a collapsible boat, a davit or a piece of wreckage or whether he be thrown into a lifeboat or in any other way. The business of religious orders should be to bring about a closer relation between the denominations."

MONDAY CLUB HAS AN IRISH EVENING

"An Evening in Ireland with Seumas MacManus," proved a delightful affair for the members and friends of the Monday Afternoon Club at the annual entertainment in Hartridge Auditorium last night. The program was entirely different from anything heretofore presented by the club and the large assemblage testified to its thorough enjoyment by great applause.

Mr. MacManus was assisted in the entertainment by Eileen Alanna, a charming young Irish woman, who gave several Irish dances. She opened the program with an "Irish jig" and an "Irish reel," and concluded it with a "shuffle jig" and the "Rocky Road to Dublin." She was exceedingly graceful and gave the dances in typical fashion to the accompaniment of a fiddle.

Mr. MacManus provided the rest of the entertainment with readings and stories. He wore the costume of his people in the North of Ireland, a dress not unlike the highland costume, except that it has no plaids. Mr. MacManus was born in Donegal, and with the exception of the trips that he takes to this country, spends all of his time at his native home.

Mr. MacManus gave a varied program of readings and stories, bringing out some of the best wit and humor to be found among the Irish. He also quoted a number of Irish proverbs, which gave added pleasure. His selections included the following: "The Postmistress of Knockagar," "The Path Across the Moor," "The Origin of the Fairies," "Billy Burns' Trip to the Moon," "The Silent Mouth is Melodious," "The King of All Birds," "Little Mary, My Treasure," "Jack the King Who Was a Gentleman," and "Daniel O'Connell."

Mrs. Hugh F. Fox, president, and Miss Isabel Arnold, Mrs. H. M. Maxson and Mrs. William Griscom, vice-presidents of the club, received the guests, and the Misses Margaret Mead, Frederica Mead, Virginia Fox, Barbara Fleming, Marjorie Brown and Ruth VanVliet were the ushers. After the entertainment the guests were served with refreshments.

A striking feature of the affair was the stage decorations, arranged to represent a cottage and a garden in Ireland. This was the work of the entertainment committee with the assistance of Mrs. Harold D. Corbusier. The annual meeting of the club will be held on Monday afternoon, May 6, when officers will be elected.

The councilmanic sewer committee met last night and arranged to send a petition to the Piscataway township committee asking the permission of the committee to lay pipes and establish a sewage disposal works on the Darling farm in that township. The Council at its meeting Monday night authorized this action, but for some reason the petition was not sent off at the time. The petition will be sent to the committee today. Dunellen and Piscataway township will be given permission to join in the trunk sewer, provided Plainfield is given the right to carry out its plans. The Piscataway township committee has promised to hold a public hearing on the petition.

JUDGE DISMISSES JURY THAT ACQUITS VOSSLER

Court Frankly Indignant Over Verdict and Denounces Defendant as a "Dog"--One Juror Obtains Reinstatement.

New Brunswick, April 26.—After a scant five minutes of consideration the jury in the case of Lewis Vossler, a Dunellen trolley employe, charged with a grave offense by 18-year-old Anna Soukup, acquitted him in the County Court here yesterday afternoon. The verdict occasioned general surprise, and Judge Daly was moved to such indignation that he dismissed the twelve jurymen for the term.

The girl was a housemaid in Vossler's family, which included his wife, his daughter, his father and depended mother. She became a mother in August of last year.

The State had depended its case almost entirely on the girl's own story, and Arthur V. Schenck, counsel for the accused, dwelt persistently upon seeming improbabilities of the story, chiefly that the girl swore that Vossler's wife had condoned his conduct. The verdict was a big victory for Mr. Schenck.

The first witness called was Dr. Myron J. Whitford, of New Market, who told of having been called to attend the girl last August.

Miss Soukup was the next. She wept bitterly as she told her story. The girl said she told Mrs. Vossler of the relations Vossler had established with her, but the wife only laughed.

Vossler was the only witness for the defense, and while he denied some of the girl's statements, he admitted having had on occasions had improper relations.

When the verdict of not guilty was rendered, Judge Daly was so astonished that he could hardly speak for a time. Then he told the jury plainly what he thought of it and of the prisoner. He reviewed the testimony and said that by his own admission Vossler had taken advantage of a poor servant girl of tender years. He declared that Vossler was an "unclean dog," and said he hadn't thought it possible that twelve men in Middlesex county would vote for a verdict of acquittal in such a case. He then discharged them for the term.

Later Juror Hoffman had an interview with the judge, and said that he had held out against the other eleven, voting for "guilty," and had only changed when he saw it was useless to hold out. The judge thereupon reinstated Hoffman.

When Vossler was indicted he pleaded not guilty, but afterwards changed this to non-vult and was arraigned for sentence. Later on he was permitted to change his plea back to not guilty and stand trial.

The cast has been coached by Paul A. Mertz, of the High School Faculty, and no pains have been spared to make the production a success. The cast includes Carroll C. Taylor, as an English baronet; W. HERBART HALL PUPILS SHOW TALENT IN PLAY

Pupils of Herbart Hall, Watchung Crest, gave the first performance of "A Dream Trip to Northern Lands," yesterday afternoon. It was enthusiastically received by the audience.

The actual work of the school in geography, reading, music, gymnastics and manual training figure in the play and the pupils and their teachers have taken part in producing the details. Everything, including the stage, the scenery and the costumes, is home-made. The visitors yesterday marveled at the effects produced under the limited conditions. The scenery represented faithfully and strikingly the various northern countries; there were surprising scenic effects like the northern lights and the midnight sun, and the pretty and characteristic costumes fitted into the scenic environment.

The pupils who played the different parts, and sang the songs and dances, surprised the audience by the intelligent way in which they executed their various roles, by their self-control and by their absence of self-consciousness, which otherwise is so characteristic of nervous atypical children.

The parents of the pupils present could hardly understand how that was done, and expressed their appreciation of the educational methods obtaining in the school.

The performance will be repeated this afternoon at 3 o'clock and tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The proceeds go to the scholarship fund of the institution which is maintained by the National Association for the Study and Education of Exceptional Children.

POLICE GET 2 BUSY YOUTHFUL THIEVES

String of Thefts Charged Against Edward Coffee and Raymond Wilson.

Charged with a series of petty thefts, Edward Coffee, seventeen years old, of South Second street, and Raymond Wilson, sixteen years old, of West Third street, were arrested yesterday by Detective Sergeant John Flynn. They were remanded today by City Judge William G. De Meza for a further hearing tomorrow. The police say both boys have confessed. This, according to the police, is the history of their activity:

On March 10 they broke into the Grant avenue station and stole $10.-50 worth of cigarettes, gum and tobacco. On April 5, Wilson, who worked in H. A. Bonn's millinery store on West Front street, left the place open for Coffee, who wanted to get at the "strong box." The box yielded nothing but insurance papers and the like, and the two got only 75 cents from the cash drawer.

Wolworth's 5 and 10 cent store was broken into through a rear window on April 7, and $7 taken. The City Market was entered the same night, but only a few pies and some change were obtained there. On April 10 Coffee broke into Neuman Bros.' grocery store, but got nothing. The two boys broke into the store of John Fallocco, 201 Grant avenue, three times during March, and got an aggregate of $10 worth of cigarettes and the like. Coffee broke into the Woman's Exchange three times during February, and stole small sums. Coffee, with another boy, robbed the store of Herman Semmer, 902 West Third street, of $18 on March 28.

MRS. SCHUYLER'S PUPILS SHOW CAREFUL TRAINING

She is now resting easily with prospects of complete recovery in two or three weeks. The Galvins have been away from Plainfield for several years and when not on the road lived at Key West, Fla. Mrs. Galvin was touring Cuba with her family when stricken and came to Plainfield on the advice of physicians and also because of her faith in the local hospital. She was accompanied by her husband and daughter, Miss Etta Galvin, who are stopping temporarily at the Hotel Kensington. Mr. Galvin established Galvin Park and for a time conducted Galvin's theatre on West Second street, afterward reconstructed as the Plainfield theatre.

Wall, of Jersey City, the city's special counsel, will take part in the proceedings.

The petition was prepared several days ago following the action of the Common Council in authorizing Mr. Stillman and Mr. Wall to proceed in the matter, and request the court to appoint commissioners. Mr. Wall's name does not appear on the papers which have been filed with Justice Bergen.

The opening part of the program included addresses, music and monologues and was followed by dancing on the part of the younger people while others played euchre in the lower hall. Refreshments were served during an intermission.

John G. Bicknell was in charge of the program and opened it with an appropriate address of welcome. He was followed by S. V. Sanford, a professional monologuist, who told a lot of funny stories that kept everybody laughing, and Beach and Beckwith, of New York, comedy musical artists. The unusual instruments from which they extracted harmony made everybody marvel. There was also an address on Pythianism by Grand Chancellor William D. Quick, of Somerville, and selections by Suhr's Imperial orchestra. The floor was cleaned after the last number and dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock.

Many of the attendants preferred euchre and progressive games were played. Prizes were awarded as follows: Women's, first, Mrs. P. A. Van Fleet; second, Mrs. Ephraim Compton; men's arst, Ephraim Compton; second, Charles Hartfelder.

POLICE BOARD WILL USE "HELP WANTED" COLUMNS

The councilmanic police board at its meeting last night decided to advertise for men. The board is anxious to place two or three extra men in the Netherwood section of the city, and this will bring about a rearrangement of the posts throughout the city. The board will meet next Wednesday night when this matter will be discussed at greater length, with the idea of filling the vacancies in the department. The advertisement appears in today's local papers.

It has been decided to appoint another roundsman, and this will probably be done at the June meeting of the Common Council. At present there is but one roundsman, Morris Higgins.

The horse now on trial at police headquarters for drawing the patrol wagon, has not been accepted and it is the belief that it will not be for the reason that the animal is too small for the work. The board is impressed with this fact and efforts will probably be made to secure a larger horse.

TAFT'S BODYGUARD.

Sheriff Wright, having been requested to furnish a bodyguard for President Taft upon his visit to the Baltusrol Golf Club, tomorrow, has decide dto ask the police departments of Plainfield, Elizabeth, Westfield, Summit and Rahway to send one uniformed man to comprise such guard. Neither Chief of Police Kiely nor Mayor G. W. V. Moy had received the sheriff's request today. President Taft will be at Baltusrol between 10 and 4 o'clock tomorrow and will play golf during that time. It has not been decided who will be the President's partner. An informal luncheon wil lbe served at the club at noon.

BIG BOROUGH STABLE SWEPT BY FLAMES

Stonewall Jackson's old Headquarters Wrecked—Loss is Put at $3,000.

The large stable at Somerset and Dupont streets, conducted by Morgan Jennings, a teamster, was gutted by fire this morning. The structure is Stonewall Jackson's sales-stable. So rapidly did the flames gain headway that by the time the firemen arrived it was plain that all but the front part was doomed.

The building contained a large quantity of hay and feed. None of Jennings' dozen horses was in it when the fire broke out.

The loss is placed at $3,000 by C. L. Applegate, whose mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Applegate, owned the structure, part of which is covered by insurance. The rapidity with which the fire gained headway led to the belief that its origin may have been incendiary.

The house across the street, in which Guy Thomas lives, caught fire from sparks but the flames were quickly subdued by the firemen.

One of the members of the borough department lost a sweater coat at the fire and would appreciate it if anyone picking it up would return it to fire headquarters.

GETTING READY TO HAVE APPARATUS MOTORIZED

The councilmanic fire committee met last night and discussed plans and the contract for transforming the chemical engine at fire headquarters into a motor-driven apparatus. The contract was presented by the International Motor Company, of this city, the consideration being $3,700. The committee practically decided to recommend favorable action, and the matter will be presented at the next meeting of the Common Council.

There are some details about the change, especially one in reference to the hose-carrying part of the rebuilt machine. Members of the committee with Chief T. O. Doane will visit Westfield soon and inspect the automobile apparatus there before making a final decision.

The committee also accepted the "E. M. F. 30" automobile for Chief Doane's use, and it will probably be delivered to him today. Some question having arisen about the equipment of the car, Andrew Thompson, from whom the car was purchased, appeared before the committee and explained everything to the satisfaction of the councilmen. It is understood that the car being used by Chief Doane is taken by Mr. Thompson as part payment.

FIRST BAPTIST S. S. GOES ON A "VOYAGE"

Under the auspices of the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church, a social and entertainment was held at the church, last night. The program was somewhat of an innovation. The company was divided into two parts, one being under the direction of Captain Sidney Mackey, sailing on the Mauretania, and the other under Captain Robin Brown sailing on the Lusitania.

During the trip the young people devoted their time to playing games, holding a spelling match and guessing various things. The spelling match afforded much amusement. Miss May Serrell was the leader of one side and O. B. Leonard the other. Mr. Leonard's side went down to defeat on the word "syzygy" a geographical word

It was decided to continue the two companies until Children's Day, the object being for each one to try and secure as many passengers as possible for the imaginary trip, thereby increasing the membership of the school. After the entertainment refreshments were served.

WEAVERS RESUME WORK; PROTESTER ARRESTED

Summit, April 25.—Arrested yesterday morning for creating a disturbance in the Summit Silk Company's mill in Morris avenue, when 175 weavers who have been on strike since April 2 returned to work. Ezia Moba, who protested against the resumption of work, was released by Police Justice Hicks, under $100 bail for a hearing today.

Moba, it is charged, attempted to persuade some of the weavers to leave their looms after they had resumed work. Failing in his effort, it is alleged, he attacked one of the weavers.

Chief of Police George W. Brown with Sergeant John Murphy and seven policemen guarded the mill yesterday, but there was no disturbance. Superintendent Paul Dorgeval said today that he expected the mill in which there are employed 500 hands would be in full operation in every department beginning Monday morning.

BRITISH MAY OBJECT TO TITANIC INQUIRY

London, April 26.—That the British Parliament will object if the Washington inquiry into the Titanic disaster tends to enter the sphere in which British legislators ought to be supreme is the opinion expressed by The Times yesterday.

While the Times admits that the American inquiry has had a good effect in hastening the inquiry in England by overcoming official lethargy, it declares that sober British opinion doubts that the inquiry is of the kind best calculated to obtain knowledge and enable all nations to apply thoroughgoing remedies.

The editorial accuses the American investigators of remarkable ignorance of everything pertaining to nautical affairs and of a seeming impulse to find and punish the scapegoat, rather than of a desire to discover the weak points of a system and apply fitting remedies.

"Americans," says The Times, "cannot fail to appreciate the feeling in England that the Titanic was a British ship flying the British flag, and that the accident happened on the high seas, not in American waters, and, finally, the investigation of personal conduct and responsibility therefor belongs to the duly constituted British courts."

DEMOCRATS LAUD WILSON AND RAP HIS ENEMIES

Lakewood, April 26.—Before an assemblage markedly pro-Wilson, Assemblyman Elmer H. Geran and Issac W. Carmichael roused the enthusiasm of their hearers here Wednesday night by praise of the Governor's candidacy for the Presidential nomination. Mr. Geran took a fling at the anti-Wilsonites. The occasion was a dinner given by the Democratic Club of this place at the Bartlett Inn.

Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn, of Jersey City, who was expected to speak, was prevented from being present.

The affair was considered the opening gun in the campaign to keep Ocean county in the Democratic ranks. Practically all the leaders of the party, Progressive and old-line, were on hand.

Mr. Carmichael, dean of the Ocean county bar, presided over the gathering and introduced the speakers. Every reference to the Governor and his candidacy brought forth a storm of cheers.

Mr. Geran said in part: "There are men all over the United States who are trying to drag down to political hades every one who rises up as a leader. Governor Wilson has incurred the enmity of these men, and they are fighting him to the last. They do not accuse him of lack of ability; they do not attack his character; they do not claim that he is not available Presidential timber—they can do none of these things. But by petty means, by inflaming prejudices, by personal attacks which have nothing to do with his fitness as a candidate, they are trying to poison the minds of the people against him. It is the duty, and it ought to be the pride of every New Jersey Democrat to support the State's candidate. Given everything else equal, and that is making a concession, local pride ought to inspire a hearty support of Woodrow Wilson's candidacy."

TAFT CLUB ORGANIZED.

Rahway, April 26.—A William Howard Taft Club was organized Wednesday night in the rooms of the Rahway Republican Club. President of the Board of Trade William M Davis was elected president; Freeholder William H. Randolph, vice president; Robert D. Uhler, secretary; George J. Stacey, treasurer.

OCEAN SAFETY MOVE INDORSED BY NATIONS

Berlin, April 26.—The calling of an international conference to discuss the subject of the improvement of life-saving facilities on board passenger steamers is regarded as a practical certainty.

The initiative taken by Germany in the matter has aroused the greatest interest among the other powers, and the suggestion has been received everywhere with sympathy.

FERRY GETS ALLEGED UNFIT LIFE PRESERVERS

Perth Amboy, April 26.—Recorder Henry W. Kehoe Wednesday surrendered to the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company the life preservers which Albert Price, of Sayreville, was accused of cutting Sunday night on the ferryboat Englewood. Price was arrested and taken before Kehoe, who examined the life preservers, pronounced them unfit for use and discharged Price from custody.

Superintendent Edgar Van Name, of the transit company's ferry department, declared the life-saving equipment of the Englewood is in good condition and Wednesday two government inspectors examined the life preservers on the ferryboat and pronounced them fully up to all requirements. Recorder Kehoe told Prince that he might be sent for if the ferry people cared to press the charge, but it is understood now that there is no desire to do that on the part of Mr. Van Name or his subordinates.

STOCK EXCHANGE FIRM, PITTSBURGH, SUSPENDS

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 26.—The announcement of the suspension of the Stock Exchange house of Scully, Painter & Beech was made on the floor of the Stock Exchange yesterday, following the filing in the United States Court an application for a receiver.

Scully, Painter & Beech hold memberships in the New York Stock Exchange, the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange, the Chicago Stock Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade. The firm was formed a little over six years ago by Charles A. Painter, James Scully, Daniel Beech and Edward Farley, and did a large business.

Mr. Painter is a member of the stockholders' committee which recently investigated labor conditions in the mills and mines of the United States Steel Corporation. Mr. Beech is president of the First National Bank of Birmingham, a bank on the South Side in this city, but it was said the institution would not be affected by the failure of the brokerage house.

UNIDENTIFIED DEAD MAN MAY BE SLAYER KULIK

Dover, April 26.—Although Coroner Edward F. Totten and Undertaker Young have received dozens of inquiries concerning the man who was found dead in a thicket at Chester on Sunday the identity of the victim is still in doubt.

The undertaker yesterday was shown a newspaper picture of Peter Kulik, who shot and killed his father-in-law in Newark, on March 25, and who escaped soon after the murder. He declared that the features of the dead man and Kulik "bear a close resemblance." He said the nose, ears and general profile of the face were similar in each case.

Dr. William F. Costello, who made the autopsy on the body, also said that the resemblance between Kulik and the dead man was close. The last named had a bicusped tooth in the upper right jaw.

Kulik owned a gray overcoat with a military collar and that worn by the man found in the thicket was also of that color and pattern.

Mrs. Minnie Cassidy, of 101 Charles street, Brooklyn, telephoned the undertaker Wednesday asking for a description of the dead man, and when it was furnished her she said that it was not her husband, who has been missing since April 2. Mr. Cassidy had lost the index finger of his right hand, while the unidentified man's fingers were all perfect.

SCHOOL OF METHODS.

The Sunday-schools of Plainfield and North Plainfield will be represented at the nineteenth annual session of the School of Methods of the New Jersey Sunday-school association to be held at Asbury Park High School from July 5 to 12. The advantages of attending these sessions have been demonstrated by workers in nearly every city of the State as well as by teachers from neighboring States. Rev. R. E. Diffendorfer, Sunday-school secretary, of the Missionary Education movement, New York City, will have charge of the senior section. Mr. Diffendorfer was formerly at Scotch Plains.

—"You say I must ride horseback?" said the man of quiet habits. "Yes," replied the physician, "otherwise I cannot answer for your life." "But can you answer for my life if I try to climb on a horse?"—Washington Star.

DR. WILEY'S MISSION.

Refusing tempting offers to go into commercial life, Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the pure food expert who resigned his post in the Department of Agriculture because he did not get proper support from the administration, has identified himself with a magazine devoted to housekeeping. This publication has established a Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health with headquarters at Washington of which the doctor will be director.

Dr. Wiley announces that to impart instruction and scientific knowledge will not be the sole purpose of this unique bureau. Its prime object will be "to arouse in the housekeepers of the country a living interest in the problems which concern the common welfare of the country, especially as influenced by domestic life." To quote him further, "what is best for the consumer, what best concerns his interest and his health, what is best for his pocketbook, and for his labor, are to me the controlling factors in reaching conclusions."

It will be the constant aim of the bureau in question, through its able director, to protect consumers against false weight and short measure tricks which have cost them vast sums in recent years, but above all it will be the purpose of Dr. Wiley himself to keep tabs on legislation and to keep the householders informed on the progress of legislation affecting their interests. The laws of the United States and of the individual States, pertaining to foods, drugs and the licensing of dealers, physicians, grocers and pharmacists will be scrutinized carefully. Dr. Wiley has located himself in a field where his work will be watched with interest and where he can do immeasureable good. He will no longer be hampered by department heads who sometimes have other interests to serve than those of the public. His reputation assures for his statements equally as much weight as though he were still connected with the Government.

Partisan politics is worst menace to cities in the opinion of Rudolph Blankenburg, Philadelphia's veteran reformer, who crushed the notorious machine in winning the mayoralty of the boss-ridden Quaker City. In an address before the Boston City Club last night, Mr. Blankenburg declared that partisan politics is the greatest threat to honest, efficient and upbuilding municipal government in America. or some thirty years, this remarkable campaigner against boss-rule says he has followed the dictates of his own conscience and never heeded the dictation of some self-appointed political master. "While I am a partisan in National politics, I have never subscribed to the doctrine, 'my party—right or wrong,'" he asserts, and his reputation bears out that claim.

Aiming to rid the place of the unsightly bill-board, the Kearney Council has made an appeal to the property-owners who have these objectionable signs on their premises to remove them. Their pride in civic betterment will be aroused if that is possible for as there is no legal means to abolish the evil, the Kearney councilmen recognize that that is the only course to pursue. Plainfield, too, suffers from this affliction, but a greater source of complaint here is the disgraceful appearance given to the business section of Park avenue by the lunch wagon abutting on the railroad tracks. If there is any way by which the city can be rid of this eyesore, it should have recourse to it without delay.

What's the sense of all this talk about a public natatorium. As the Netherwood fire house cellar has always had an ample quantity of water in it since the city spent some $600 to make it water tight, why not practice economy by throwing the place open as a public bath house?

The anthracite miners' wages have been advanced and now the operators, in other words the railroads, will make the dear public pay the bill.

H. C. KREBS CAPTURES PARK CLUB TOURNAMENT

The five back handicap tournament that has been attracting a great deal of attention at the Park Club was brought to a successful close last night when the final games were rolled, M. C. Krebs getting first and W. E. Benjamin second prize for the greatest number of points during the past season. The cup for the highest average made in all of the season's games was also captured by Mr. Krebs whose average was 58 in the 59 nine games played.

The highest record in any one game goes to Dr. H. V. Hubbard, who set a new club record of 107. The record at the beginning of the season was held by H. M. Fisher with 96, but soon after the present tourney opened W. E. Benjamin broke it by adding three, then R. C. Campbell another time added two more, and finally Dr. Hubbard set his high mark.

Previous tournaments have been won by J. L. Watson 1909-10 and H. M. Fisher 1910-11. The individual point standing is as follows:

John V. Beekman, 9½; W. E. Benjamin, 14½; J. B. Betts, 3½; H. M Fisher, 9½; W. D. Flanders, 2; Hugh F. Fox, 4; DeWitt Hubbell, 1½; H. C. Krebs, 17; Jas. C. Peck, 6; Geo. F. Rogers, 3; C. A. Rise, 7½; R. D. Rice, 7½; A. M. Abbott, 10; C. A. Campbell, 3; F. L. Sill, 12; Chas. Lyman, 4; J. L. Watson, 4½; John Valiant, 4; E. M. Benjamin, 5; Dr. H. V. Hubbard, 12; R. C. Campbell, 4; H. K. Dumont, 1; Monroe H. Long, 8½; Harold Serrell, 1; Mr. Suffern, 5; Stuart H. Patterson, 2½; W. H. Rogers, 6.

NOT A FAMILY QUARREL.

It Was Simply a Clever Ruse of a Daring Parisian Thief.

A traveler remarks that the Parisian swindler is the subtlest and the most indomitable one in the world. He was one day strolling through a fashionable French shop.

A woman entered and proceeded to purchase a costly set of silver dishes, and meanwhile a well dressed man lingered at the doorway as though waiting for her.

The woman, her purchase concluded, counted a number of bank notes and advanced to the cashier's desk holding them in her hand. Then of a sudden the man rushed upon her.

"You wretch!" he exclaimed. "Didn't I tell you that you shouldn't have those dishes?" And he slapped her upon the cheek, tore the bank notes from her hand and stalked indignantly out of the shop.

The woman fainted. It was ten minutes before she was brought to, and meanwhile those in the shop, believing that a family quarrel was in progress, did nothing. On her recovery the manager of the place said regretfully:

"We are sorry, madam, for this occurrence. Your husband"—

"My husband! That was not my husband!" the woman cried. "He is a thief!"

Violet For Mourning.

It was not by accident that violet was chosen by many nations as the exclusive color for mourning and by us also for half mourning. Painters suffering from hysteria and neurasthenia will be inclined to cover their pictures uniformly with the color most in accordance with their condition of lassitude and exhaustion. Thus originate the violet pictures of Manet and his school, which spring from no actually observable aspect of nature but from a subjective view due to conditions of the nerves. When the entire surface of walls in salons and art exhibitions of the day appears veiled in uniform half mourning this predilection for violet is simply an expression of the nervous debility of the painter.—Nordau's "Degeneration."

MARY TAFT HOLTZ.

Twelve-year-old Girl Whose Suffrage Reasons Won Prize.

Mary Taft Holtz, twelve years old, of Brooklyn entered a competition started by the Women's Political union, offering 1 cent a word for the best answer of 300 words to the question "Why am I a suffragist?"

Miss Holtz's reply was conceded to be the best of the many received. It follows in part:

"Why am I a suffragist? I am not yet a woman, but when I am I want to vote. I shall here give my reasons for wishing the ballot:

"Because I shall be a citizen of a government of the people, by the people, for the people, and women are people.

"Because I shall (and do) have to obey the laws just as men do, and it is therefore right that I should have some part in making the laws.

"Because women are human beings. They have each a soul and a brain, as well as the physical body. They are therefore as clever and noble minded as men. Yet they are not allowed the same right that men have. Why? There is no good reason.

"Is not Liberty represented as a woman? Yet women are not allowed even the liberty of voting.

"Many people say that voting would interfere with the woman's housework, but it does not interfere with the man's work in office, store, factory or other business.

"Many women own property and pay taxes on it. They should have some part in making these taxes."

NEWELL SANDERS.

He Is the New United States Senator From Tennessee.

Newell Sanders, who was appointed United States senator by Governor Hooper of Tennessee to succeed the late Robert L. Taylor, is a native of Indiana, having been born in Owen county July 12, 1850. He is a graduate of the University of Indiana. From 1873 to 1875 he was a merchant in Bloomington. In 1878 he began the manufacture of plows in Chattanooga, and for twenty years he was president of the Chattanooga Plow company. In 1901 he established a plow company that bears his name. He was a delegate to the national Republican conventions of 1902 and 1906 and has been chairman of the state committee since 1904.

He managed the memorable campaign of H. Clay Evans for the governorship in 1894 and his man was

In 1908, at a state convention at Nashville, Chairman Sanders was all but killed by men of the opposing factional wing. He was dragged from the stand and his clothes torn from him.

Directly traceable to Mr. Sanders was the election two years of Ben W. Hooper for governor over Senator Taylor.

Senator Sanders is tall, well proportioned, impressive in manner, not hasty in speech and an organizer whose personality apparently carries weight wherever he goes. He would not be classed in any sense as an orator or one who on the platform would create any particular impression, but his power is rather in the political friends he has made in his comparatively short career and the alliance he is said to have formed with influential interests in Washington.

LEGAL SEALS IN JAPAN.

Every Person Must Have One Which the Government Registers.

Japanese seals (han) are of wood, stone or metal, with signs engraved on the face. They are used in addition to a signature to represent an individual, a legal person or a corporation. The seals of the emperor are distinguished as privy and state seals. They are each three inches square.

The state seal is used mostly upon documents relating to foreign countries. The privy seals are stamped on imperial rescripts, issued for proclamations at home.

Japanese law requires that each individual should send in an impression of his seal as a specimen (called jitsuin) to have it registered and kept in a government office (district office of a city, town or village) that it may represent himself in a deed.

The material employed to make these seals consists of various kinds of precious stones, gold, silver, etc. Those mostly in use at the present day are of agate, rock crystal, ivory, rhinoceros or buffalo horn, shell, marbles or of cherry wood or boxwood, and recently india rubber has come in use.

The ink used for stamping is called niku. It is generally of vermilion red. The cheapest kind of seals are made of boxwood and sold at 5 cents apiece. Most seals are oval in shape, but some are round and others square. They rarely exceed one-half inch in diameter.—Oriental Review.

PEROXIDE'S MANY USES.

It Is a Valuable Antiseptic and Can Be Employed In Other Ways.

One of the most powerful bleaching agents employed in various trades is peroxide of hydrogen, also known as hydrogen dioxide and oxygenated water. The natural color in ostrich plumes is removed by it, and it will also bleach a great number of other things, such as bones, ivory, silver, wood, silk, cotton and hair. It can be used to restore the color to old oil paintings which have become darkened by age.

Peroxide is a valuable antiseptic and will also destroy objectionable microorganisms in water. It can even be used to cure indigestion, but for this purpose as well as for other medicinal uses it must be diluted. A drop of pure peroxide is strong enough to raise a white blister on the skin.

Minute quantities of peroxide of hydrogen are found in the air, in rain water and in snow, and it is sometimes found in the juices of certain plants. The liquid is produced on a large scale by the action of acids on peroxide of sodium. The solution may be concentrated by allowing the water to freeze out, by passing dry air through it or by evaporation in a vacuum over sulphuric acid.—New York Sun.

NELSON'S COOLNESS.

A Dangerous Fire Aboard His Ship Didn't Excite the Admiral.

Two or three days before the battle of Trafalgar a boy on the Victory carelessly set fire to a bottle of ether. The result was that the flames extended to some sails and also to a part of the ship. There was a general confusion—running with buckets and what not—and, to make matters worse, the fire was becoming dangerous, as it was rapidly extending to the powder magazine.

During the hubbub Lord Nelson was in the chief cabin writing dispatches. His lordship heard the noise—he could not do otherwise—and so in a loud voice he called out:

"What's all that noise about?"

The boatswain answered:

"My lord, the loblolly boy's set fire to an empty bottle and it's set fire to the ship."

"Oh!" said Nelson. "That's all, is it? I thought the enemy had boarded us and taken us all prisoners. You and loblolly must put it out and take care we're not blown up. But pray make as little noise about it as you can or I can't go on with my dispatches." And with these words Nelson went to his desk and continued his writing with the greatest coolness.

A Hawk and a Hymn.

Charles Wesley, brother of John Wesley, who founded the Methodist church, wrote some 6,000 hymns. "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," was the most popular of any he wrote. He got the idea for this one day as he was sitting at his desk. A bird pursued by a hawk flew in at the open window. The hawk, afraid to follow, flew away, and Wesley, struck by the incident, was at once inspired to write a song, applying what he had witnessed to our spiritual life.—Kansas City Star.

MONEY FOUND IN HOUSE PROVOKES LEGAL STRIFE

Morristown, April 26.—The finding of about $2,900 in cash in an old farmhouse on the road from Hanover Village to Swinefield bridge was recounted in the Orphans' Court, Wednesday, before Judge Mills. Elmer King, as counsel for one of the Western heirs, was taking exception to the final accounts of George G. Ketchum, of Iowa, administrator of the estates of Joanna Ketchum, Joanna Louise Ketchum and Sarah Ketchum, and as substituted administrator of the estate of James Ketchum.

Sarah Ketchum, the last survivor of the four, died early in January, and the administrator came on from Iowa and started a search of the house. He found $50 in cash belonging to Sarah in a bed, $200 belonging to Louist wrapped in a stocking in a bureau drawer, $2,610.01 belonging to James in a sugar bowl, in stockings and other hiding places.

The accounts of James, who died in 1899, had supposedly been settled, but nothing had been said to the administrator of the cash in the house. His mother, Joannan, who died in 1885, was found to have a bank book calling for $789.07 still undistributed. In all, the cash of the four exceeded $11,000.

Mr. King said the administrator had juggled the four accounts, swelling unduly the estate of James, and further that the administrator profited more as an heir of James than of his sisters. This George G. Ketchum denied, saying he had no more claim that the other heirs.

The case was much involved and was continued until May 3. Mr. Ketchum was represented by former Judge Thomas A. Davis, of Orange.

HOLD-UP IN CHINESE LAUNDRY.

Paterson, April 26.—Dazed by a blow over the head with an iron bar, Charles Jung, a Chinese laundryman, was able Wednesday to put up enough of a fight to thwart his assailant's attempt at robbery. Jung's place is at 715 East Eighteenth street. The man who attacked him was in the laundry a week ago and asked Jung to go to another laundry to get some shirts the fellow said were there. Jung refused the request and the man left. Wednesday the stranger appeared with the same demand. As Jung turned back to his work the man dealt him a blow on his head with a bar wrapped in paper. As the thug climbed the counter Jung grappled with him and called for help. The man ran. The police have a fair description of the man and are searching for him.

Vincent, New Head of the Astor Family

WILLIAM VINCENT ASTOR, who became head of the American branch of the Astor family upon the death of his father, Colonel John Jacob Astor, in the Titanic disaster, is not yet twenty-one years old. He was born on Nov. 15, 1891, in the old William Astor mansion, at Fifth avenue and Thirty-fourth street, New York, where the Waldorf-Astoria now stands.

He was a delicate child, and until he entered Harvard last autumn he spent about six months of each year at his father's country house, at Ferncliff, on the Hudson, three months at Newport, and three months at the New York town house. He was always somewhat tall, with dark, straight hair and dark blue eyes, resembling his father, especially as to the lower part of the face.

He has always been fond of yachting and automobiling. He accompanied his father on the trip to the West Indies two years ago, in which the Astor yacht, Nourmahal, was not heard from for several weeks. John Jacob Astor and his son Vincent were believed to have been drowned and their vessel wrecked at that time.

Vincent Astor has been thrown particularly into his father's company since his mother, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, obtained her divorce from John Jacob Astor, in November, 1909. Under the divorce decree John Jacob Astor was to have custody of Vincent and Mrs. Astor of the only other child of the marriage, Muriel, now ten years old. At the time of the divorce the amount of John Jacob Astor's settlement on his wife was not made public, but it was said to be $10,000,000 in cash, on the provision that this sum would later revert to Muriel.

Vincent Astor's rumored engagement to various young society girls has been made the subject of gossip for the last year or two. The young man, just before going to Harvard last autumn, however, said he wasn't engaged to any one and that his only interest was in his studies.

The John Jacob Astor fortune has been estimated at $100,000,000. John Jacob Astor's real property holdings alone were stated authoritatively last autumn to be worth more than $41,000,000. The Thirty-fourth street half of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, part of his estate, is assessed at more than $8,300,000.

The $100,000,000 estate, it is understood, will be divided between Vincent Astor and his stepmother, who is about his age. Just how it is of course impossible to say.

NOT A UNION JACK.

Star Spangled Canton on American Flag Is a Union.

Those who speak of the star spangled canton on the Athericau flag as a "union jack" do so erroneously. It is rightly called the "union," but the term "jack" is applied correctly only to the similar canton on the British ensign in which the crosses of St. George, St Andrew and St. Patrick are superimposed. The Marine Journal says that the origin of the phrase union jack is uncertain, but that "the weight of evidence is to the effect that it was derived from Jacques or Jacobus, the French and Latin names of the Stuart king in whose reign the superimposed crosses of St. George and St. Andrew were placed in the canton of the British flag to indicate the union of England and Scotland.

"In that generally accepted view of the case the name appropriately belongs to that part of the British flag, but it is a misnomer to apply it to the canton of the American flag, with which 'Jacobus Rex' certainly had nothing to do unless simply to set the example of placing a union emblem on the canton."

UNION COUNTY ROADS DAMAGED BY FROSTS

Elizabeth, April 26.—It will cost Union county $5,000 to repair the damage done to the county roads by the severe weather of the winter. The heavy frosts caused upheavals in the highways, in some cases these being as much as two feet high.

Morris avenue, from the Elizabeth city line to the Meeker Inn, was extensively damaged. It is planned to resurface this roadway with a smooth material. Two gangs of workmen are now doing the repair work.

OCEAN LINERS TOO BIG IS C. D. CRAMP'S BELIEF

Buffalo, N. Y., April 26.—Ocean-going vessels are being built too large, in the opinion of Cortland D. Cramp, the Philadelphia shipbuilder. In discussing the Titanic disaster here he points out that ocean liners are not built in the same manner as naval vessels.

"The Titanic," he says, "was too long, and there is no need to build such big ships. It would have taken a mile for her to turn around. In naval vessels the coal bunkers are ranged along the ship's side to give strength in resisting shock. The Titanic had hers in the centre. The former plan is preferable."

BOY TELEGRAPHS BACK $4,200 CASH HE STOLE

New York, April 26.—Edward J. Morris, nineteen years old, messenger for the Bankers' Trust Company, 7 Wall street, and John Crowley, eighteen, were arrested Wednesday night in Chicago for embezzling $5,000, after $4,200 of that amount had been returned by Morris to the trust company by telegraphic money order from Columbus.

Morris disappeared last Tuesday with the $5,000 in $50 bills, which he had been sent to deliver to another bank. Morris lives with his widowed mother at 70 Reserve avenue, Jersey City Heights. Crowley, whose home is at 210 Palisade avenue, Jersey City Heights, met Morris and, it is said, proposed a trip around the world. The two youths boarded the first train West. Morris, becoming frightened, insisted on stopping at Columbus, where he spent $42 to telegraph back the $4,200.

LONG TERM FOR MINOTTI.

New Brunswick, April 26.—On being convicted by the jury of having attacked Emma Zullo, a Port Reading girl, five years old, Guiseppe Minotti was sentenced by Judge Peter F. The man was captured at Bound Brook after a struggle. He has been in jail since February 24.

Capt. Smith of the Titanic

CAPTAIN EDWARD JOHN SMITH, who was the commander of the ill fated Titanic, had been in the service of the White Star line for thirty-eight years. He had commanded the Republic (the old Republic, not the one the Florida sank off Nantucket lightship), the Britannic, the Germanic and the Majestic. He brought over the Baltic when she was the biggest vessel on the seas, then the Adriatic and lastly the Olympic. In the White Star service he was known as "the old man."

The honor bestowed on Captain Smith when he was selected to command the Titanic and taken from the Olympic for that purpose was considered remarkable among steamship commanders, for it is a deep sea tradition that a captain's career is ended when his vessel meets with serious mishap.

The Olympic had twice met with misfortune with Captain Smith as her commander, but the White Star company knew that they were justified in placing every reliance on the man who has ruled over the finest steamships in the world.

It is rather more than forty years since Captain Smith first went to sea. He was an apprenticed sailor to the old house of Andrew Gibson & Sons, whose lumber ships sailed between New Orleans and Mobile and Liverpool. His first command was the Bessie Gibson, a pretty ship in her day, that made a fortune for her owners. He rose rapidly and, after having had command of sailing vessels, joined the White Star as fourth officer.

CAPTAIN E. J. SMITH AND THE TITANIC.

He was tall and of weight proportionate to his height. His white hair, white whiskers and mustache made him called by those who have voyaged frequently under his care "the Grand Old Man of the Sea." Except the mishaps with the Olympic and the trouble at the opening of the ill fated voyage of the Titanic, he had never had an accident.

Captain Smith was essentially a careful navigator. He never took chances. He attended himself to every detail of his duty and never left to others what he ought to see to himself.

His home was at Southampton, England, and he had a charming wife and a pretty daughter fourteen years old. His hobby was reading, and he kept himself closely posted on both American and English politics, as well as other forms of news.

Cows In Panties Safe From Flies.

Cape Town dispatches say that the latest thing in the sartorial line is trousers for oxen. This method of clothing beasts of burden is not due to any accession of style in the South African settlements, but the garments have become a necessity to protect the animals from the tsetse flies, which are a torment and often a fatal enemy. The tsetse flies swarm about sunset, traveling near the ground, and they have been known to poison entire herds of cattle. Mr. Ox receives a bath before he dons the habiliments of civilization. This bath consists of oil and resin and is supposed to free the animal of all ticks and parasites. His "panties" are then thoroughly soaked in oil and resin, and when the swarms of flies come in contact with the trousers legs they die by the thousands.

WHAT WE SAY IS SO

BUILDING A FURNITURE BUSINESS

Is much more difficult than most people realize—it must have a firmer foundation. It differs materially from the selling of edibles and wearables, which are used up and forgotten. Whereas, the furniture you buy for your home must be substantial and give years of satisfactory service. It is a daily reminder of the firm from whom you purchased it, and as such, must live up to the claims made for it.

And the same in the quality of your ad. A good salesman carries thru more business than half a dozen ordinary ones, and a good ad.—properly written and placed in the right medium—will positively bring you much bigger returns than an "amateur" ad. placed in any medium.

SUFFRAGISTS PLANNING TO STORM 1913 LEGISLATURE

Trenton, April 26.—The New Jersey suffragists are already making plans for a lively campaign for the creation of sentiment favorable to their cause, as a preliminary step to the storming of the Legislature of 1913 in another effort to get the ballot. A determined effort will be made next year for the enactment of a resolution for the amendment of the State Constitution permitting women to vote.

Mrs. Clara S. Laddey, of Arlington, president of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association, said today that the campaign movement will be organized thoroughly for work throughout the summer. Particular attention will be paid to South Jersey, where the suffrage movement has not made as much progress as in the more populous northern section of the State.

The campaign will include suffrage meetings both indoors and out, automobile tours to carry the suffagist doctrine into remote sections, and special meetings will be planned for the seaside resorts, where many women will be spending the summer. As a part of the campaign suffragists have arranged for a special exhibit at the coming Newark Industrial Exposition, which will represent the cause and where literature will be distributed for the winning of converts.

Mrs. Laddey will spend the month of June in Wisconsin and Ohio to aid the suffragists' campaigns there. She will speak in English and German at various points on why women want, need and expect to get the ballot. In Ohio the question of permitting women to vote will be before the people at a special election in August.

THE PARIS OF PERSIA.

According to a Persian proverb, "Ispahan is beautiful, Shiraz is lovely, but Teheran is most beautiful of all." The Persians call Teheran the "Paris of Persia." This city lies on a sandy level. There are gentle hills to the north, and far in the distance one may see a range of mountains crowned by a majestic and snow covered peak.

The features of Teheran that attract the traveler's attention first are its city walls and its hundred towers that stand at intervals in the wide circle of the ramparts. In the center of the town is the great square of the arsenal, where an enormous number of now obsolete arms are stored. The great Boulevard des Ambassadeurs, as the French would call it, which is near the arsenal, is one of the finest to be found outside Paris.

If this part of the town has a modern aspect the southern part of the city has retained its oriental character, and here palaces, bazaars and mosques jostle one another, surrounded by narrow, winding, mysterious streets. Teheran is one of the dream cities of the east.—London Family Herald.

Ministerial Perquisites.

Not only stationery office officials, but cabinet ministers, used formerly to enjoy sundry little perquisites now no longer legitimate. At one time, for instance, each secretary of state received on his appointment a silver inkstand which he could retain and hand down as a keepsake to his children, but Mr. Gladstone when chancellor of the exchequer abolished this little perquisite, and the only token of office an outgoing minister can take with him is his dispatch box. The wife of a minister who had long occupied an official residence on being evicted said with a pensive sigh, "I hope I am not avaricious, but I must say when one was hanging up pictures it was very pleasant to have the board of works carpenter and a bag of nails for nothing."—London Chronicle.

Not the Same.

It was in the smoking car, and the two fat men were talking.

"Well, I have a good deal of trouble with my kidneys," said the first. "Can't seem to get 'em just right. How about you?"

"Oh, my kidneys are generally all right; it's liver with me," said the second. "Been running wrong all season."

"Excuse me for butting in," said the drummer for a patent medicine house, "but if you gentlemen will take Peterkin's Pepper Pellets For Peevish Patients they will relieve you instantly."

"What's that got to do with us?" asked the fat men simultaneously. "We ain't sick; we're retail butchers."—Harper's Weekly.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

It remained for Wolverton's second string men to break their losing streak. The regulars couldn't do it.

A rumor from Chicago says that "Three Finger" Brown is on the market, Manager Chance figuring that he lacks the final punch. If he is sold it will end the pitching duels that he and Matty have entertained the fans with so many times.

One consolation this year will be if you happen to attend an uninteresting game you can talk politics with the man in the next seat to you. You will probably find that subject uncertain enough.

Princeton will be stronger this year at the Penn. Relay games than ever before. Many promising athletes having appeared this Spring.

If the manly art of self-defense is properly cleaned up it will gain many friends.

Marquard added another to his string Wednesday against the Phillies, making three straight so far.

The Phillies are credited with using flimsy weather excuses to postpone games because of their long injured list. Under the circumstances that's playing the game too.

Cornell has a new shell that proves to be very fast. The first team easily pulling ahead when boated in it, and the second team having it on the first when they are it's crew.

Cornell always did have fast shells, but generally when nine men were in them.

Intercollegiate Golf championships will be played over the links of the Ekwanok Country Club, Sept. 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14.

The story is told of an umpire being hit in the head with the ball, and saw so many stars that he called the game on account of darkness.

Now that Jack Martin is in the big league, Plainfield lads taking in a game in the city will be quite apt to wander Hill-top-ward.

Dahlen and Rigler have both got off easy after their little fistic encounter. Magee and the Phillie fans would have appreciated the same treatment for a like offense last year.

Marty O'Toole's life is well insured, the Pittsburgh Club hold a $25,000 policy. Marty previously held one for $5,000 and has taken out $10,000 additional.

A FEW DON'TS FOR THE AMBITIOUS TWIRLER.

If you are desirous of becoming a pitcher, here are a few little suggestions that may help you on your way. Many a lad has the ability to pitch and needs only a hint now and then to put him right. Here they are:

Don't forget that there are eight others in the game.

Don't think because you are young the other players are pulling against you.

NO QUOIT GAME.

The Rahway team failed to show up last night for their game with the Central Lodge team in the A. O. U. W. Quoit Tournament. The regular meeting was held and one applicant initiated.

DORFLINGER'S "PETS" LIFT LID TOMORROW

Strong Line-up to Be Presented When McKeesport Team Comes to Town.

Tomorrow will find the lid lifted clear from the box when the McKeesport team tries conclusions with Dorflinger's "Pets" at Crescent Oval. The fans here in the city have had their appetites whitted for some baseball for a long time, but weather conditions have prevented everything but an occasional game that, two to one, was called at the end of the sixth inning because of rain, snow and a young cyclone.

But tomorrow Mr. Fan you will get a chance to unlosen that tight feeling in your vocal organs and return home with that comfortable chesty feeling that you have at last helped to pry off the lid and that there is more to come. So get out your old Jimmp pipe and take it out to the oval to help you enjoy the game.

The management has been doing everything possible to make tomorrow's opening game the most successful in the club's history. New bleechers have been built, the grandstand removed, a press stand will be put in for the scribes, and the speediest bunch of ball tossers that ever started a season in this city. The field when finally put in shape will be one of the finest ball parks in this section.

The Plainfield line up tomorrow will be Nelson c, Warry McLaughlin and Morales of the Scrant New York State League team, will do the twirling, Driscoll 1b, W. Stallings 2b, Dalton 3b, Emery ss, Eddie Stallings lf, Joe Harter cf, and Wally Cosgrove rf. Bill Glenny, a Plainfield favorite who has not been seen on a local diamond in some time, but who played last season on the Orange team, of the Amateur League, will be tried out at an infield position. Rutherford D. B. Dalley will hold the indicator which will assure an absence of argument.

The game will be called at 3:30.

RUTGERS HAS STIFF GAME WITH N. Y. U. TOMORROW

One of the most important games on the Rutgers schedule comes tomorrow when the team faces their old rivals, New York University, at University Heights. Two more games will be played with the same institution later. Following this game comes a series of home games, beginning with Norwich University, of Vermont, on Wednesday, May 1. The next Saturday Ursinus plays on Neilson Field. A week later comes N. Y. U., and then Stevens Institute followed by Union, which is strong this year, as was evidenced by their victory over Tufts last Saturday.

The game tomorrow will be a warm battle, according to the dope. N. Y. U. has played but three games so far this season, losing to University of Pennsylvania, and playing a tie game with Princeton. Dickinson last Saturday shut out the New Yorkers, and won 6 to 0. Hoch pitched great ball for the winners, fanning 16 of his opponents and allowing but four hits, and the team supported him in brilliant fashion. Sinnot twirled well for the N. Y. U., giving but six hits, but he was poorly supported at times. The New Yorkers have stars in Lynch on third and Hamilton in the outfield.

SUNDAY CHALLENGE.

The Junior A. C. has Sunday, April 28, open and would like to challenge the Plainfield Juniors or Mt. Pleasant A. C. Address William Murphy, 180 North avenue.

TY COBB SO FAST HE NOW BEATS QUICKEST CAMERA

Detroit, April 26.—Getting into the same photograph of the Tigers in two different places without blurring or spoiling the picture is the remarkable feat that Ty Cobb's lightning thinking and speed have enabled him to accomplish. It is not a fake picture, either. It was the sort of a stunt that makes Ty the greatest of all ball players.

The Tigers were lined up in the new ball yard Sunday for a group photograph. Standing side by side, they made a line too long for an ordinary camera to negotiate, so a panorama camera was used. Cobb was fourth from the left end of the line. The camera exposed only a small portion of the film at a time, the lens traveling in an arc from one end of the line to the other.

When Cobb noted the rate at which it was going the idea popped into his head that he could beat it. So the instant the lens passed him he dashed out around to the rear of the machine and dug for the other end of the line like he goes when stealing home. He arrived in time to take up a position at the side of Manager Jennings, and in the photo appears there smiling and as composed in the fourth place from the right.

TEMPLE A. C. WILL MEET NETHERWOOD A. C. TEAM

The Temple A. C. will meet the Netherwood A. C. tomorrow afternoon on the latter's grounds, Leland and South avenues, at 3:15. Several changes have been made in the Temple lineup by Manager George Simon adding Fred Coombs, a pitcher who has been coached by Bill Deegan, and should be one of the amateur sensations this year.

The line-ups will be:

T. A. C.—J. Lambertson, c; F. Coombs, p; W. Hand, 1b; G. Huff 2b; D. Parrott, 3b; J. Mathews, ss, C. Myers, lf; W. Hadley, cf; F. Parrott, rf.

N. A. C.—M. Terry, s; V. Terry, p; R. Stewart, 1b; C. Smith, 2b; C. Hand, 3b; H. Wahl, ss; J. Kiely, lf; P. Terry, cf; R. Clark, rf.

Scorer—W. H. Conger.

JACK MARTIN CLOUTS BALL IN FIRST GAME

Jack Martin brought the glare of the limelight upon himself the first day that he traveled with the fast set. He gathered in the extra inning clash between the Highlanders and the Champion Athletics yesterday.

Martin played a beautiful game in the field and impressed the experts as a natural shortstop. He accepted nine out of eleven chances. Though his first error in the second round blossomed into a run, the newcomer should have had the honor of winning the game in the twelfth with a clean home run. He was the first man up in this inning, and shot the ball down the right field foul line to the bleacher gate. Martin was held at third by Quinn, when it looked as if he might have made the circuit on his drive.

BOY SCOUTS LOSE.

The Leal's School second team took the Netherwood Boy Scouts in to camp yesterday afternoon 18 to 7. Chamberlain, who pitched for the winners, allowed only two hits.

—Somebody suggests that the Roosevelt equipment includes a "wrecking crew" that makes a "rough house" at every Taft convention. The whole Roosevelt movement is a wrecking crew, its energies being directed toward wrecking the Republican party.—Kansis City Journal.

BASE STEALING TO BE FEATURE

FOLLOWING THE GIANTS' LEAD.

McGraw Greatest Living Exponent of This Phase of the Game—Makes Our National Pastime More Spectacular. Cobb Best Base Runner.

Nineteen hundred and twelve promises to be the greatest base running season in baseball. At the training camps this spring managers devoted many hours to the development of this most spectacular side of the game. And since the season opened several managers have ordered their charges to cultivate the art in the morning practice games.

The Giants won the National league pennant last year on the base lines and their example made the other managers do some thinking.

At times ball grounds resembled an athletic field, with a class of sprinters being coached. Half a dozen players at a time practiced starting at command.

Getting away fast and reaching top speed in the fewest possible strides is one secret of base running. Ty Cobb is the most brilliant example of this art today. He is at top speed in his second step.

More Attention to Sliding.

Sliding is getting more attention than ever. The value of the "fallaway" and "hook slide" is appreciated, and every player who can learn them is being given every assistance.

At the training camp in Marlin Springs, Tex., Manager McGraw rigged a sliding pit for his men to hurl themseles into. The majority of managers, however, order their men to "hit the hard dirt" on the theory that they will learn more quickly. This is rough on the epidermis, but it knocks "can't" out of a player's system.

Great base runners are students. Their brains work faster than the men they match wits with. They secure a safe to start to obtain advantage of every fraction of time between the pitcher's motion and the arrival of the ball at second or third from the catcher.

Third Base Target This Year.

Not only will you see more attempts to steal second this year, but third base will be the object of a determined attack. Third has been neglected too long.

Sliding is generally feet first. Terry Turner of Cleveland is one of the very few players who still slide head first successfully. Ty Cobb made the "hook" and "fallaway" slide popular because he was successful.

Men like Bill Lange, Billy Sunday and Mike Kelly depended more upon sheer weight and their spikes than upon cleverness when stealing. Few base men could hold the ball after being knocked down by them, and many an infielder hesitated when he saw these big fellows piling in at full speed.

Today the lightning use of hands and feet rather than brute force succeeds. The ability to hook one foot around a base, avoiding the infelder's hands, is of more value than such acts as Snodgrass was guilty of when he spiked Baker last fall.

A good base runner makes life miserable for a nervous pitcher. The Giants have a false start from first which upsets many a heaver. The runner, with a fair lead, starts at full speed, to stop after half a dozen steps and dive back. The effect on the pitcher is to "get his goat." Chief Bender refused, and when Merkle tried it Bender threw him out by ten feet.

O'TOOLE SAYS BOWLING GOOD EXERCISE FOR WING

Marty O'Toole, the pitching sensation who is expected by the Pirate fans to bring a pennant to Pittsburgh this season, is one of the pitchers who believe bowling is beneficial in helping a twirler keep in condition and that at the same time it strengthens desirable muscles in the arm and shoulder.

"I don't know whether it is true of every pitcher or not," says O'Toole, "but I found that a shoulder muscle very useful to me in delivering the ball was developed by exercise on the alleys. It got it in good shape that way winter before last, but last winter I felt that I did not need it. I was content to let well enough alone." O'Toole did considerable bowling, however—enough to earn for him the individual championship in the fraternal tournament in his home at South Framingham, Mass.

Kirwan, Ireland's Great Jumper.

P. Kirwan, the Irish broad jumper, who will be one of the English team at Stockholm, cleared 23 feet 10 inches recently and is reported to have well beaten 24 feet in private. He is the present English champion, a title he secured with a jump of 23 feet 7½ inches. Kirwan is the man American jumpers will have to watch most in Sweden.

FLEET AND PUGNACIOUS, YOUTH RESISTS ARREST

Hoboken, April 26.—Two lively sprints and three revolver shots were required to make Albert Peters a prisoner yesterday. At the police station he punched his captor. The youth, who is seventeen, is held for complicity in a robbery. He recently was put on probation on the charge of robbing the First Baptist church, of West Hoboken. His home is at 225 Summit avenue, West Hoboken.

The police have been looking for Peters for several days. Detective-Sergeant Cornelli saw him this morning with several companions. The youth ran half a mile before he was caught.

At the Second Precinct Police Station Peters turned sharply as he was escorted to a cell, struck Cornell in the face and fled. The officer, half a block behind, was losing ground when he fired two shots in the air. When the third zipped over his head he stopped. This time he was handcuffed.

FIREMEN PLAN CARNIVAL.

Perth Amboy, April 26.—The Perth Amboy fire department has fixed on Thursday, October 24, as the date of its parade and demonstration. This may be the last the volunteer department will hold, as the agitation for a paid department is strong. An attempt will be made to obtain a fund of $6,000 by popular subscription. Each company will invite three visiting companies. The plan is to hold a parade in the forenoon, contests for prizes in the afternoon and a carnival at night. The annual session of the Exempt Firemen of New Jersey, to be held here next month, is expected to stimulate interest in the demonstration next fall and make it easy to secure popular and municipal support.

NAVIGATION CONGRESSES.

Trenton, April 26.—Commissioners to have charge of the entertainment of guests of the Permanent International Association of Navigation Congresses have been appointed by Governor [illegible]on, as follows: James [illegible] Reilly, [illegible]; J. Spencer Smith, [illegible]ton M. Jacobus, [illegible] W. Donnelly, [illegible]

PERTH AMBOY MAY GET DEEP WATER CHANNEL

Perth Amboy, April 26.—Government engineers and surveyors are at work on the preliminaries necessary to dredging the channel in Staten Island Sound to a minimum depth of twenty-one feet at low tide. The fact that the engineers are surveying Raritan Bay, from shore to shore and from Sandy Hook to Staten Island Sound at the same time, encourages local pilots to believe that the long agitated straight, deep-water channel from the Atlantic to Perth Amboy may soon become a reality. The channel at present has several bad turns and one or two bars that make it difficult for large vessels to enter port except at high tide.

TELLS OF FINANCIAL LOSS.

Bernardsville, April 26.—Mrs. Jane Herman, wife of Samuel Herman, who lost his life in the Titanic disaster, said Wednesday that her husband had with him a check for a large sum, a gold watch and chain belonging to her and other valuables. Besides these articles, Mrs. Herman had on board other valuables including silverware worth sixty pounds in English money. Mrs. Herman and her daughters, the Misses Kate and Alice Herman, are staying at the home of Mrs. Herman's brother, Arthur Laver, steward of the Somerset Hills Country Club.

FOR INSPECTORSHIP JOB.

Trenton, April 26.—Three candidates will be put on the eligible list for the position of assistant inspector of buildings for service in East Orange, having passed the examinations conducted by the civil service commissioner February 19 last. In the order of merit they are as follows: Richard B. Neu, Alfred M. Gore and George Pearce, Jr., of East Orange.

WIND OVERTURNED COTTAGE.

Belvidere, April 26.—The windstorm of Wednesday did much damage throughout Warren county. At Bone Rift, on the Delaware River, a cottage was turned completely over and came near falling into the river. Near Rocksbury a barn and outbuilding were unroofed. Trees were uprooted and fences leveled.

"PEAPACK AND GLADSTONE" NAME OF NEW BOROUGH

Peapack and Gladstone, April 26.—By a vote of 136 to 17, the residents of Peapack and Gladstone have approved of the proposition of creating these towns into a borough to be known as "Peapack and Gladstone." Seventeen ballots were rejected.

The new borough covers one-fifth of Bedminster Township and contains the homes of C. Ledyard Blair, W. J. Ladd, George R. Mosle, Chandler W. Riker, Dr. Frederick Bull, Dr. Lance and other wealthy city people. It will be one of the wealthiest of the small residential boroughs in the State.

MADISON VERANDAS IN PERIL.

Madison, April 26.—Mrs. W. J. Neill and Mrs. George P. Cook, owners of property in Waverly square, may have to remove verandas from their properties. An opinion has been given by the borough attorney as to the authority of Common Council in the matter. He said the Council has power to remove the varandas, as recommended by the board of public improvement, under an ordinance relating to obstructions passed in 1898. A section of the measure provides that the owners must remove obstructions within thirty days after the receipt of notice from the borough, and, in default of such removal, the street commissioner can have the work done at the expense of the owner. Counsel also said the length of time such as obstruction has been in use cannot affect the validity of the ordinance.

BREWSTER TO FIGHT REMOVAL.

Summit, April 26.—Believing his removal as driver of Hose Company No. 2 fire team by Common Council to be illegal, John L. Brewster has engaged counsel to test in the courts the legality of his dismissal. Brewster is an exempt fireman. He contends that under the law an exempt fireman cannot be removed from a position unless charges are brought against him and sustained. Brewster was appointed a driver May 10, 1910. He was notified in March that his services would be dispensed with April 1 last. Two new auto fire trucks are to be installed in place of the present auto chemical engine in the Hose Company No. 2 building, thereby disposing of the horses used. About two months prior to his removal Brewster was badly injured when the fire horses ran away.

INSANE OVER WEEK.

Elizabeth, April 26.—JohnComiskey, aged thirty, single, was brought to the county jail Wednesday from Union Township. He went insane over the sinking of the Titanic and claims he is responsible for the vessel's loss. He will be removed to the Morris Plains Asylum.

WARNING TO SMOKERS.

Middle Valley, April 26.—Frank Hill has blood poisoning in his left hand, the result of being burned with a match while he was lighting his pipe. He gave little attention to the burn at first, but when his hand began to swell he consulted Dr. E. H. Chrystal, of High Bridge.

KIDNAPPER IS GIVEN SEVERE PRISON TERM

Freehold, April 26.—Pleading guilty to three indictments charging him with kidnapping, Francisca Baroni, thirteen years old, of Red Bank, and other offenses, Dominico Duponti, twenty-seven years old, was sentenced by Judge John E. Foster yesterday to not less than seven and onehalf or more than fifteen years in State prison.

The girl was taken to New York and kept in a hotel two days before she returned to her home. A few days later Duponti was arrested in Manhattan and was extradited.

Henry Coy, a Red Bank negro, received an indeterminate sentence of three and a half to seven years in State prison after he had pleaded guilty of stealing almost all the furniture and furnishings from the John Newman summer home at Little Silver, last week. Coy was out on parole from the Rahway Reformatory when he committed the robbery.

Convicted of maintaining a slot machine in which there was an element of chance, at his store on Main street, Asbury Park, Tony Mole was fined $150 and costs.

MISSOURI DELEGATES TO BE UNINSTRUCTED

Compromise Results In Harmony In Convention.

St. Louis, April 26.—The Roosevelt forces were in control when the Republican state convention met at the First regiment armory. Mayor Frederick H. Kreismann of St. Louis, who was recommended by the state committee as temporary chairman, was unanimously indorsed by the convention, not being opposed by the Roosevelt forces, though an ardent Taft worker.

The chances for a troubled meeting were dissipated by a final effort of Chairman Charles D. Morris when he succeeded in getting both sides in the state committee to go into a compromise conference with regard to the contests. The compromise gave the Taft forces the temporary organization and the Roosevelt forces control on the temporary roll. Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel, for Taft, and Governor Herbert S. Hadley, for Roosevelt, were leaders in the conference.

When the convention was called to order by Chairman Morris he spoke feelingly on the restoration of harmony after the troubled sessions of the state committee. Governor Hadley followed with an address on the same line and introduced Mayor Kreismann as temporary chairman, alluding to him as his personal and political friend. Hadley was given an ovation.

TO IDENTIFY MAJOR BUTT.

President Sends Friend of His Late Aid to Halifax.

New York, April 26.—President Taft sent a dispatch to Secretary of War Stimson directing him to order Major Blanston Winship to proceed to Halifax to identify the body of Major A. W. Butt, lost on the Titanic.

Mr. Taft has no information that Major Butt's body is among those recovered by the Mackay-Bennett, but thought it advisable to have Major Winship, who lived with Major Butt, go to Halifax in the hope that the body may be among those which have been found.

TUTTLE WOULD PROTECT AMATEURS IN WIRELESS

Washington, April 26.—While there is no difference of opinion among members of the New Jersey delegation as to the importance of placing any needful checks upon the public use of the wireless, if it can be shown that the interference of so-called amateurs imperils the safety of transatlantic travelers, there is a strong feeling that in view of the recent disaster to the Titantic there is danger of ill-advised action.

Congressman Tuttle has a communication from the secretary of the Wireless Association of America, bearing upon this subject, accompanied by a letter directed to the chairman of the committee on merchant marine and fisheries. These communications express fear that injustice may be done to amateur wireless operators throughout the United States as a result of the recent disaster, and insist that there has not been a single thing to show that the withholding of news and the garbled reports of news were the result of improper action on the part of amateurs.

In view of the fact that it cannot be shown that the amateur operators did harm, the association holds that it would be unjust to legislate them out of existence or enact laws which would make it so difficult for them to continue their experiments that it would result in terminating the activities of amateurs, thereby retarding the development of wireless telegraphy.

CALLS FOR INVESTIGATION INTO MEAT INSPECTION

Washington, April 26.—The Department of Agriculture is today facing prospects of another investigation of a committee of the House, and Solicitor McCabe, one of the chief figures in the Wiley controversy, may again have to explain his relations with the department.

Representative Nelson, of Wisconsin, has introduced a resolution, calling for an inquiry into the United States Meat Inspection Service.

Nelson charges that the meat inspection laws are being openly and notoriously violated; that Solicitor McCabe and Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, are cognizant of these violations and are doing nothing to stop them.

His resolution recites that the law is being violated, both "in letter and spirit," and that, as affairs now stand, the federal guaranty of the purity of meat products is worthless.

The resolution calls for an investigation by the House committee on expenditures in the Department of Agriculture, of which Representative Moss, of Indiana, is chairman. This is the same committee which conducted the Wiley-Wilson-McCabe inquiry, last summer.

—The "pulling" powers of Press want advs. are unknown until tried.

—He—"Dearest, you are the first woman I ever kissed." She (cynically)—"You don't do it like an amateur." He (wrathfully) "Deceitful one, how do you know the difference?"—Baltimore American.

ROUND TRIP OVER CHANNEL.

Aviator Hamel and Miss Davis Off on Long Trip.

Paris, April 26.—Aviator Gustav Hamel in a monoplane, carrying Miss Mary Davis as passenger, left the suburb of Ismay to make the round trip from Paris to London by way of Brussels.

Hamel started straight for Brussels. He planned to re-enter France at Roubaix, then fly to Calais, make the crossing to Dover and continue to London.

On the return trip he will fly direct from Dover to Calais and thence to Paris. Before he returns, if he carries out his plans, he will have flown over three countries—France, Belgium and Great Britain—crossing the British channel twice.

SAYS TAFT APPROVED WITHHOLDING SUIT

Roosevelt Answers Harvester Trust Charge.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., April 26.—Colonel Roosevelt, answering the critics of his harvester trust action, declares that President Taft as a member of his cabinet heartily concurred in the postponement of action in the proposed prosecution of the trust until after Herbert Knox's investigation was finished and reported on. This report was not made during the remaining year and a half of his administration, the colonel points out by reference to letters from Commissioner of Corporations Smith, because of pressure of work upon that bureau in steel, lumber and Standard Oil investigations.

The colonel further points to Herbert Knox Smith's letters to prove that his orders as president only served to facilitate, not suppress, the report.

The report has never since been made, and the colonel was careful to point out as he handed out his statement that, though all the memoranda have been in the possession of President Taft for nearly four years, "he has taken no action except that now taken five days before the Massachusetts primary."

Colonel Roosevelt declared that "if the action taken in the harvester trust did secure the good will of that trust or of any other Morgan interests for anybody it secured their good will for Mr. Taft," who, the colonel asserted, he expected would run for the nomination in 1908.

TWO CAPTAINS TO FACE COMMITTEE

Mount Temple's Commander Voluntary Witness.

PUSHING INVESTIGATION.

Senators Hurry Examination of Witnesses In Titanic Inquiry So That British Sailors Held to Testify May Be on Their Way Home.

Washington, April 26.—The captain and the wireless operator of the steamship Californian, now at Boston, have been subpoenaed to appear today before the senate committee investigating the Titanic disaster. They have been ordered to produce the ship's log and are expected to give important testimony.

Captain J. H. Moore of the Canadian Pacific railroad's steamship Mount Temple is also expected to arrive some time today. He will testify before the committee with reference to a report that his ship passed within sight of the Titanic, saw her distress signals and failed to respond. Captain Moore, who denies the report, prefers to appear in person before the committee rather than give his testimony to a Canadian commission. His ship is now in port at St. John's, N. B.

The testimony of Hasold Cottam, the wireless operator on the Carpathia, did not confirm Captain Moore's telegraphic statement to Senator Smith that the Mount Temple answered the Titanic's distress call. He said he did not, although he had been in communication with the Mount Temple at 10:30 o'clock Sunday night, April 14, and received a "good-night" message.

Record of Ice Warnings.

With respect to the subpoenas that have been issued for the captain and wireless operator of the Californian, Senator Smith stated that he expected to get from them a record of the ice warnings that were transmitted to the Titanic on the evening of the disaster. He also hopes to get some light on the statements that have been made that the Californian may have been closer to the Titanic than was the Carpathia.

An unexpected development was the action of the committee in distributing the work of examining the British sailors among the several members of the committee. This step, it was explained by Senator Smith, was taken in the hope of expediting the investigation and thus enabling the seamen to return to England sooner.

The most interesting testimony came from an able seaman, a member of the Titanic crew, who was examined by Senator Fletcher. This seaman corroborated the statements made by Fourth Officer Boxhall and others in regard to an unidentified vessel being only a short distance from the Titanic when she foundered.

Mysterious Vessel Near.

"I could see not only the lights of this ship, but I could see her motion as she rode the waves," said this sailor. He added that he had no doubts that the lights which Officer Boxhall saw and for which many of the lifeboats pulled were those of a ship not more than three miles away. Officer Boxhall fixed the distance of this ship from the Titanic as about five miles. For more than an hour he sent up rockets as a signal of distress from the bridge of the Titanic and flashed calls for help in the Morse code, but the vessel either ignored or failed to see the signals.

William Marconi, head of the wireless company, and Harold C. Cottam, the wireless operator on board the Carpathia, were the only two witnesses examined by the full committee. Wireless messages were introduced in evidence showing that officers from the Marconi company had instructed their wireless operators on the Carpathia to hold the details of the disaster for sale exclusively to a New York newspaper for a sum in "four figures." One of these messages was signed "Marconi," but Mr. Marconi denied all knowledge of them and declared that he disapproved of them. He contended that he had been desirous to obtain details of the disaster at the earliest possible moment for general distribution among public prints.

205 BODIES RECOVERED.

Corrected List of Identified Shows G. D. Widener's Remains on Board Ship.

New York, April 26.—With the announcement that 205 bodies of those who lost their lives in the Titanic disaster had been recovered, the cable steamship Mackay-Bennett sent a corrected list of identifications so far made. It is now certain that the body of George D. Widener of Philadelphia is among those picked up. The sending of the name L. Butt instead of H. B. Att has again stirred the hope that she may have on board the body of the president's aid.

The name of Vear, which was at first considered a mistaken transmission of the name of William T. Stead the English journalist, appears on the revised list.

The Mackay-Bennett has been hampered in the recovery of bodies by a dense fog.

BRANDS COLONEL DISLOYAL FRIEND

Taft Tells What He Thinks of Predecessor.

T. R. MENACE TO BUSINESS

President In Opening Personal Attack on Roosevelt Produces Letter Showing Colonel Knew He Opposed Seating of Lorimer.

Boston, April 26.—Discharging what he characterized as one of the most painful duties of his life, President Taft, speaking here, broke his long silence on Roosevelt and told his hearers his personal opinions of the ex-president, his one time warm friend.

Mr. Taft acknowledged his deep debt of gratitude to Colonel Roosevelt and spoke feelingly of the love and admiration he once had for him. But a situation had arisen, he contended, which compelled him, as the titular leader of the movement for sane constitutional government, to disregard his personal feelings and to speak plainly and to the point.

President Taft thereupon charged Roosevelt with deliberate misrepresentation of his (Taft's) speeches, with making false statements in regard to the president's attitude toward Lorimer, with changing front on the question of reciprocity in an effort to win the farmer vote, with having made false charges of fraud against the president of the United States, with having repudiated his own trust record and with having proved himself disloyal as a friend.

"Approved Support of Cannon."

President Taft asserted that Roosevelt approved of the support which he (Taft) gave to Cannon in his candidacy for re-election as speaker, although Mr. Roosevelt now seeks to use the president's action in the matter as a political asset. Mr. Taft characterized his predecessor as a "menace to the entire business community," and in effect accused him of insincerity and a breach of faith in the matter of his third term.

"One who so lightly regards constitutional principles, and especially the independence of the judiciary, one who is so naturally impatient of legal restraints and of due legal procedure, and who has so misunderstood what liberty regulated by law is, could not," said the president, "safely be intrusted with successive presidential terms. I say this sorrowfully, but I say it with the full conviction of its truth."

The president produced a letter he had written to Colonel Roosevelt showing thereby that Roosevelt knew that the president was opposed to the seating of Senator Lorimer.

President Taft produced further confidential letters that passed between himself and Roosevelt showing that Roosevelt had given an unqualified indorsement of Canadian reciprocity, which he is now criticising.

The Boston speech ended a series of speeches by President Taft against Colonel Roosevelt in Massachusetts, whose primaries on April 30 will probably determine the fight for the Republican presidential nomination, as between President Taft and Mr. Roosevelt.

BOMBARDMENT KILLS THREE HUNDRED TURKS

Fort Destroyed by Italians and 315 Wounded.

London, April 26.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Chronicle says the bombardment of the Dardanelles fort by the Italian warships was much more serious than is officially admitted. The Kumulish fort was completely demolished. Three hundred Turks were killed and 315 wounded. Of the latter 265 were brought to Constantinople, while the other fifty are in the hospital at Kumulish.

The situation in Constantinople is becoming more serious daily. There is a dearth of provisions, and it is feared that nothing in that line is coming in. One hundred steamships are waiting in Greek harbors for permission to pass the Dardanelles.

There are plenty of cereals aboard the ships in the Bosphorus, but all are consigned abroad.

DELICIOUS DISHES FOR THE TABLE

These Appetizing Viands May, if So Desired, Be Served as Auxiliaries to the Feast For Easter.

SHAD is the fish favored at this season, eggplant is an appropriate vegetable, and rhubarb will provide many dainty deserts for the Easter table.

If you have a pudding sago sauce may be appreciated. To prepare it wash a tablespoonful of sago in water, then put it into a saucepan with about a third of a pint of water, the rind of a lemon and let it simmer on the fire for ten minutes. Take out the lemon peel, add the juice of the lemon, a little pounded cinnamon and sugar to sweeten. Flavor to suit the taste. Boil and serve. This makes a delicious dressing for bread, rice or any other plain pudding.

Shad is even more palatable when baked than broiled. To bake shad it should be stuffed with mashed potatoes and chopped parsley. Lay it in the oven on a pan which is well covered with butter chopped in pieces. Baste the fish with the butter and add fresh quantities as fast as it is absorbed. Half or three-quarters of a pound of butter should be used for large sized shad.

Stuffed Eggplant.—Peel the vegetable, cut it in two and soak in water. Then take out the inside, chop this fine, mixing breadcrumbs, salt and butter with it.

Fry this and return it to the hollow eggplant. Join the cut parts together and bake in the oven.

Whole Wheat Muffins.—Take a quart of sifted whole wheat flour, a teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder.

Beat four eggs, add to them three cups of milk, a tablespoonful of melted butter, one teaspoonful of sugar and the flour. Beat hard, adding more flour if the butter is too thin, but taking care not to have it too stiff.

Pour into greased and heated muffin tins and bake in a steady oven.

Stewed Rhubarb.—In this the plant must be young and tender. The stalks are better not peeled. Cut into small pieces after washing well in cold water. Put into an enameled saucepan with sugar equal to half the weight of the rhubarb. Place the saucepan on the back of the stove and cook until it is tender. Stewed in this way no water is needed.

If the rhubarb is not quite ripe and likely to be sour the flavor may be improved by letting it stand in boiling water for about five minutes before cooking.

Cooked with gelatin rhubarb may be turned out in any shape you like and will make a handsome as well as delicious dessert.

With a fork shred the meat into small bits and season with salt, paprika, lemon juice and enough melted butter to soften.

Return to the buttered shells, with butter and fine crumbs. Set in the oven long enough to brown. Send to table in the shells.

The eggs may be stuffed with nuts, minced meat and with well seasoned chopped vegetables, such as boiled beets or potatoes.

The eggs must be quite fresh and should be boiled to a certain degree of firmness without making them so tough as to be unpalatable.

EGGS IN NOVEL WAYS.

The custom of entertaining at Easter is becoming very popular, especially after early church, the repast being finished by 11 o'clock for the benefit of the guests who wish to go to that service, it being a foregone conclusion that every one attends some church on this especial Sunday.

At this 9 o'clock breakfast the hostess has an opportunity of serving some delicious egg dishes. A centerpiece appropriate to the occasion should be used, with beautiful spring flowers at each plate. The occasion is one to be made very delightful.

Violets are usually much in evidence. Somehow they are always associated with a new Easter gown. The place cards are eggs, the name done in gold ink.

Eggs for breakfast on Easter are served as a matter of course. Let each one choose how his or her egg is to be cooked. Only a little more time will be required, and much will be added to the interest of the meal. For a centerpiece have a large nest filled with colored eggs and spring flowers.

Easter Gifts.

It is quite the custom to send Easter gifts mostly in the way of flowers, plants, candy or a novelty egg containing a little gift. Books done up in white paper and tied with white and yellow ribbon make very acceptable tokens.

There are the downiest yellow chicks, rabbits of all colors and sizes, nests and baskets, while the varieties of eggs displayed would startle a good, old fashioned hen. Plants, flowers, bonbons and books are always acceptable for gifts. Do not forget that yellow and white are the Easter colors. A note of sentiment to accompany the gift increases the value tenfold.

The Bachelor Girl Game.

Any number of players sit in a row or around a table, and one known as the questioner asks each in turn what he or she will contribute to help furnish the bachelor girl's den. When each has named an article, which may range from a cooking utensil to a fine painting, the questioner begins again with the first player to his right and asks all sorts of questions, to each of which the player must give as an answer the name of the article that he or she had offered to contribute to the den.

If any player laughs while being questioned or gives any answer but the name of the article he has offered he must pay a forfeit. In such a case the questioner begins his attack on the next player in order and continues his questions until he is assured that the player will not laugh or give any but the right answer.

The Disk Game.

Upon a large square of white oilcloth paint sixteen red spots five inches in diameter and fasten it securely to the ground. Cut from a sheet of galvanized iron ten disks, each one exactly the size of one of the spots. Five disks form a set. The object of the game is to completely cover one spot or more with the five disks thrown from a distance of eight feet. All may be used in covering one spot, but no particle of red must show.

The Sandman.

The sandman lives down on the beach,
Where the waves roll on and on.
He always keeps just out of reach
Till the day is past and done.

I want to ask him why he takes
Little boys and girls alone
And leaves the big folks wide awake
Until half the night is gone.

Paint that Stays Painted
That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

NOTED MEN WHO LOST LIVES ON THE TITANIC

Also Frank D. Millet, Charles Melville Hays, William T. Stead and Henry B. Harris.

MANY well known persons were among the passengers who lost their lives in the destruction of the White Star liner Titanic. Men of wealth and genius were in the list, and the story of how they lost their lives in order that the women and children might be saved is one of magnificent heroism. Calm and courageous they went to their death, and the memory of their noble devotion to duty will forever remain a splendid inspiration.

Following are sketches of some of the prominent victims:

Colonel John Jacob Astor.

Colonel John Jacob Astor, the American head of the Astor family, put up and owned more hotels and skyscrapers than any other New Yorker. At one time he was a director in twenty or more large corporations. His fortune has been estimated at from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000.

COL. JOHN JACOB ASTOR.

Colonel Astor was born at the old Astor estate at Ferncliff, Rhinebeck-on-the-Hudson, July 13, 1864. He was the son of William Astor, a grandson of William B. Astor and great-grandson of the original John Jacob Astor, founder of the house in America.

John Jacob Astor spent his early schooldays at St. Paul's, Concord, N. H. Thereafter he went to Harvard, where he was graduated in 1888. After extensive travels through Europe and the West Indies he returned to New York to devote himself to the management of the great estates which had been left to him by his father.

Three years after leaving Harvard he was married, in 1891, to Miss Ava L. Willing of Philadelphia. They had two children, William Vincent Astor, who is now twenty, and Alice, ten years old. Soon after his marriage Colonel Astor began building large hotels, among them the old Waldorf, later joined to the Astoria; the St. Regis, Knickerbocker and the Astor.

Mrs. Astor was awarded a divorce on Nov. 8, 1909. The decree provided that Mrs. Astor was to have charge of her daughter, Alice, while Colonel Astor took his son, Vincent.

Isidor Straus.

Isidor Straus was born in Rhenish Bavaria on Feb. 6, 1845. His father's family came to this country in 1852 and settled at Talbotton, Ga. Isidor obtained a common school education, which he supplemented with a classical course at Collinsworth Institute. It was his ambition to enter West Point Military academy, and probably he would have done so had not the war broken out just at the time that he had prepared himself for that institution. He was then sixteen years old, and, with the war fever in the air, he volunteered for the Confederate army. He assisted in the organization of a company of which his comrades had chosen him lieutenant.

STRAUS.

When he offered himself, however, he was informed that the Confederacy did not have the guns sufficient to arm its men and wanted no boys, so he entered his father's store. Here he remained two years, when an opportunity came to him to go to England and remain in the employ of a company there until the close of the war. His father had in the meanwhile moved to Columbus, Ga., and was seriously thinking of moving to Philadelphia to start anew in business. His son favored New York instead, and, his advice prevailing, the family removing to New York.

Mr. Straus was, with his brothers, the owner of two of the largest department stores in New York. He held a prominent place in the field of philanthrophy and was a supporter of almost every charitable institution in New York regardless of creed. He also was a director in several banking and financial institutions.

He was a member of the Fifty-third congress and served on the ways and means committee. His brother, Oscar, has been minister to Turkey and was secretary of commerce and labor in President Roosevelt's cabinet.

Major Archibald Butt.

Major Archibald Willingham Butt, who was President Taft's military aid, was born in Georgia forty-one years ago. For several years before the Spanish war he was a newspaper correspondent in Washington, representing at one time the Louisville Post, the Atlanta Constitution, the Nashville Banner, the Augusta Chronicle and the Savannah News. From his first arrival in Washington he had been popular in society.

He accepted the position of first secretary of the United States legation at the City of Mexico when former Senator Matt W. Ransom of North Carolina was minister and remained there until the death of Ransom, when he returned to newspaper work in Washington. One of his diversions during his years of work as a newspaper writer was to write for magazines, and he produced several novels based on his life in Mexico and the south that rose to a more than ordinary level of finish and interest.

MAJOR ARCHIBALD BUTT.

His entry in the army was due to the late Major General H. C. Corbin, who was adjutant general during the Spanish war and the years following and who selected Butt as one of twenty young officers to go into the fifteen new volunteer regiments to go to the Philippines.

While in the islands he wrote several reports on handling animals in the tropics that attracted attention, and one of his military articles so pleased President Roosevelt that he later asked him to become his military aid. On his return from the Philippines Butt was given a commission in the regular army and sent to Cuba with the army of occupation. He was stationed at Havana and did very good service there. Within a month after his return to duty in the quartermaster's department President Roosevelt had him detailed to duty as one of his personal aids.

He was a bachelor and lived in a fine old mansion in Washington, where he entertained his old friends in handsome style.

Major Butt was a graduate of Sewanee university, Tennessee. He was promoted to the grade a year ago after an eleven years' record of most excellent service. He had a brother living in London, where his mother died a few years ago.

Frank D. Millet.

Frank D. Millet, a noted artist and correspondent, was born at Mattapoisett, Mass., in 1846. His adventurous temperament led him to enlist as a drummer boy at the beginning of the civil war. He was soon promoted to the position of assistant in the surgeons' corps, which he held for a year, seeing a great deal of active service.

When the war was over he returned to Massachusetts and entered Harvard. On graduation he went into journalism, joining the staff of the Boston Advertiser. Later he was city editor of the Boston Courier and head of the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

FRANK D. MILLET.

In 1871 he took up the study of art at the Royal academy in Antwerp, where he won a much coveted prize in his first year. His success obtained for him the position of secretary to Charles Francis Adams when the latter was appointed commissioner to the Vienna exposition of 1873. Though only twenty-seven, Millet managed there to keep up his art studies, do his duties as secretary and report the exposition for two New York newspapers.

In 1876 he returned to his native country and got to work harder than ever. Not only did he report the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia for the Boston Advertiser, but he found time to assist John La Farge in decorating Trinity church, Boston's most famous place of worship.

In 1877 he became a correspondent in the Russo-Turkish war and acquitted himself so brilliantly that his work attracted the attention of the editors of the London Daily Mail, who appointed him their correspondent to succeed the celebrated Archibald Forbes. Millet was by the side of the Russian General Skobeleff in a good part of the liveliest fighting in the war and wrote thrilling descriptions of the big events of the campaign. He also drew graphic sketches and emerged from the war with no less than six decorations for bravery under fire.

After that he went to Paris and devoted himself for awhile to serious art study. He was chosen a member of the fine arts jury of the Paris exposition in 1878. Returning to Boston, he married and lived there for awhile, but in 1881 he was again on the move, making sketches in Europe. Soon after he settled down in Worcestershire, England.

Charles Melville Hays.

Charles Melville Hays was president of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railway companies and was considered one of the most brilliant and successful of railroad officials. He was born at Rock Island, Ill., May 16, 1856.

His first work in the railroad world was in the passenger department of the Atlantic and Pacific railroad in St. Louis. He was soon promoted to an important position in the office of the auditor of the road and later was transferred to the general superintendent's office, where he remained until 1877. That year he was made secretary to the general manager of the Missouri Pacific railroad. In 1886 he became assistant general manager of the road. One year later he was appointed general manager of the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific and later became manager of the Wabash Western.

CHARLES M. HAYS.

When the consolidation of the Wabash lines took place Mr. Hays was made vice president of the company and general manager of the lines of the whole system.

In 1897 he completed the reorganization of the Central Vermont Railway company, a subsidiary line of the Grand Trunk, of which he was then president.

Upon the death of the late Collis P. Huntington, the president and a large owner in the Southern Pacific company and steamship lines, controlling upward of 10,000 miles, Mr. Hays was the first choice for his successor, and the appointment was made Jan. 1, 1901. In the autumn of the same year he resigned and was recalled to take charge of the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada, becoming second vice president and general manager Jan. 1, 1902.

On Jan. 1, 1910, Mr. Hays was elected a member of the board of directors of the Grand Trunk Central Railway company and on that date was made president of the company and its consolidated lines and subsidiary railroad and steamship companies.

Mr. Hays had been in full charge of the company's affairs in America.

William T. Stead.

William T. Stead was the editor of the English Review of Reviews and was known as an advocate of international peace and as an investigator of psychical phenomena. He was born in Embleton, England, July 5, 1849. His father was the Rev. W. Stead, a Congregational minister. He was educated in Silcoats school, Wakefield, and upon leaving that institution at the age of fourteen was made an apprentice in a merchant's office.

He entered journalism and at twenty-two years of age was editor of the Northern Echo, published at Darlington, later becoming an assistant editor of the Pall Mall Gazette in 1880. Three years later he became editor of that publication and in 1885 was imprisoned for three months for a political article entitled the "Maiden Tribute." He founded the Review of Reviews in 1890 and the American Review of Reviews a year later.

WILLIAM T. STEAD.

Following these publications, he entered journalism in Australia with a publication known as the Australasian Review of Reviews. After a visit to the czar in 1898 he began preaching the propaganda of universal peace, founding and editing a weekly called War Against War. He attended The Hague conference and later strongly opposed the Boer war with a philippic entitled "Shall I Slay My Brother Boer?"

In 1900 he proposed the formation of the international union to combat militarism and to secure the adoption of the recommendations of The Hague conference. He wrote many works and made many visits to this country.

Henry B. Harris.

Henry B. Harris was born in St. Louis Dec. 1, 1866. His father, William Harris, a theatrical manager of note, is now associated with the firm of Klaw & Erlanger. The son received his education at the public schools in St. Louis and later in Boston, to which city his parents moved while he was yet a boy. It was in the Massachusetts capital that Harris got his first training as a theatrical man, becoming connected with the famous old Howard Athenaeum there. He remained identified with that house for several years, leaving it to become a partner in the firm of Rich & Harris, for many years active in the theatrical history of Boston. It was during his association with this firm that he laid the foundations of his future success by a number of highly successful ventures. Among the stars whom he managed in a number of successful plays at this time were May Irwin, Pete Dailey and Mrs. Langtry.

HENRY B. HARRIS.

He also produced "The Climbers," with Amelia Bingham in the principal feminine role, and the success of this play went far toward paving the way for Harris' entry into New York. After launching Robert Edeson on his starring career Harris became manager of the Hudson theater in 1903.

He acquired the Hackett theater in 1906 and soon after won one of the biggest victories of his whole career with Charles Klein's "The Lion and the Mouse."

—"What have you got in that locket, Lizette?" "A lock of my husband's hair." "But he's still alive." "Yes, but he hasn't any hair now."—Fligende Blaetter.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The Hippodrome announces the last three weeks of the spectacle "Around the World," and the Mammoth Durbar circus. All those who have not yet seen the great double show will do well to arrange a visit during the short time that remains before the close of the Hippodrome season. Though year after year has broken records of attendance at the big playhouse, the fact remains that this has been the most prosperous of all seasons in the history of New York's largest theatre. The greatest spectacles comprise scenic visits to all parts of the world. Among the countries visited are England, Ireland, Spain, Honolulu, Italy, Switzerland, Egypt, etc. Twelve star arenic features make up the circus program and the success of the colossal show is explained by its gigantic proportion and altogether gorgeous presentation.

Mr. James T. Powers inaugurates his first New York City engagement in two years under the management of the Messrs. Shubert at the Casino theatre this week. His vehicle is a new musical play entitled "Two Little Brides." The book and lyrics are by Arthur Anderson, Mr. Powers and Harold Atteridge, and all the music is by Gustave Kerker. The piece is worthy of special mention as the first work which Mr. Kerker has completed since his return from Germany, where he spent two years composing and producing musical comedies for leading Berlin play houses. Mr. Powers' character is "Two Little Brides" is that of a Russian named "Polycrap Ivanovitch." "Polycrap" and his special friend, "Count Boris," are caught flirting with two of the inmates of a Young Ladies' Seminary, and, according to the rules of the institution, are obliged to marry the girls without further ado. After the ceremony they both desert their brides, and, a year later, have much trouble making love to their own wives. The play is in two acts, both of which are laid in Russia. In addition to Mr. Powers himself the cast of "The Little Brides" includes Frances Cameron, Leila Hughes, Flavia Arcaro, Louise De Rigney, Melissa Ten Eyck, Walter Lawrence, Forrest Winant, George Pauncefort, Sherman Wade, Louis London, Oscar Schwartz, Jack Tuller, Frank Williams and other favorites. The chorus is large and the production very lavish.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Scenic beauty and educational value go together in addition to all other features in the great cinematographic reproduction of Dante's "Inferno" made by the Milano-Films Company. Over one hundred scenes, all taken from the great poem of Dante, are represented in the film in most life-like portrayal. The reels have been shown in the most celebrated theatres of Europe and there has been a steady acclaim of praise and commendation. The "Inferno" with appropriate music and lecture will be the attraction at the Plainfield theatre, April 29 and 30.

Earl Knapp, the lilliputian actor, is said to make little Napoleon an even funnier kidling than McManus has ever created on paper. Napoleon's pretty mamma is played by Olga Von Hatzfeldt, one of the prettiest and cleverest comediennes on the stage. Charles A. Morgan, who is Mr. Newlywed, has the peculiar cast of countenance necessary for the proper portrayal of the McManus idea of what Da Da's papa ought to be. There are 60 and ½ people in the organization of funmakers, 75% of which are girls. They appear tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Plainfield theatre.

FIREBUG DESTROYS BARN.

Califon, April 26.—The barn of Aaron Lindabury, carpenter and builder, of Cokesbury, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The blaze, laid to an incendiary, was discovered by David McCatherin, a neighbor, who organized a bucket brigade. This saved the Lindabury residence and buildings nearby. The contents of the barn, excepting a horse, were also destroyed. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

HAGIN SENTENCE DEFERRED.

Elizabeth, April 26.—Former License Inspector Jacob Hagin, who was to have been sentenced Wednesday afternoon by Judge Atwater for attempted bribery, obtained a postponement of his case for another week. Hagin was found guilty by a jury of trying to bribe Excise Commissioner Owen McLaughlin to vote for a saloon-keeper's license.

PRISONERS WORK ON JAIL LAWN

Morristown, April 26.—Prisoners in the county jail were put to work Wednesday digging up and grading the lawn in front of that institution. The work was done under the direction of Freeholder Burchell, chairman of the courthouse and jail committee. All the lawn between Court street and the central wall was turned over.

HAS AMUSED SHOW PUBLIC FOR THIRTY-TWO YEARS

Thirty-two years of success as an amusement purveyor to the American public is a record of which any man might well be proud, and that is the record of Frank A. Robbins, who will bring his "All-Feature Show" to Plainfield this year on May 8. Starting while yet a very young man, with the smallest kind of a wagon show, he has gradually developed his business until today he is putting on the road a show, which while not the largest, is fully up to any in the features presented. Every year for thirty-two he has improved his equipment, and searched all over the country for star acts, and those which will be seen this year are said to eclipse any in the past. It has always been the custom of this successful circus man to give the public just what he advertises that he will, and his reputation for keeping his word has become so great that he is able to return to the same town year after year, a thing which has been found next to impossible by other circuses. In addition to strengthening his show he has increased his menagerie and parade this year at great expense. Two performances will be given, at 2 and 8 o'clock, preceded by band concerts for one hour.

PREVENTORIUM IS DEDICATED.

Is First Institution of Kind In the Country.

FOR TUBERCULAR CHILDREN

Farmingdale, N. J., April 26.—The dedicatory exercises of the Nathan Straus Preventorium For Children were held here in the open air before a crowd of 500 people, nearly half of whom came in a special from New York. The greatest interest was manifested in the occasion, for the institution is the first of its kind ever attempted in this country, and this fact, together with the success of its early efforts, attracted the attention and interest of all leaders in philanthropic enterprises.

Governor Woodrow Wilson, President George McAneny of Manhattan, Bishop McFaul of Trenton, Dr. Jacobi, the well known expert on tuberculosis, and Mayor Imlay of Farmingdale were among the speakers. The meeting was presided over by Marcus L. Marks, the president of the association.

Governor Wilson said in part:

"The successful carrying out of this project in a sense typifies the attitude of modern society toward disease. We are no longer content to wait until the infection has produced serious results before we attempt a cure. We are acting on the old adage, 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.' In recent years the medical profession has awakened to the importance of prevention."

A telegram was read from President Taft in which he expressed his highest commendation of the work undertaken.

President McAneny spoke for the city of New York and promised the heartiest co-operation of the city in the furtherance of the plan to help the children. Dr. Jacobi told of the advance in the prevention of the disease, and emphasized that this was the only direction in which advance could be made, for no satisfactory cure had yet been found. Mayor Imlay of Farmingdale spoke on behalf of the citizens of the borough.

Before and after the exercises the crowd inspected the group of buildings. Ample provisions are made for the accommodation of over 500 children and there are now about 350 being taken care of. In the three years that the temporary quarters have been in use there has not been a single case of sickness from cold among the inmates, although they have slept outdoors when the thermometer has been 8 degrees and more below the zero mark.

THROWS HERSELF FROM ROOF

Newark, N. J., April 26.—Nettie Kershkowitz, thirteen years old, deliberately threw herself from the roof of a four story double apartment house in which she lives, and she is in the City hospital dying.

The girl stole upon the roof, climbed over the edge, hung by her hands and while people in the street were shouting to her she dropped. She landed on the stone stairway and fell to the basement, a distance of about sixty feet. Her parents claim they know of no reason for her act. The girl is said to have told a chum on the way home from school that she was going to throw herself off the roof.

Moore Out For Congress.

Trenton, N. J., April 26.—Former Assemblyman Edward T. Moore of Passaic city has come out as a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the new Seventh district, comprising Paterson and Passaic city and Acquackanonk township in Passaic county.

Wife Slayer Sentenced.

Hackensack, N. J., April 26.—In the court of common pleas here Judge Demarest sent Ezra Conklin, who brained his common law wife with an ax in the Ramapo mountains, to state prison for not less than three and a half years nor more than seven.

Seven Years For Kidnaping.

Freehold, N. J., April 26.—Dominico Dupont was sentenced here to spend not less than seven and a half years in prison for having kidnaped Francesca Baroni, thirteen years old.

Where Latin Is Still Spoken.

In the central part of the Balkans, far up in the mountains between Bulgaria, Servia and Turkey, there is a community of mountaineers among whom strangers seldom go. During the ascendancy of the Roman empire a Roman colony was founded here and then forgotten on account of its remoteness. For the reason that the descendants of those ancient colonists have never mixed with the people about them they retain their original characteristics, even to the language. In several villages the Latin that the peasants speak is so plain that students of classic authors can understand them.

MISSOURI REPUBLICANS IN STORMY CONVENTION

St. Louis, April 26.—With the State Republican convention in session here yesterday, the Roosevelt and Taft leaders were still jockeying for an advantage. The State central committee is torn by disagreements over the 118 cortests from Jackson and Buchanan counties.

These contests were turned over to a special sub-committee late Wednesday night and when the delegates took their seats in the hall at 10 o'clock yesterday the sub-committee had not yet reached a decision.

Roosevelt leaders freely predicted that if the State committee seats the Taft men all along the line, the Roosevelt faction will leave the convention in a body and hold a rump meeting.

WITNESSES SUMMONED FOR FITZHERBERT CASE

Trenton, April 26.—Subpoenas have been issued by the select committee of the Senate, appointed to investigate the alleged connection of Senator Richard Fitzherbert with the Morris Canal abandonment bill, to compel the attendance of Senator Fitzherbert and other witnesses at the inquiry to be conducted here next Monday morning.

The subpoenas were issued by Senator Gaunt as chairman of the committee through the attorney-general's office, which will conduct the investigation as counsel for the committee. This course was taken lest Senator Fitzherbert might fail to appear voluntarily.

MORE DELEGATE PETITIONS.

Trenton, April 26.—By a petition filed with the Secretary of State yesterday, Robert L. Edsall, of Hamburg, was nominated as a candidate for alternate to the Democratic national convention from the Sixth District. He is to run as an alternate to Melville J. Ford, of Bergen county. Each is regarded as an anti-Wilson man.

A petition was also filed nominating James J Quigley, of Trenton, as an independent delegate to the Baltimore convention from the Fourth District. He asked that his name be coupled with that of Frank Mobus, of Somerset. Quigley, who is a labor leader, announced some time ago that he would run as an anti-Wilson candidate. He is backed by State Committeeman Charles H. Gallagher, of this city.

LAUNCH MARCONNIER AS REFORMED CHURCH

Marconnier chapel, which has been under the supervision of Trinity Reformed church since 1900, was constituted an independent church last night by a committee from the Classis of Newark. Hereafter it will be known as Marconnier Reformed church. Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale pastor of the chapel, continues as pastor of the church. At the meeting last night forty-two persons were dismissed from Trinity Reformed church to unite with the new body, and elders and deacons were elected.

There was first a religious service, with Scripture reading by Rev. H. P. Craig, of this city, and prayer by Rev. Dr. W. H. DeHart, of this city, stated clerk of the General Synod.

Rev. Henry Merle Mellen, pastor of Christ Reformed church, Newark, preached the sermon. He urged the members of the new church to work together in harmony for the advancement of Christ's Kingdom.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, then took charge and directed the organization of the chapel into a church. Rolland H. Leveridge was chosen temporary clerk. Mr. Broek made a brief statement explaining the reason for the action, which was the result of a petition from the chapel to classis. He then presented forty-two letters of members of Trinity Reformed church, dismissing them to the new church. They were duly received and Mr. Broek officially declared the church constituted under the name of "Marconnier Reformed church." Rolland H. Leveridge and W. A. Neidlinger were elected elders and William E. VanCourt and William Randolph were chosen deacons. They will be ordained and installed in three weeks.

Rev. Mr. Broek made a brief address expressing the kind feeling and best wishes of Trinity Reformed church for the success of the new church, and there was a happy response by Gen. Samuel K. Schwenk, of New York, who assisted in establishing the chapel. He expressed the appreciation and thanks of the members to Trinity Reformed church and to the present pastor as well as Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor-emeritus, for their unfailing interest. This closed the service and Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale invited all to remain and enjoy the refreshments provided by the women of the church.

Marconnier was originally established as Marconnier Union Sunday-school in December, 1890, by Miss Helen Vail, who invited the children of the neighborhood to a meeting. In January, 1891, the place of meeting was changed to the home of Mrs. Samuel K. Schwenk at Holly Grove Farm. Later the school met at Oak Tree schoolhouse, the first meeting being held there April 12, 1891.

BOARD MUST ORDER NEW BORO SCHOOL ELECTION

Vote on Proposition For $18,000 Heating and Ventilating System Defective--Opinion is Given by the Attorney General.

North Plainfield's Board of Education has learned that the vote taken at the District school meeting on March 22 on the proposition to appropriate $18,000 for a heating and ventilating system was invalid. Hence another call will be issued and another meeting of the taxpayers held to decide the matter.

This information is contained in a communication to Dr. J. H. Cooley, president of the borough's Board of Education. The opinion is given by Attorney General Wilson and will be submitted to the board at a meeting on Monday night.

It is held by the Attorney General that the district school authorities made a fatal error in nor inserting in the general call for the meeting a clause regarding the vote to be had on the heating and ventilating proposition. It is also held that they erred in not specifying in the special call relating to the same proposition the exact amount to be spent on the suggested system. Moreover, it was held that a mistake was made when the ballots on this proposition were cast in a special box and not in the general box with the vote on the budget for current expenses.

At the meeting next week, the Board will order a new call to be issued. By the State School law, ten days must elapse before the meeting is held.

TRANSFER ORDERS FOR FEIRING'S ACCUSERS.

The concluding official chapter in the now famous Captain Feiring trial was reached this morning, when an order was issued from fire headquarters shifting the men in No. 1 and No. 2 houses. James Fitzpatrick and Paul Adams, two of the privates who signed charges against Captain Feiring, were taken from his supervision and placed at headquarters. Their places were filled by Wiliam Gaub and Vincent Carroll, who have been stationed at headquarters for a long time. The change taffes effect at once.

William Jaegar, the third man in the Feiring accusation trio, is located at No. 3 house, having been taken away from No. 1 house two months ago after a personal misunderstanding with the captain. The belief now exists that matters are so arranged in the department that the white winged dove of peace has settled down for a long stay in the storm zone.

BISHOP AND ARCHDEACON AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH

At the morning service at Holy Cross church at 11 o'clock tomorrow the special preacher will be the Rev. R. Bowden Shepherd, Archdeacon of the Diocese of New Jersey. The office of archdeacon is one which was but recently created in this diocese. The arch-deacon is known as a strong and forceful preacher, and the church invites the public to hear him.

At the evening service at 7:45 o'clock Bishop Scarborough will preach and confirm a class.

The arch-deacon was in early times the presiding deacon over a body of deacons, either in a city or a deanery or in a diocese. Later in the ninth century the arch-deacon was in priests' orders. He exercised a discipline over the deacons and presbyters under him in the bishop's behalf, being the bishop's business man, so to speak. At the present day the care of the smaller churches that are without rectors falls to the lot of the arch-deacon.

GREET PRESIDENT ON GOLF COURSE

GUEST AT A LUNCHEON

Former Mayors W. L. Saunders and Samuel Townsend Among Those Who Shake Hands With the Nation's Chief Executive.

President William H. Taft, accompanied by a number of personal friends, arrived in an automobile at the Baltusrol Golf Club at 10 o'clock this morning, and according to the arrangements engaged in playing over the golf course. The President's partner was A. B. Chandler of Orange, a classmate at Yale in the class of '78. Theid opponents were Thomas D. Webb, of Orange, and Col. George Harvey, of Harper's Magazine.

Following the play on the links, the President was entertained at luncheon at the clubhouse. Early this afternoon he left for Trenton where later in the day he will be entertained by the Taft Club and tonight he will be the guest of honor at the Union League Club in Philadelphia.

The President's appearance at Baltusrol attracted a large number of people, and among them were several Plainfielders who had the pleasure of shaking hands with Mr. Taft. Those from this city were Dr. William L. Saunders, Samuel Townsend, Augustus VanDeventer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Smith, William Palmer Smith and his daughter, Miss Smith.

During the President's stay at Baltusrol, a body-guard comprising representatives from the various police departments of Union county, which was on duty about the golf grounds. Patrolman Charles Flynn of the Plainfield department, was one of those selected for the guard. The police from the different departments were furnished at the request of Sheriff William H. Wright. In addition to the body-guard, President Taft was accompanied by his own Secret Service men.

BORO SCHOOL PUPILS CLEVER IN COMEDY

A most pleasant occasion was enjoyed by the friends of the North Plainfield High School last night at the Park Club when a selected cast under the direction of Paul A. Mertz, of the High School faculty, presented the second annual play, "Our Boys," very cleverly.

Lawrence French, who played the part of an ignorant, but wealthy, retired butterman, and William P. Taylor, who played the part of a foppish young Englishman, were a revelation to their friends in their portrayal of these types. Carroll Taylor made a decided hit in his part of the eccentric baronet. Misses Lucile Ewart and Anna Warnock made lovely English girls, and Miss Mildred McAuliffe an excellent genial maiden aunt. A most comical, but faithful portrayal of an English lodging-house servant was played by Miss Marguerite Woolston. The other members of the cast were George Townley, Ralph Smalley and DuClos VanMater, who deserve high dommendation for the excellence of their work.

After the play, flowers were presented to members of the cast, and Mr. Mertiz, the coach, was presented by W. P. Taylor in the name of the cast, with a handsome gold pin as a token of the cast's appreciation of his faithful services.

Upon the conclusion of the evening's program, the floor was cleared for dancing, which was enjoyed to the music of Paroubek's orchestra until a late hour. The proceeds are for the benefit of the High School athletic teams.

WOMAN RECLUSE FOUND SUFFOCATED AT ELIZABETH

Elizabeth, April 27.—An aged and eccentric recluse, known only as Mrs. Wentworth, was found dead in the house at 364 First avenue, owned by her, yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Lawlor, of the Second Precinct.

The woman kept her home barricaded and would allow no one to enter it, all food being delivered through a side window. Neighbors who knew of her eccentricities had missed her for several days, and notified the police. Lawlor broke into the house and found Mrs. Wentworth lying partially out of bed with her head in a pile of old clothing. It is believed that she was stricken by heart trouble while in bed, and in endeavoring to get up fell into the pile of clothing and was suffocated. Exposure and insufficient nourishment probably had something to do with her death.

It is known that no coal or other fuel had been taken into the house for years. The dead woman was considered quite wealthy. The property she occupied is worth several thousand dollars, and she has other property in Brooklyn. The body was taken to the morgue.

GIVES TEA IN HONOR OF MRS. T. R. VAN BOSKERCK

Mrs. Henry C. Irons gave a tea and reception at her home on West Eighth street, yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in honor of Mrs. Thomas R. Van Boskerck. The affair was attended by about 200 people. The house was attractively decorated by Stanley, the florist, tulips, jonquils, roses and sweet peas being used effectively throughout the reception room, parlors and dining-room.

Mrs. Henry C. Irons and Mrs. Thomas R. Van Boskerck received the guests. Mrs. Arthur L. Otterson and Mrs. Jabez Gilbert poured in the dining-room, and they were assisted by Mrs. E. M. Van Buren, Mrs. H. R. Stockton, Mrs. Joseph O. McKelvey and Miss Martin and Miss Elsie Martin.

During the hours of the reception a popular program of music was rendered by Messrs. Van Epps and Joseph Denny, banjo and piano.

SETTLED FIRE LOSS.

The loss by fire on the property of Mrs. Amelia Cobb on West Third street, Tuesday night, was settled within twenty-four hours after the fire by Elston M. French, the agent who carried the insurance.

WORKMEN BRING BURIED GREENBACKS TO LIGHT

Martine Farm Said to Have Yielded Lucky Street Excavators $1,000 in Old But Perfectly Good Bills.

Workmen in the employ of Mobus & Burke, the contractors engaged in cutting a street through the Martine Cedar Brook farm property, yesterday unearthed enough buried treasure in the form of bona-fide U. S. treasury notes to give rise to the rumor that untold wealth lay just beneath the surface of the historic soil. Conflicting stories make it impossible to determine the exact amount of money brought to light but a conservative estimate places it at $1,000. Just who got it is another matter for conjecture as the finders became mum as oysters when they realized the money was good and that someone might take it from them. It is known definitely, however, that William Meyers, colored, of West Fourth street, and Pasquale Delato, an East End Italian, were among the lucky ones.

The facts of the case as nearly as can be ascertained by Joseph Burke, junior member of the firm, are these: The laborers were at work near the Watchung avenue side of the property when Meyers brought up an old tin can wrapped in several layers of paper, crumbling to pieces. He knocked it to one side and it fell apart, revealing a large roll of bills. They were badly soiled and discolored and of an issue not familiar today, leading Meyers to believe they were worthless Confederate money. He has had experience with the latter, being a recent newcomer from the South.

He pulled off several of the bills, of small denomination, giving them to the Italians who gathered about him with covetous eyes. One of the latter afterward showed a $2 note of the issue of 1880 to Frank Burke, brother of the contractor, asking if it was good. He was told it was, but to make certain, Burke took it to the First National Bank. It was readily exchanged for new money.

There was one other Italian who had a $2 bill and two who each had a $1 bill. When it became known they were good, there was a rush for more. Meyers, however, denied having the roll, declaring one of the "wops" had gotton hold of it. He acknowledged handing over one bill, later admitting he had given away others. Beyond that he disclaimed having seen any more of the treasure, yet insisting at another time that Dilato was the lucky finder of the roll. This was branded by the Italian as a lie.

Mr. Burke located the newspaper the roll had been wrapped in, the print being legible enough to show it was a New York Herald, dated May 8, 1885. From the appearance of the bills held by the Italians, it was apparent that they had been in the ground since that date. How they came to be there is a mystery. One explanation ventured today is that it was buried there twenty-five years ago by a couple of youthful burglars who robbed a Prospect avenue house. They said that they buried part of the "swag" on the Martine tract but could never tell just where.

Meyers failed to show up on the job, this morning, and when found later said his wife had run off with another man, last night, and he was looking for her to get back his child, who had been taken along. This leads to the belief that perhaps Meyers did find the money and the wife, saw a chance to kill two birds with one stone, getting the treasure and an affinity at the same time.

Miss Honsinger is also an accomplished singer and gave two very acceptable solos. She was accompanied by Miss Edith Mager.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Corbett, of Westfield, the district secretary, and Rev. C. C. Caine offered the opening prayer. Delegations were present from Elizabeth, Westfield, Rahway, Dunellen and other places.

YOUNG THIEF GETS AWAY SECOND TIME

Coffee, Who Escaped From Detective Sergeant, Slips out of Station House.

The police are looking for Edward Coffee, 17 years old, who, as told yesterday, joined with 16-year-old Raymond Wilson in a series of petty robberies of stores during February, March and the presnt month. Coffee escaped from the police station last night.

It was his second escape since his arrest, with Wilson, the day before. After confessing his guilt Thursday, Coffee offered to go with Detective Sergeant Flynn and recover a stolen watch. The detective and his prisoner on their way after the watch passed the tire repair shop on Watchung avenue where the boy worked, and Coffee asked suddenly for permission to go in and change his working clothes for a suit he had in the shop closet. Flynn good-naturedly assented. Coffee scrambled through a rear window and disappeared. He turned up at his home that night, and his father brought him back to the station house.

A window also figured in his escape from the station house. Coffee asked Captain Frederickson, who was alone on the first floor of the station house, last night, for permission to leave his cell and wash. He got the permission and slipped away through a convenient window, in the wash room.

Wilson was arraigned without his companion in the City Court today and Judge William G. DeMeza held him in $300 bail for the Grand Jury.

ZVOLENCK FARM SITE CONDEMNED BY BOARD

The State Board of Health has refused to consider North Plainfield's application for permission to locate sewage disposal works on the Zvolneck farm in North Plainfield township. The only site left for the borough as the situation rests is the Kramer farm, and it is said that the State Board of Health is not favorably inclined to that.

The borough picked the Zvolneck farm originally as a site for the sewage works, but after considerable opposition in which the residents of Bound Brook played an important part, going so far as to open a new road in an effort to defeat the plans, the borough turned to the Kramer farm. There was an attempt to get Plainfield to join with the borough in building a sewage plant there.

Following several conferences between the representatives of the city and borough, the city finally decided to drop the proposition and it was soon afterward announced that efforts would be made to put the city plant on the Darling farm in Piscataway township, which plan is now underway. Plainfield has been somewhat encouraged in its efforts to remove its sewage beds to Piscataway, the State Board of Health requesting the city to first obtain the consent of the township committee which it is now trying to do.

DEDICATE NEW ORGAN.

The new organ presented to the Netherwood Reformed church by the Dutch Arms, will be dedicated at the service tomorrow night. The organ will be presented to the church by Oscar P. The morning theme of the pastor will be "The Thinking Christian."

He will visit Grace church at 11 o'clock in the morning, the Church of the Heavenly Rest at 4 o'clock and Holy Cross church in the evening. It is understood that there are large confirmation classes at the three churches.

WORK PROCEEDS SLOWLY.

Owing to the small gang of men employed on the job, the work of laying new trolley tracks on West Fourth street, proceeds slowly. New tracks have been laid between Watchung and Park avenues, and it has required a week and a half to accomplish that much.

BOROUGH COURT.

Frank Dealman and Lewis Davis, colored, were fined $1 apiece by Recorder Gano in the borough police court today for riding bicycles on the sidewalks.

From June 7, 1891, to October 11, of that year, meetings were held at the residence of Mrs. Schwenk. On October 11, 1891, meetings were held in the women's waiting room of the railroad station at Marconnier, and were continued until Easter Sunday, April 2, 1893, when the meetings were resumed at Mrs. Schwenk's home. On July 21, 1895, "The Marconnier Union chapel" was dedicated.

On February 4, 1900, a committee comprising H. J. Martin, F. E. Smith and A. L. Force, from the Consistory of Trinity Reformed church, visited the chapel and recommended its adoption. On February 11, 1900 Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church; F. E Smith, G. L. VanEmburgh, A. L. Force and Horace J. Martin formally announced the acceptance of the chapel to be known as "Marconnier chapel," of Trinity Reformed church. March 25, 1900, the first communion was held at the chapel.

STUDEBAKER E-M-F "30" TOURING CAR $1100.

What Will Your Car Cost You —After You Buy It?

Did you ever think of that?
Service is a big item in modern automobile buying.

WHAT KIND OF A GUARANTEE HAVE YOU GOT?

Some manufacturers guarantee "for life." That's like a health insurance which expires when you're sick. It sounds pretty and is worth nothing.

The Studebaker guarantee is full and complete. It stands for a year. You can understand that; you can bank on it. Remember, too, that a year covers the hardest part of a car's life. By the second year you know how to treat it. And with a Studebaker car its life is practically a matter of the care you give it. Take care of it and no limit can be named to its endurance.

WHAT WILL PARTS COST YOU?

We mention this gently because with many of our competitors it is a tender point. Their theory too often is, HOLD UP THE OWNER. So it is common knowledge that it costs three or four times as much to buy most cars part by part as it would to buy them assembled. But every Studebaker part is listed at its proportionate cost in a complete car plus but a small percentage for handling.

Studebaker Parts Price Lists are the most complete and convenient on the market and, so our dealers tell us, the most convincing argument we can give them. Our Parts Price Lists convince the prospective owner. A Studebaker buyer is assured of continual fair dealing. Go to our dealer and investigate.

FINALLY, HOW QUICKLY CAN YOU GET NEW PARTS?

Suppose they had to come a few hundreds or thousands of miles whil eyour car lay idle. You, of course, would have to wait. Not so with Studebaker cars. In almost every State in the Union there are Studebaker branch houses, with full parts supplies. Thirty-six branches in all—one day at the most to get any part you need.

That name STUDEBAKER tells the whole story. It stands for square dealing. Rely on it. Your father did; so can you. And send for our cotalogue.

PLAINFIED, NEW JERSEY, APRIL 27, 1912.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Alexander Gilbert, formerly president of the New York Chamber of Commerce, a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, president of the Fulton and Market Bank, of New York, and former mayor of Plainfield, is the contributing editor today.

A NEGLECTED OPPORTUNITY.

Nearly eighteen years ago while Mayor of the City I sent the following communication to the Common Council:

"Plainfield, July 2, 1894.

"To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Plainfield.

"Gentlemen:

"In order that there may be no unnecessary delay in making a contract for the construction of a sewerage system it is highly important that the location of filtration beds should be decided upon at the earliest possible moment. This is important not only to Plainfield but to the Borough as well, and it seems to me that it will be unwise to select a location without giving consideration to the future needs of North Plainfield.

"The probability that at no very distant time the two municipalities will be merged into one is so great, that in building a sewerage system for ourselves we should look upon the Borough as a district into which sooner or later the system will have to be extended. If consolidation should never take place North Plainfield in self defence will be compelled to introduce sewers at an early day. How important it is that the two systems should be so related to each other that the sewage from both places can be carried to the same filtration beds. Looked at from a sanitary standpoint the interests of the two are identical and it will be a great oversight to act in this matter without making an effort to secure the co-operation of North Plainfield. Failure to co-operate will eventually mean two filtration beds, one on each side of the brook, which should be avoided if possible.

"In view of the importance of this matter I suggest that a committee be appointed to confer with the authorities of North Plainfield relative to it.

"A. GILBERT."

When I wrote that communication I was impressed with the thought that in order to avoid the contamination of our water supply through the long continued use of cesspools it was essential not only that Plainfield should introduce a sewer system but that North Plainfield should do the same; that what would threaten the health of one community would likewise threaten the health of the other. It also seemed to me that joint action in the selection of a site, and the construction of a trunk line and filtration beds would be wise and in the interest of economy, and would serve as a tie to bind the two communities more closely together. If that reasoning was sound then, it is just as much so today, and the circumstances which called for joint action then are more urgent today. The borough is still without a sewerage system and her cesspools are still a menace to our water supply, while Plainfield is under pressure to make important and expensive changes in its system to satisfy the demands of the State Board of Health. Moreover the city sewerage plant has outgrown its present location—that part of the city has increased rapidly in population, real estate improvements, and values, while Dunellen improvements have pushed right up to the westerly border line of our sewer beds, resulting in constantly increasing opposition to the continued use of that location for sewerage purposes.

It is to be regretted that the city and borough—as a result of the recent conferences—did not reach an agreement to co-operate in the construction of a trunk line sewer to either the Zvolneck or Kramer farms for the disposal of the sewage of the two communities.

North Plainfield without any sewerage system has been making preparation to construct one for the past three years and only awaits the approval of the State Board of Health to its plans to begin operations.

Plainfield confronted with conditions which require the expenditure of about $180,000, to put its sewer beds in a sanitary condition has submitted plans to the State Board of Health for approval. If it is necessary to expend so large an amount to continue the plant in its present location then surely the Council should seriously consider its removal to another site, for nothing would justify so large an expenditure on the old plant except inability to secure another location. The borough has selected the Zvolneck farm as its proposed site, and only awaits the approval of the State Board of Health. Why could not Plainfield have selected the same site jointly with the borough? The two communities acting together in all probability would have quickly secured the approval of the State Board of Health; acting singly there is less probability of either getting it. Joint action would prove advantageous to Plainfield. The removal of the present plant to another location, the redemption and sale of the present site, its improvement for residential or industrial purposes and consequent increase of our ratables would in time nearly if not entirely pay the cost of removal to a new site and construction of a new plant. It would also reduce the yearly maintenance charges and render unnecessary the proposed large expenditure on the old plant.

The opportunity for joint action was squarely before us; it should not have been brushed aside with the frivolous suggestion, that "the tail is trying to wag the dog." Plainfield cares but little whether the tail wags the dog, or the dog wags the tail so long as its interests are properly subserved.

Opportunity for joint action was an opportunity to promote the interests of both Plainfield and the borough and should not have been permitted to pass by without a sincere effort to improve it. The time cannot be very far distant when consolidation will become an accomplished fact. When that happens it will be unfortunate to have two separate sewer systems with increased cost of maintenance to provide for.

Looked at from the standpoint of an impartial observer it would seem that the only thing that prevented an agreement during the recent conferences was the questionable attitude of our own Council in the matter. The time and opportunity were both favorable. Plans, specifications and terms of agreement had been formulated and considered, which if handled with business sagacity could easily have been made a basis of joint action. Several conferences were held by the two Councils only to result in a wider drifting apart. What is the explanation of it all? I may be wrong, but to me it looks as if our Council did not wish to co-operate with North Plainfield on any fair basis of procedure. At the first conference, the painful impression was created that the Plainfield councilmen had studiously arranged to sit silently in their seats and let the other side do all the talking and so successfully did they carry out this program that they overlooked the common courtesies that should have characterized such a meeting. Plainfield had invited the Council of North Plainfield to the conference; there should have been a kindly welcome, an informal manifestation at least of a desire to co-operate if possible. On the contrary the meeting was one of marked frigidity and long continued silence on the part of the Plainfield members which seemed to indicate complete lack of interest in the object of the conference. It is true that other conferences were held, and a few preliminary steps taken, but from the time of the first conference until the announcement that Plainfield had selected the Darling site it cannot be said that the Plainfield representatives made the least effort to further co-operation. In fact during the interval they were working quietly in other directions and on other plans, of which fact they kept the borough in ignorance until the announcement of the selection of the Darling site. In business parlance such a procedure would not be regarded as fair and honorable dealing. Why was not the Darling site suggested to the borough representatives as a better and less expensive site? Why was the knowledge of the selection of this site withheld from the borough until its announcement at a Council meeting at which it was also announced that the borough plans were rejected? It may be that the Darling site is more suitable and less expensive than either the Kramer or Zvolneck farm would be. This will only appear after investigation by a competent engineer. It may be that the State Board of Health will approve of the Darling site which at the present time does not appear probable—but it will still be in order to ask.

Why did not our Council earnestly try to agree with the borough upon a site and plans fair and acceptable to both communities? There were no serious obstacles that could not easily have been overcome. It seemingly avoided the possibility of agreement. It overlooked the fact, or deemed it of no importance that the inhabitants of the city and borough are one community jointly interested in all matters which affect seriously the interests of either.

The conclusion of the whole matter is this: Time is being spent, money is being wasted, nothing is being accomplished. The borough is seeking permission to go to the Zvolneck farm; the city to the Darling site. While the State Board of Health would probably be glad to approve joint action, it will be loth to approve of two separate systems so near together on opposite sides of the brook. The result will be for the borough, longer delay and uncertainty, for Plainfield the compulsory expenditures of nearly $200,000 for the privilege of keeping its present objectionable plant in its present location for an indefinite length of time. How much better it would be for both communities to lay aside all sectional feeling and work together harmoniously for the accomplishment of this very important public improvement.

TAFT TO SPEAK AT THE HIBBEN INAUGURATION

Princeton, N. J., April 27.—President Taft and Chief Justice White have accepted invitations to attend the inauguration of Professor John G. Hibben as president of Princeton university on May 11. The ceremony will take place in front of Nassau hall at 11 o'clock. At a luncheon in the gymnasium, at 1 o'clock, the president, Chief Justice White, President Lowell of Harvard, President Hadley of Yale, President Butler of Columbia, and Dr. Francis Landey Patton, president of the Princeton Theological seminary, will speak. Governor Wilson was unable to accept an invitation to speak on this occasion.

The inaugural exercises will be opened with two musical selections, a prelude from Mendelssohn's march from "Athalia," and a chorale, "Veni Creator Spiritus," by Palestrina. Following a prayer by Dr. Henry van Dyke, professor of English literature, the oath of office will be administered to the new president by Associate Justice Mahlon Pitney of the United States supreme court. John Aikman Stewart, senior trustee and ex-president pro tempore of the university, will hand the charter and keys to President Hibben, who will then deliver his inaugural address. Then the One Hundredth Psalm will be sung and the benediction will be pronounced by Bishop Lines of Newark.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire will speak at the W. C. T. U. rooms tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The vesper service at the Congregational church, tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, will be in the nature of a song service, the subject being "Christ in the New Hymns."

A. E. Betteridge, who has been the bass soloist at the Crescent Avenue church, and who expected to leave here May 1, has decided to remain. William G. Ward was engaged to succeed Mr. Betteridge, but he will retain his present position in New York.

PREVENTION AND CURE OF TUBERCULOSIS.

BY

Clara De H. Krans.

Plainfield is working a great effort to solve the problem of what to do with the patients with tuberculosis who will not or can not go to an institution and the many who have been to institutions and had the disease arrested but relapsed because not enough provision had been made for the oversight of them after their return, sometimes to their former conditions of over-work, insufficient food and fresh air.

Many women will not break up their homes because their children cannot be disposed of to their satisfaction or they fear for the compact or habits of their husbands. Men often will not give up their work that provides for keeping the family together and children whose parents are not willing to have them leave home, form a group of special cases taken care of by the Anti-tuberculosis League.

A nurse goes about from home to home of the afflicted ones, doing what she can to instruct, care for and cheer them. With her knowledge an infinite patience and appreciation of the needs of the individual case, she is able to help them care for their health and hasten the arrest of the disease.

A committee has been formed with Mrs. Sherman B. Jeast as chairman, in charge of the work of a so-called "class" which combines the function of a class and a dispensary and a group of "visitors" to the homes assisting the physicians and nurse. Strange to say in this enlightened day, it is extremely difficult to secure an adequate number of "visitors" because of the groundless fear of contagious in spite of the fact that it was shown long ago by the results of batheriological examination that there are not as many of the germs causing tuberculosis to be found on the walls and in the sweepings from floors in institutions for tuberculous patients as in other public buildings, cars, etc.

In the former, patients are instructed to expectorate only in receptacles provided for the purpose and these are burned. As much can be said of the homes of the tuberculous patients cared for by the visiting nurse and especially of those in whom the "visitors" are asked to interest themselves.

In addition to the nurse and "visitors," there is a "class" held each Friday at half-past three o'clock in the rooms of the Anti-Tuberculosis League in the Babcock Building. Patients may go merely for diagnosis, advice and treatment from a physician who is always present or they may go as class members to take advantage of the social features. Last month there was an attendance of sixty-eight and the class supplies a much felt need in anti-tuberculosis work. Those interested are earnestly invited to visit it and witness the quiet going and coming of the members to the physician in one room, while those waiting get their light refreshment and join in games. Its social features offer an inducement to attend that is an essential element in the prolonged and monotonous period of absenation which the treatment of a consumptive necessitates.

In co-operation with the organized aid and the nurse, it sends patients to institutions, directs home treatment and keeps a watch on old cases.

When a "visitor" asked the nurse what she did in the homes she answered, "If I had time, I should do whatever seemed to be the thing needed when I arrived. I do not always talk about tuberculosis. Sometimes I help a mother with some sewing that bothers her; sometimes I show her a better way to cook something which she is preparing when I arrive, etc., etc."

One of the visitors is teaching two children who are not able to attend school. Holding out to a man the hope of future employment means a great deal and there is no end to the ways and means one chooses to help and cheer those in whom an interest is felt. Perhaps no one who has not had some dark days can appreciate fully what a help it is to see somebody and have even a little chat about something outside her own thoughts.

The discouraging part of the work is the difficulty to obtain money to supply even the few things which insure improvement such as milk, food and codliver oil.

Contributions of games and puzzles are desired and should be sent to Mrs. Joost at the Babcock building, who is most anxious to have volunteers to visit in the homes.

AUTO MORE FRACTIOUS THAN BROWN'S HORSES

Perth Amboy, April 27.—After driving horses nearly sixty years, Constable John C. Brown recently disposed of his last steed and purchased an automobile. The machine, under Brown's guidance, ran wild yesterday and temporarily ended its usefulness by battering itself against a telephone pole on Smith street. It was the second day that Brown attempted to run the car himself, and he made the mistake of startihg at high speed and attempting to turn around at the same time. Although badly jarred, Brown was not seriously hurt.

Brown explained to other court attendants that when he had papers to serve at Old Bridge, Cranbury and Jamesburg his horse was too slow and he really needed an automobile. He will have to walk until a new axle is secured for his car and the water tank, which was smashed in the accident, is repaired.

LOVING CUP FOR AGED HEAD OF DREW SEMINARY

Madison, April 27.—Announcement that the institution to which he has already given forty-five years as instructor and administrator will also receive what remains of his life was made by Rev. Dr. Henry Abson Buttz. He has been elcted president emeritus of Drew Theological Seminary, and continued as professor of New Testament, Greek and exegesis after thirty-two years as president. Dr. Buttz officiated for probably the last time yesterday at the forty-fifth annual commencement of the seminary. He was given a loving cup by the students.

The occasion was made memorable by the graduation of the largest class in the history of the school. Diplomas were awarded fifty-nine students. Upon all but fourteen of these the degree of bachelor of divinity was conferred.

—"Why do you keep sneering at the suffragettes? Don't you want your wife to vote?" "Yes," replied Mr. Growcher, "but if I let her find it out she won't do it."—Washington Star.

Paint that Stays Painted

That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Today is the day.

The Oval is the place.

3:30 is the time.

You know the rest.

Also today—The City High meets Upsala, Leal's goes to Morristown, and the borough team goes after Roselle H. S. at Hyde Field.

Spitball twirlers are very much in demand, every manager keeping his eyes peeled for one who can throw the moist missel.

The baseball team of Chinese players from the college of Hawaii are making their American Rah! Rah! brothers work for everything that they get.

The hospital list of the big league players continues to grow.

Four members of the St. John's College faculty have resigned giving as their reason that athletics and military exercises have infringed on scholastic work.

But please remember that the Phillies have only about four of their first string men in the game.

It has been said that outside of being a first-class pitcher, an A1 fielder, a large-sized clouter, and a shifty baserunner, Jack Coombs doesn't amount to much as a ball player.

It is queer that such a one should be missed.

Princeton lost her first ball game Thursday to Penn. State by a score of 4 to 1.

A baseball league has been formed among the prisoners at Fort Leavenworth penitentiary.

The umpire will probably come in from the outside. It would not be fair to place the extra punishment upon any inmate.

The Giants have now made it six in a row.

Ty Cobb has started, got his first home run Thursday against St. Louis.

Stamford University plans to send her victorious crew to Poughkeepsie to participate in the intercollegeate regatta on June 20.

This crew recently defeated the University of California and Washington crews on the Pacific Coast.

May 4 will find the Country Club open for golf.

M'FARLAND BEATS WELLS.

British Lightweight Champion Takes Grueling Beating In New York.

New York, April 27.—Packy McFarland of Chicago conquered Matt Wells, the British lightweight title holder, in a rather one sided ten round bout in Madison Square Garden. McFarland's wonderful skill in attack and defense completely bewildered the Briton, who seemed unable to land with effect. Wells received a grueling beating and took it like a man.

Wells never stopped trying to land a wild wallop, but Packy either ducked or blocked these blows in a way that made the holder of Lord Lonsdale's belt look like an amateur.

EVERYBODY SATISFIED.

Washington, April 27 (Special).—Everything in both wings of the Capitol appears to be well satisfied with President Taft's speech at Boston, the progressive Republicans feeling that Taft has been smoked out, the administration Republicans believing that presentation of the President's side of the controversy will benefit his cause, and the Democrats asserting that it is all grist for the Democratic mill.

RECIPROCITY RECEIVES JOLT FROM PHILADELPHIA

New Jersey autoists have a new cause for worry anent reciprocity. This time the trouble comes from Philadelphia, in which city it is announced that there is to be no reciprocity for Jerseymen on dealers' licenses. This means a big drawback for Camden dealers, who do a large business in Philadelphia, and it also prompts Jerseymen to ask "What is real auto reciprocity?" This State was long subjected to criticism for its failure to grant reciprocity, but finally, when it does let the bars down to everything and everybody in the motor car line, it finds that it hasn't reciprocity for all chauffeurs in New York and for none of its dealers in Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia ban on dealers was placed yesterday through the order of Police Lieutenant Mills, of the traffic squad of that city, and Jerseymen who try to drive in Philadelphia with dealers' license tags from this State, will meet with opposition. Lieutenant Mills instructed his men to arrest all persons operating cars on the streets of Philadelphia carrying New Jersey dealers' licenses. He said that non-resident motorists with Jersey licenses are exempt in Pennsylvania for ten days but that there is no provision made in the law for the car with the dealers' license.

PENN. UNIVERSITY HOLDS BIG RELAY GAME TODAY

One of the most remarkable sets of atheletic games in the history of the sport will command attention this afternoon at Franklin Field, Philadelphia in the yearly relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania. Athletes from most of the leading universities and colleges East and West will be on hand, to say nothing of hundreds of schoolboys. Even Canada will be represented. When it is considered that more than fifteen hundred runners, jumpers, hurdlers and weight men will swarm over the track and field some idea may be gained of the undertaking and the sport to be furnished.

There are no fewer than forty-seven events on the program, of which thirty-nine are relay races, as follows: Seven for grammar schools, eight for high schools, seven for preparatory schools and academies, seven for colleges and ten for school and college championships. Eight special events also are on the card, including a hurdle race, a 100-yard dash, a pole vault and the various weights and jumps.

The carnival this year will have added importance because it will furnish a line on some of the college men for the Olympic games in Sweden next July. With the exception of John Paul Jones and Tel Berna, the Cornel fliers, most of the undergraduates who have a chance of making the team will be seen in action.

DETROITER AT HEAD OF BIG AUTOMOBILE PARADE

The largest automobile parade ever given will be that one put on under the auspices of the Wolverine Automobile Club of Detroit, next July during the Cadillaqua celebration. The city of Detroit will then be holding her first great birthday party, celebrating the founding of the city in 1701 by Cadillac

There will be $25,000,000 worth of motor cars in the big Detroit parade, led by the latest creation of the automobile capital—the Detroiter made by the Briggs-Detroiter Co. composed of Claude S. Briggs, Emil Moessner and John A. Boyle. They were formerly prominent cogs in the U. S. Motors Co.

It is only natural that Detroit should hold the biggest automobile parade ever staged, since 60 per cent. of the American cars are made in Detroit. And the Detroit manufacturers are all signifying their intention of putting vast numbers of their cars into the parade to help along the big work.

It is estimated that at least 10,000 cars will be in the great industrial pageant. Motor clubs from every direction are planning on touring to Detroit to help the city celebrate her birthday. The committe of Wolverine Automobile Club men has already received assurance that at least 1,000 cars from other cities will be driven to Detroit for the big summer carnival.

The honor of leading the greatest automobile parade in history was given the Detroiter for several reasons. One was that the car is named after the automobile city. Another was that it is the latest model produced and another was that its makers offered a car to the Cadillaqua committee to be given as a prize to the person getting the most memberships in Cadillaqua, the citizens of Detroit being solicited to take memberships in the association giving the big water fete.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS HAVE A SHORT-LIVED LEAGUE

The recently formed Grammar School League which included teams from the schools of Cranford, Westfield, the borough and this city, has struck a snag early in its history. Yesterday afternoon it was learned that Cranford had failed to find nine boys that were willing to put up an argument, which dealt a death blow to the combination. The other three teams were anxious to continue, but could not find a team to take Cranford's place.

It is now the intention of those at the head of the league to play out all the dates possible and add independent games on other dates. The Stillman School team has taken a new lease of life, has secured a coach who will devote some time to the team, and are in hopes of putting up a good article of ball in all future games.

WHERE LOCAL FAN CAN GO TO SEE A GAME TODAY

If the weather man is good today the fans here in Plainfield will find plenty to keep them busy in the baseball line. Dorflinger's "Pets" are cracking things open with the McKeesport team, of the Ohio-Penn. League at the Oval, a game worth going to. The City High School aggregation, which by the way are not half bad, are meeting their old rivals, Upsala College, on Parker Field. Then Netherwood offers her share of amusement in the game between the A. C. team and the Temple Tossers

Across the brook Roselle H. S. is under contract to keep the Borough High School lads on the go and should put up an interesting argument. Leal's school is playing away from home today, going out on the Lakawanna to Morristown, where they cross bats with the school team there.

It's up to you. Take your pick.

N. Y. POSTOFFICE.

Washington, April 27 (Special).—Senator Martine is one of three Senators having in charge the matter of settling the matter of new postoffice facilities for New York City. The hearings on the subject had been practically finished, but there was a demand from civic bodies in New York that they be heard, and the hearings will therefore be continued. The matter will probably come before this sub-committee some time next week.

—When a man gets the reputation of being well posted he is apt to feel stuck up.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Once in a century only is it possible to produce such a work as Dante's "Inferno" in moving pictures. It has cost hundreds of thousands of dollars and the co-operation of famous artists and more than two years of time to accomplish this result. The five reels, showing fully one hundred scenes and making more than a two hours' entertainment, will be shown at the Plainfield theatre, Monday and Tuesday, with special music and explanatory lecture. The educational and literary value of the reels has been specially commended wherever shown, both in this country and in all European countries.

Many theatre-goers will recall the great success made here a few years ago by a musical comedy called "Comin' Through the Rye." Just why, no one could say. Little was known about it, yet a desire to see it seemed to become contagious. It impressed people as being good, and the performance lived up to expectations. Packed houses were the rule throughout. On return dates every ticket was sold in a few hours. That was several years ago. The theory of cycles in things theatrical as well as in the history of nations, seems to be borne out by the success of a new candidate for box office honors bearing the unique title of "The Newlyweds and Their Baby." Its history parallels that of "Comin' Through the Rye." Originally produced in New York, it ran for several months. It was taken on the road and drew packed houses right from the start. People turned away almost nightly. Exactly the case with "The Newlyweds." In a comparatively short time, it has made a fortune—that is, a theatrical fortune for its owners It's a big company; over 60 people. "The Newlyweds" and their wonderful baby will be seen at the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and evening.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

The roof of the Century theatre in New York is being remodelled into a separate playhouse to be known as The Children's Theatre. It will be opened in October and will be the first exclusively children's theatre in the United States.

Next season's attraction at the Century theatre, New York, will be "The Daughter of Heaven," a Chinese play by Pierre Loti and Judith Gautier, a granddaughter of Theophile Gautier. The Liebler Co. has sent Heywood Broun, a representative, to China to get local color for the production.

Edwin Milton Royle's latest play "The Unwritten Law," has just been successfully launched by the Liebler Co. Royle places it at the head of his output—and he is the author of "The Squawman."

"The Garden of Allah," which opened at the Century Theatre, New York, seven months ago, will be continued at that mammoth playhouse until the early part of June. It has already broken all known attendance and box office records.

"Oliver Twist," in its big-cast revival, has proven such a success in New York that the Liebler Co. has decided to tour the country with the famous organization intact. The company includes Nat C. Goodwin as Fagin, Marie Doro as Oliver, Constance Collier as Nancy and Lyn Harding as Bill Sikes.

The S. R. O. (Standing Room Only) signs will again play an important part at the Fifth Avenue theatre next week and the co-operation of the Police Department will be necessary to handle the crowds when the vivacious, effervescent, scintillating Eva Tanguay makes her farewell appearance. It is the earnest desire of the management that all reservations should be made as early as possible, in order to guarantee seats and at the same time to avoid a repetition of the past week, when hundreds were turned away, unable to gain admission. As usual, Miss Tanguay will give new and brilliant surprises in songs and whirlwind mirth, and will wear some stunning Parisian effect costumes especially designed for this grand event.

Mrs. Gene Hughes and a carefully selected company will offer the season's comedy success "Youth," by Edgar Allan Woolf, one of the most delightful conceptions ever offered in vaudeville.

30 YRS. ORGANIST AT LOCAL CHURCH

EULOGIZED BY PASTOR

"Service and Sacrifice" Theme of the Pastor, Rev. John Y. Broek—Edifice Thronged by Congregation to Hear Elaborate Musical Program.

In recognition of the thirty years of continuous service of Arthur L. Titsworth as organist of Trinity Reformed church, a special musical service was held at the church last night. The edifice was thronged with worshippers and all thoroughly enjoyed the fine program arranged for the occasion.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, the pastor, gave a short sermon, basing his remarks on the theme, "Service and Sacrifice." He said that the occasion was a remarkable one, for while some churches change their organist every year, both Trinity church and its organist were to be congratulated upon their long and harmonious relation. Mr. Broek said that Mr. Titsworth became organist of the church when the membership was less than 100 and had remained long enough to see the membership grow to nearly 900, and that of the Bible School to about 1,100. He recited the various experiences of Mr. Titsworth, beginning with a small organ, which was later enlarged, only to be partially destroyed by fire a few years later. The organ was then rebuilt, and remained in the service for years. Finally it was necessary to dismiss the organ, Mr. Titsworth having gotten all of the music possible out of the instrument.

Then through the generosity of Elder A. L. Force and his daughter, Miss Lillian A. Force, the church came into possession of the present fine new organ, given as a memorial. Mr. Broek referred to the faithful and loving service of the organist and expressed the hope that he would continue to serve as organist for many years to come.

The program as published on Saturday was followed. The quartet comprised Miss Etta Raybert, soprano; Mrs. Charles Tazewell Hutcheson, contralto; Edmund D. Young, tenor, and Charles P. Titsworth, baritone. There was a solo number by Miss Raybert, while Mrs. Hutcheson and Mr. Titsworth sang a duet. A feature of the service was the rendition by Mr. Titsworth of a selection, "Canzonette," composed by William Ashmall, of Newark, and dedicated to Mr. Titsworth.

ONLY WOMAN SURVIVOR TELLS OF LA BURGOGNE

Mrs. Victoire Lacasse Recalls the Sinking of French Liner, a Tragedy of the Seas Nearly Fourteen Years Ago--Husband Rescuer.

The recent terrible catastrophe which befell the White Star liner Titanic, brought to the minds of many Plainfielders the sinking of the La Burgogne on July 4, 1898, when the only woman saved of the 584 passengers was Mrs. Victoire Lacasse, who prior to that trip had been making her home in Plainfield with her husband, Adrien Lacasse, a young French teacher.

Mrs. Lacasse now lives at No. 111 West Eighty-second street, New York. The New York Herald yesterday published an interesting story of the accident to the La Burgogne, in which Mrs. Lacasse recalls that tragedy of the sea in which she played such an important part. Speaking of the Titanic disaster, Mrs. Lacasse in an interview said that she had only read the headlines, the rest she could picture vividly in her own mind.

Mrs. Lacasse remarked that it seemed a mistake to her that only women and children should be saved first. How much better it would be to save entire families than to leave so many widows and children. I know that I should have preferred going down with my husband to being saved without him.

Mrs. Lacasse in telling her story for The New York Herald, said among other things:

"We boarded La Burgogne on Saturday, July 2, from New York. The steamer was bound for Havre. My husband, who, I may mention, had served ten years in the French navy, wanted to spend the summer months with his parents. The first night at dinner some of our friends spoke about me, saying, 'Mrs. Lacasse is not a good sailor. Wait until we get into the fog banks and then it will be all off.' My husband rebuked them for saying this, saying, 'She is nervous enough without this.' As it turned out, it was very fortunate that they did so.

"At 1 o'clock on Monday morning I awakened my husband, telling him that I heard a foghorn. He laughed and tried to comfort me by saying that we had a good boat and that Captain Deloncle was a good captain and there was nothing to fear. I insisted and told him that I would not go to sleep unless he went up on deck to make certain that everything was all right.

"My husband dressed himself and went up on deck. A little later he went to the porthole to look out. He had hardly done so when the crash came and he was thrown violently on his back. Then he put a life belt on me and another one on himself. In the meantime some sailors were trying to launch boats on the other side of the ship. The ship was then listing considerable.

"It had been just forty minutes after the collision that the Burgogne took her final dive. Then suddenly men, women and children, some of them still alive, were spouted out like sticks in a boiling volcano. These poor creatures, those who had strength, would swim to the rafts and beg to be taken aboard, and being denied, turn and disappeared into the ocean.

"When wireless telegraphy was discovered I thought that great wrecks would be impossible, but the fate of the Titanic has shown us differently. We must rely upon life boats and life preservers. I think every person should learn how to put on a life preserver when he goes on board a vessel. He cannot learn when the ship starts to sink. My husband said that nearly all could have been saved from Burgogne if they had put on life belts and kept cool."

Time has not erased the lines left in the face of Mrs. Lacasse by the tragedy and only a glace at that sad, patient face tells the story of her suffering. Since the news of the wreck, Mrs. Lacasse has not dared to remain alone with her thoughts, but has always had some friend with her when it was possible.

WANT AN EPISCOPAL CHURCH AT GARWOOD

Archdeacon Shepard Interested in Plans for New Parish in That Community.

Archdeacon R. Bowden Shepherd, of Trenton, had charge of the services at the Holy Cross church, yesterday morning, preaching an excellent sermon to a large congregation. In the afternoon the archdeacon visited Garwood, where efforts are being made to establish an Episcopal church there. There are a number of Episcopalians residing in Garwood and vicinity and it is the belief that the time is now ripe to establish a parish. Definite steps in that direction will be taken within a short time.

There are Episcopal churches at Westfield and Cranford, but the territory in the vicinity of Garwood is growing rapidly, and the prospects of having a strong church at that point seems promising to those who are interested in the movement.

EAST END CHURCH'S PIPE ORGAN DEDICATED

Gift of Dutch Arms Club Formally Presented to Netherwood Reformed People.

The handsome new pipe organ recently installed in the Netherwood Reformed church was formally presented to the congregation by the Dutch Arms Club, last night. The accompanying service was attended by a capacity gathering of members and friends, indicating in no small degree the interest manifested in the work of the east end religious body. The full, mellow tones of the instrument, heard for the first time, seemed to give a new inspiration to each individual worshipper and made it apparent that a long-felt want has been supplied.

An invocation by Rev. William B. Lane, of this city, opened the service by offering prayer, after which Oscar Wahlig, president of the Dutch Arms Club, presented the organ in behalf of the organization. He referred to the fact that the gift was something the church had needed and the donors felt assured the instrument would aid in furthering the religious services. On accepting the organ, Rev. Royal A. Stout warmly thanked the club and expressed his assurance that the betterment of the musical part of the services would enhance the interest in them. He referred to the gift as an evidence of the harmonious and cordiality existing between the Dutch Arms and church, the former having been originally organized as a neighborhood social club. Later it affiliated with the congregation as a sub-organization. Mr. Stout also made acknowledgement of an electric desk lamp for the pulpit, contributed by the Home Department of the Sunday-school. Later the pastor made a short address on the subject, "God's Use of Music in the Church," in which one of his assertions was that melody is one of the Creator's avenues of approach to mankind.

Miss Iona Wood, who has been appointed organist, presided during the service. She was assisted by F. B. Wills, the latter playing the prelude and postlude. A full vested choir, in charge of Horace J. Martin, assisted in the singing.

The organ is finished in quartered oak and has a facing finish of golden bronze. There are a total of 414 pipes while the mechanical construction embraces all the modern appliances known to the trade.

MRS. HALL'S LECTURE.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall will speak tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at All Souls' Unitarian church. Tickets, which cost twenty-five cents, may be procured at Randolph's drug store. Through an error in announcing this lecture the price of tickets was given as one dollar. The Equal Suffrage League, under whose auspices the lecture is given, wishes to correct this impression and to hope that a large number of Plainfielders will be able to attend and to greet Mrs. Hall, who is a former resident of this city.

DEDICATION CEREMONY AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH

Bishop McFaul and Many Priests Take Part in Imposing Services--Memorial Altars and Windows Unveiled--Father Miller Ill.

Dedication ceremonies were held yesterday morning at St. Joseph's church with the Right Reverend James A. McFaul, bishop of Trenton, presiding.

One unfortunate feature of the celebration was the inability of the pastor, Rev. William E. Miller, to be present, since he has worked faithfully for the building of the church and for the success of the dedication ceremonies. At the close of the service the Bishop alluded to the good work done by him and to the sorrow felt by all over his absence. Father Miller was too ill to attend.

The doors of the church were thrown open at ten o'clock and the large crowd that had been waiting soon filled the edifice to its utmost capacity. Previous to that the bishop and the visiting clergy had held a solemn service preparatory to the solemn high mass at 10:30, which was presided over by the Bishop. Rev. W. F. Ditterick, of Bound Brook, was celebrant, Rev. W. T. Leahy, deacon; Father Schwartz subdeacon, and the Rev. Dr. Norris master of ceremonies.

The sermon was preached by Rev. P. T. Petri, of Atlantic City, who gave a learned and forceful discourse of a dedicatory nature. During this time the Bishop occupied a throne on the gospel side of the sanctuary. He showed how the greatest men of all ages had dedicated their lives to the work of beautifying and promoting the churches that they might be expressions of the very highest art and workmanship.

The music was under the direction of B. A. Parobeck and James E. Bailey, assisted by the organist Miss Mary O'Connor and a full orchestra, with Messrs Frost playing the cello, Zannette cornet, Naylor French horn, McNabb, clarionette, Hallet flute, and Paronbeck, Youngman, Denney, Winkler and Sattelle, violins. The musical program consisted of Prelude, Awakening of Spring, Back; Precessional, March Pontifical, Gounod; Farmer's Mass in B flat, by the male quartet with the boys' choir; Offertory, Regina Caelia, with Messrs. Bailey and La Porte in the duet parts assisted by the choir; and the Recessional March Alex Flambeaux.

At the conclusion of the mass Bishop McFaul spoke for a few moments to the congregation complimenting the church and those in charge of the building for the success that had crowned their efforts. At 3:30 the bishop officiated at the confirmation services held in the church.

The visiting clergy included Monsignors O'Grady, of New Brunswick, and Brady, of Perth Amboy, and these priests, Rev. John Tyrell, of Rahway, Rev. W. F. Ditterick, of Bound Brook; Rev. W. T. Leahy, of Princeton; Rev. L. Schwartz, of Steney Hill; Rev. J. J. Zimmer, of Raritan; Rev. E. C. Griffin, of Trenton; Rev. J. Roche, of Asbury Park; Rev. B. J. Hogan, of Plainfield; Rev. Dr. Norris, of Dead, and Rev. P. T Petre, of Atlantic City.

The work on the new building was performed by the following-named contractors: Connif Bros., masonry; William Bartie, stone; M. J. O'Keefe, carpenter; R. H. McCullogh, millwork, etc.; P. F. Kane Company, heating; Vermont Marble Company, altars; G. J. Tobin, copper leaders; Woolston & Buckle, painting.

There are three handsome marble altars, in the new church, the main altar and altars to the Blessed Virgin Mary and St. Joseph. The main altar was the gift of Dennis Harrington, his sons, Timothy F. and Dennis and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Harrington. St. Joseph's altar was the gift of the Rev. Henry Duckguschel, while the altar to the Blessed Virgin Mary was the gift of James Hurley and family.

There are about forty-six memorial windows in the church, the gifts of various members of the parish, chief of which is one to the Blessed Virgin Mary, by the sodality of that name. The St. Aloysious societies of the church also shared in these donations. The sanctuary windows were donated as follows: The Resurrection, Rev. W. H. Miller; Blessed Virgin Mary, Miss Catherine McMann; St. Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Cormack McDonough; St. Francis, Miss Nora Moran. Two large transcept windows were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Daley and family and Mrs. Cogan, in memory of her husband. Two lower sanctuary windows, to St. Ann and St. Rose, of Alima, were donated by R. H. McCullough and Miss Mary Miller (sister of Rev. W. H. Miller) respectively.

The cornerstone of the church was laid a year ago last Thanksgiving day and the edifice was completed shortly before the beginning of the present year. The first mass was held at midnight of last Christmas day and mass has been held regularly ever since January 14 when the old church was finally vacated. The building is an imposing structure.

DeMeza in the city court, this morning. Thomas Banks, of East Third street, on a charge of riding his bicycle on the sidewalk, was allowed to go under a suspended sentence, and Thomas Webber, arrested on the same charge, will be given a hearing tomorrow morning.

William Snyder, of Hoboken, came to Plainfield Saturday to search for a position. He met a mutual friend and fell by the wayside over too much of the cup that cheers. Patrolman Flatley found Snyder on Watching avenue, helpless. He was allowed to go under a suspended sentence.

LeRoy Duber, of Westfield, was arrested at East Front street and Leland avenue, by Patrolman McCarthy, who charged that the man was exceeding the speed limit with his auto. Duber was allowed to go under a suspended fine of $50.

TWO NEW SOLOISTS FOR FIRST BAPTIST

Soprano and Contralto Engaged by Howard M. Case to Be Heard Sunday.

Howard M. Case, organist and musical director at the First Baptist church, announced today that Miss Hazel M. Kaiser, soprano, and Mrs. A. M. Dickey, contralto, both of New York, have been engaged as soloists for the coming year beginning next Sunday. They will succeed Miss Ruth Harris and Miss Katherine Bushnell, who concluded their services yesterday. Miss Harris has taken a position at the Madison Avenue M. E. church, New York, and Miss Bushnell's plans are not decided. Their retirement is greatly regretted by the congregation.

The new singers have had considerable experience in church work and are said to possess particularly sweet voices of a wide range. They will sing next Sunday for the first. Mrs. Dickey is a niece of Rev. Donald MacIntyre, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, New York. No other changes in the choir are expected.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS ENJOYED AN INFORMAL RECEPTION

The first of a series of monthly Saturday evening receptions was held at the Plainfield High School on Saturday night. These affairs have been substituted for the Friday afternoon receptions, which were held during the winter months. The reception was well attended and much enjoyed. The members of the freshmen class furnished the program, the first part of which included a number of verses starting with the letters to form the word "freshmen." These verses were composed by Ernest Higgins of that class. The preliminary verses were recited by the following, Ernestine Wilson, Anna Murphy, Lena Moledesky, Ruth Dunwell, Helen MacKillop, Ruth Morris and Grace Hunt.

AGED PRELATE CONFIRMED MANY

PREACHES THREE TIMES

Bishop of New Jersey Who Has Passed the Four Score Milestone, Delivers Impressive Discourses to Large Congregations.

Right Reverend John Scarborough, D. D., Bishop of New Jersey, made his annual visitation to the Episcopal churches of the city and borough, yesterday, preaching and confirming a class at each one. The Bishop, despite the fact that he is 81 years old, is remarkably active and his sermons were much enjoyed by large congregations. During his stay in Plainfield, the Bishop was entertained by the Misses Tweedy, of Crescent avenue.

The Bishop visited Grace church, in the morning, where he confirmed a class of twenty-seven. He delivered an impressive sermon on the theme "Forgiveness of Sins," in which he pictured clearly the willingness of God to pardon the sins of all who seek Him.

At the Church of the Heavenly Rest at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the Bishop confirmed a class of eleven, and he gave an eloquent discourse on "The Resurrection." While at this church he also visited the new rectory, expressing his pleasure over the commodious dwelling and fine appointments.

In the evning, the Bishop visited Holy Cross church, and after confirming a class of seven, preached from the text, "I Have Finished the Work." He emphasized the point that everyone has a place in life and some particular work to perform. At each church the Bishop took the opportunity to congratulate the rector and speak words of encouragement.

SAYS JERSEY DEMOCRATS WILL STORM BALTIMORE

Trenton, April 29 (Special).—Robert S. Hudspeth, the New Jersey member of the National Democratic Committee, predicts that there will be 3,000 Jerseymen at the Democratic National Convention in Baltimore June 25. He has issued a statement in which he declares:

"There is no question as to the result of the Democratic primaries in New Jersey May 28. State pride will cut a big figure in the voting, with the Governor of this State in the role of the most prominent Democratic Presidential candidate before the people. The majority of the voters of the State consider this as a personal compliment to New Jersey. It will affect the result at the primaries in favor of Governor Wilson very materially.

"Furthermore, in view of Governor Wilson's accomplishments and his execution of the promises of the New Jersey Democratic platform and his prominent part in the placing of the party in the advantageous position it now occupies, there is no reason why Governor Wilson should not be supported."

FINE PERFORMING HORSES WITH ROBBINS' CIRCUS

Intelligent animals, especially horses, always attract attention and interest those who watch them perform. With the Frank A. Robbins circus, which comes to Plainfield this year on May 8, is the famous Hugo Herzog troupe of eight imported Belgian stallions. These beautiful black animals, under the direction of Prof. Carl Gearhart, provide fifteen minutes entertainment during the Robbins show each day,, and are declared to be the finest specimens of performing animals in the country. They are but one feature of an all feature show, which is declared to be bigger and better than ever this year. Dare Devil Devoe, who slides from a trapeze to the ground while balanced on his head; Hillary Long, who bounces down stairs while standing on his head; The Carreas, probably the best known women bare back riders in the country today; Oscar Benschlin and his troupe of aerilists; the Herbert Brothers, acrobats par excellence; the Cevene troup of wire walkers, who have just returned from a triumphant tour of South America, and many others will be seen when the show comes here. A splendid band gives concerts before each performance; there is a big street parade in the morning, and with the show is a menagerie doubled in size over that of last year.

WILL PURCHASE FLAGS FOR ALL POLLING PLACES

The American flag must float from all polling places in the State of New Jersey hereafter. This is the result of a recent law passed in the Legislature making it obligatory. The Union county board of freeholders in common with the other county governing bodies of the State, must take steps at once to purchase flags measuring two feet by five. These flags, under the law, must be in plain view.

This is the first time in the history of the State that the display of the national colors has been compulsory at a voting place, and there are few States in the Union where the step has been taken. Commendation on all sides have been expressed toward the innovation among county office-holders and others. The flag will help pilot the voter to the polling place.

PLAN FOR ROOSEVELT'S TOUR OF NEW JERSEY

Newark, April 29.—Team work and harmony was the keynote of the meeting of the Roosevelt League of New Jersey. The reports all contained a hopeful tone, and everybody present seemed brimful of confidence.

The selection of candidates for delegates and alternates to the national convention were ratified, a State campaign committee selected and a campaign committee for each Congressional district named. The following were named alternates- at-large: Wilbur A. Mott, Henry Marelli, William Forst and Louis N. Brock.

A committee was named to conduct Colonel Roosevelt on a tour of this State in the week of May 21 to May 28, inclusive. There being no primaries intervening during this period, it was thought a favorable opportunity to have Colonel Roosevelt speak to the New Jersey voters before the primary election. The chairman of the committee which will arrange the details of the tour is Harold J. Howland, who is associated with Mr. Roosevelt on the Outlook, and was with him on the last trip West.

Former Governor Fort, who accompanied the party during the tour of Massachusetts, was very enthusiastic over the prospect of the Bay State. He said that when they passed Lowell at 11 o'clock one evening a larger crowd of men gathered to greet the party than he had ever seen at any political meeting at such an hour. This and other things, the speaker said, indicated that they had the situation in hand. He concluded with the following: "If we carry Massachusetts, and I believe we will, the jig is up."

The other members of the speakers' committee ar Frank B. Jess, of Camden; Prosecutor Wilbur A. Mott, James A. McCarthy, of Hudson; W. Fellowes Morgan, of Short Hills, and Assemblyman John E. Gill, of Mercer.

DEMON CHAUFFEUR OF PARIS KILLED

BUILDING IS DYNAMITED.

After Long Battle Detective Chief Forces Door, Finds Bonnot Under Mattress and Puts Bullet Through Head—Anarchist Dubois Also Killed.

Paris, April 29.—After a five hour siege by the police Bonnot, the notorious bandit and leader of the gang of desperadoes who have been terrorizing the country, killing and robbing almost at will, and Dubois, one of his accomplices, were killed. The siege took place at an automobile garage where the two were found to be in hiding.

Bonnot was known as the "demon chauffeur," and Dubois was a Russian anarchist. The band of which they were members has terrorized Paris and its environs for months.

During the battle, in which dynamite was employed, two policemen were wounded. Bonnot died fighting to the last, but Dubois poisoned himself after the police and soldiers had made a breach in the wall.

Chief Detective Guichard had been on the trail of the bandits for several days. He and several detectives were led to the village of Choisy-le-Roi, five miles from the fortifications. This was the scene of the fight with the police last Wednesday, when Subchief Jouin was killed.

The detectives went to Choisy-le-Roi to search a garage which Dubois had rented from Fromentin, known as "the millionaire anarchist."

Chief Is Fired Upon.

Chief Guichard cautiously opened the door of the garage and found Dubois preparing to leave on a motorcycle. The fight began at once. Dubois drew a revolver and began firing, and other shots came from an upper window. Two policemen, Eugene and Arlon, were wounded at the very outset, the former seriously in the stomach and the latter slightly in the arm. Not knowing how many men he had to deal with, Chief Guichard withdrew his force and surrounded the garage.

The news of the firing had spread, and the local mayor and councilors, armed with revolvers, arrived to reenforce the police. The inhabitants of Choisy-le-Roi also grabbed up weapons and hurried to the scene. Republican guards, more police and gendarmes arrived in autos, having been summoned from Paris by telephone. Sightseers by the hundreds also arrived in autos to watch the battle.

The police established a cordon about the garage, and everybody except gun bearers was kept 300 yards from the house where the men were imprisoned.

The firing kept on for some time, and after a general attack from all sides the trumpets sounded "Cease firing!" and new tactics were tried.

Mattresses For Shields.

A long cart was loaded with straw and armored with mattresses, which had been borrowed from people living nearby. The owner of the cart, shielded by the armor, backed his horse toward the garage. Then a lieutenant of the republican guard crawled under the cart and placed a dynamite cartridge against the wall of the house. Then he retired hurriedly. The cartridge failed to explode. This maneuver was repeated three times. On the third attempt the cartridge exploded and made a large breach in the house, which caught fire.

Silence then fell on the crowd, which expected a last despairing rush from the besieged. There was not a movement of any kind. Then the cart was again employed to cover an advance by M. Lepine, the prefect of police, and M. Guichard, the chief of detectives, accompanied by some twenty detectives. Some of these held up mattresses before them as shields.

The police entered the garage and found that Dubois had been dead for some time. His body lay on the floor. He had not died from wounds, but is supposed to have poisoned himself early in the battle when he saw that escape was impossible.

Bonnot Shot in Head.

Chief Guichard then started to look for Bonnot. He mounted the stairs cautiously and was about to step into the garret when a shot came from the bed. It was wild, and Guichard sent a bullet into the head of a man which was protruding from under the mattress. The man was in a dying condition. He proved to be the notorious "Demon Chauffeur" Bonnot.

The excited crowd broke through the police cordon and on being informed that Bonnot was still alive made an attempt to lynch him. Bonnot, blood pouring from his nose and mouth, was still able to call the police "beasts" as he was being taken to the hospital. He died a few minutes after he reached the hospital. A letter was found in his pockets in which he exculpates certain of his supposed accomplices who are now under arrest. A prussic acid pill which he had made a desperate attempt to get at was found in the lining of his trousers.

Nineteen men are now under arrest on the charge of being implicated in the work of the bandit gang.

GREWSOME CARGO BROUGHT TO PORT

Ship Reaches Halifax With 189 Titanic Victims.

ALL BUT ONE IDENTIFIED

Body of Colonel Astor Claimed by His Son, and Other Relatives of Dead Take Charge of Remains—C. M. Hays' Body Left Behind on Minia.

Halifax, April 29.—With her grewsome load of 189 bodies of Titanic victims picked up at sea at the scene of the disaster the cable ship Mackay-Bennett arrived at her dock at noon today. She had on board all the bodies of those thus far reported identified except Charles M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk railroad, which, her commander said, is aboard the ship Minia.

Vincent Astor of New York, with three private cars, was here to claim the body of his father, and accompanying him was Mr. Biddle. A Grand Trunk special train came for Mr. Hays' body. Mr. Isidore is here representing Mrs. Victor Penasco, hoping to find the body of her husband. Mrs. Penasco's sister is married to the brother of Premier Canalejas of Spain and is related to the royal family. She is lying ill at the Plaza hotel, New York. The body of Isidor Straus of New York was also claimed by relatives.

George Warren of Portland, Ore., who seeks his father's body, also met the vessel.

Picture Men Barred.

Photographers were not allowed to take pictures in the dockyard. The press representatives, however, were admitted. The pier to which the Mackay-Bennett docked was surrounded by canvas, and the companionway from the ship on which the bodies were brought ashore was similarly obscured.

Piles of coffins were on the pier. The bodies were immediately taken from the dockyard to the Mayflower curling rink.

It was announced that while friends might take charge of the bodies, valuables or papers that may have been found with them will be retained by the White Star officials unless the person claiming the body can show that he is acting as executor or administrator of the deceased.

Seventeen additional names of identified dead were given out by the Mackay-Bennett. Her commander says the "seventeen completes the list of identified bodies." Only one of the entire number has not been identified.

A message from the Minia says no more bodies have been taken.

Few More Will Be Found.

The bodies of only a little more than 10 per cent of those who perished have been recovered, and Captain Decarteret of the Minia says that he does not think many more will be found.

The message from the Minia confirms recovery of the body of Charles M. Hays, also the following third class passengers: Sigurd H. Moen and Jacob Wilkund, also engineer with initials A. H. F., Italo Donati, waiter; A. Stanbrooke, steward; Edward Eliot, fireman, also man with initials H. R., evening dress, cuff buttons, gold, marked S. G. All on board.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 29.—The death list resulting from the cloudbursts and tornadoes which swept through Oklahoma was greatly augmented when it became known that ten persons were killed at Foss, nine at Butler, two at Sentinel and one at Hinton. This brings the known death list up to forty-one. The injured list will be in excess of 100, and it may be 200.

Four towns cannot be heard from at all. They are Eldorado, Warren, Blair and Martha. They were reported as blown away and no communication with them has been established.

PRINCE MAY VISIT U. S.

Paris Hears Wales May See America as His Grandfather Did.

Paris, April 29.—The Prince of Wales, who is now in this city, will shortly visit the United States, according to a report in the Cri de Paris. The report says the prince will stay here until well into the summer, after which, in accordance with plans mapped out by the late King Edward, he will journey to America to receive the "guiding influence of the western world."

His grandfather visited the United States as Prince of Wales in the sixties.

"Yours is such a cheerful store," declared a shopper yesterday. "I like to come here because your salespeople always appear so happy."

CONTENTMENT—that's the word!

Our salespeople are contented, and contented people, as a general thing, are always more cheerful than discontented folks. We try to make it pleasant for those who are associated with us. Success at this store is a mutual quantity. We all share in it.

We like to have this known as "HAPPY STORE," we like to have customers tell us that they come here because of the cheerful surroundings. It spurs us to bigger and better things. It makes us try all the harder to be worthy of praise.

Why not call this "THE ALWAYS HAPPY STORE?"

GARBAGE DISPOSAL.

Taxpayers will have an opportunity to show their interest in the movement for a municipal system of garbage collection and disposal by attending a Councilmanic committee meeting tomorrow night when Leon R. Thurlow will discuss the need and the feasibility of the proposed improvement. As Chairman George S. Clay has extended an invitation to the public to attend this meeting; the least that the householder can do to give evidence of his support is to respond to this call.

Plainfield is away behind the times in its method of disposing of refuse. If it is desired to build up this community, if the purpose is to draw home-seekers, it is not sufficient to offer rural atractions; there must be city advantages. No municipality is complete without an up-to-date and sanitary system for the collection and disposal of garbage. It is one of the things that we have not and that we should have without further procrastination.

For ten long years the Board of Health has petitioned the Common Council to have the improvement made. For no apparent reason other than that the community could not afford it nothing has been done. True there have been occasional discussions, but they bore no fruit. Chairman Clay and his committee, however, are in earnest about the matter. All they ask is to be shown that the taxpayers really want the improvement; the rest is easy enough. Therefore, it is the duty of the people to turn out tomorrow night and attend the meeting at the Councilmanic chamber.

A REAL BENEACTOR.

Dr. Daniel Kimball Pearsons, who died a poor man on Fridaly, was the genuine sort of philanthropist. He didn't demand that a label bearing his name be placed on a building the funds for which he provided, neither did he parade his generosity by giving where he would get the most advertisement out of his gifts. Some thirty-five years ago he had amassed a fortune of five millions of dollars through real estate transactions in Chicago and then he retired. His mind was made up to distribute his worldly possessions where they would do the most good before he died. "For a man on his death-bed to scatter his fortune in a haphazard, goody-goody way to a dozen objects of very different merits is unreasonable." That's what he told a friend and he lived to put his idea into practice.

The smaller colleges were the objects of his good works. "None of the rich colleges," he said, "will get my money. Only the poor ones, the obscure struggling ones up in the mountains or up in the woods, where the girl or boy living out at nowhere may get an education." His first notable gift was to Beloit college, Wisconsin, which he gave $100,000. His total contributions to that institution aggregated over $600,000, but in that case as in all his donations he coupled it with the condition that the beneficiary should raise an equal sum elswhere. All over the country the impoverished colleges received help from this truly great man. When he died Dr. Pearsons had only an income of $5,000. Probably his name will not be heralded as long and as loudly as some of our philanthropists, but he was the right type of a public benefactor.

Congress is to be asked to make an appropriation for the proposed monument to be erected on the Heights of Middlebrook back of Bound Brook. A bill for a suitable National donation to supplement that of $10,000 appropriated by the State of New Jersey has been prepared by Henry C. Opdycke, president of the Washington Camp Ground Association, and it is understood that Congressman Wood will introduce the measure at an early date. Some public spirited citizen should start a movement to erect a monument at New Market.

The workmen who unearthed a can at the Martine farm containing hundreds of dollars in treasury notes, did not get all the money that's buried there. Beneath a gate at the farm entrance is a receptacle holding a silver dollar, which was put there in 1896 by the Senator for all time for he said then that it was not to be dug up until William Jennings Bryan should be the White House's tenant.

At least 300 women affiliated with the movement in New Jersey will participate in the Equal Suffragists' parade to be held in New York city next Saturday. Mrs Everett Colby, it is reported, will act as marshall for the contingent from this State. Plainfield's association will be represented and among the marchers will be Mrs. Champlain L. Riley.

All unregistered voters should see that their names are on the poll books before the Presidential primaries are held on May 28. In another column, City Clerk MacMurray gives notice that the prepared form of affidavit may be obtained at his office and that should a voter be unable to appear there personally he will mail the blank to his address.

Statisticians tell us that a baby is worth $2,900 to Uncle Sam if it reaches manhood and that by the time the age of thirty is reached the value to the country is $5,580. One of the most prolific causes of infant mortality is improper feeding and mothers unconsciously are to blame for the deaths of their offspring.

DEVIL AT WORK HERE SAYS PASTOR MAGUIRE

"Where are the Dead?" was the subject of a discourse by Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night. There was a congregation of more than 800 people present. Mr. Maguire said that apart from the resurrection, the cross itself would be ineffective.

"Death is still a fact, a reality, an enemy, a separator," said the preacher. "Christ did not lead Satan captive, because Satan is not yet Tophet, the Lake of Fire. If you don't believe me, go to the great city of New York and see the Devil hard at work, day and night; and you don't have to go out of Plainfield, for that matter. The Devil is going about right here in our own city, as a roaring lion and as an angel of light; and of the two, he does far more harm in his guise as as an angle of light."

VESPER SERVICES.

Another vesper service in the fortnightly series at the Congregational church was held yesterday afternoon at 4:30. The subject discussed by Rev. C. L. Goodrich was "Christ in the Newer Hymns." Afterward the new hymnals were used and hymns were sung which illustrated the points mentioned by the pastor. Solos were contributed by Mrs. Theodore Mantz and Eugene Margin.

The concluding service will be held on May 12, when Mr. Goodrich will speak on the subject, "A Trip to Iona."

BRAVED ARCTIC SEAS; DROWNS NEAR HOME

Borup, Who Was With Peary, Dies as Canoe Capsizes.

New London, Conn., April 29.—George Borup of New York and Winship Case of Norwich, Conn., senior students at Yale Scientific school, were drowned off Crescent beach, six miles west of this harbor, when a power canoe capsized. Both the young men were about twenty-five years of age.

George Borup is the young Yale student who went north with Peary when Peary discovered the north pole and was the youngest member of the party. At the time he made the trip Borup was taking a postgraduate course in geography at Yale.

After he came back from his trip Borup wrote a book of his experiences. In Yale he had been a football man.

In February of this year it was announced that Borup and D. S. MacMillan, another member of Peary's expedition, would start on a new arctic trip, this time for the purpose of ascertaining whether the island or peninsula known as Crocker land and supposed to have been seen on previous expeditions, really existed.

TO SUE HARVESTER TRUST.

Government to Begin Dissolution Proceedings Soon.

New York, April 29.—Negotiations for the voluntary dissolution of the International Harvester company have failed, and a suit in equity under the Sherman anti-trust law will be filed by the federal government within a few days.

It was learned that the Taft administration in the suit will make charges far beyond the technical legal violations of the Sherman law. It will charge that the International Harvester company is a "bad," not a "good," trust, as the Roosevelt administration characterized it, and that it has resorted to unfair business methods, false representations and unlawful means to secure its monopolistic control.

MEMORIAL TO CHIVALRY.

Washington April 29.—Mrs. William H. Taft has contributed the first dollar to the woman's Titanic memorial fund, which is being raised through a committee of a hundred women in each state and territory for the purpose of erecting a memorial in Washington to the men who went down on the Titanic in deference to the chivalrous principle "women and children first."

Mrs. John Hay has accepted the chairmanship of the movement, with Mrs. John Hays Hammond as secretary. Only women and children will be permitted to contribute to the fund, the contributions being fixed at $1 each. Mrs. Taft was allowed the honor of heading the list of contributions.

Furnishing's at Dry Goods Prices

Whereby you Save at Least 25 per cent

How's that you say. Well, in the first place an Exclusive Furnishing Store has only the one line to sell and has to make all their profit on that one line, whereas we with our kindred lines don't have to depend upon any particular one and are satisfied with a small average profit. But, you say I have to pay a quarter for sox, a half dollar for an undershirt or a dollar for a shirt, just the same as if I had bought it anywhere else. True, but we offer you a better article for the price than you get elsewhere. A large shirt manufacturer is a member of our company, one of the largest neckwear makers is also interested in this concern, and it stands to reason that we are in a better position than the other fellow when the plum tree is shaken. Then again we are one of a chain of stores controlled by this company, and are very large buyers; we get the very best prices obtainable and the savings we make, you get the benefit of. But what's the use of talking. The proof of the "Puddin'" is the eating. The very next time you want Furnishings of any sort, "Get the habit" and come here. BUTTERICK PATTERNS

TUBERCULOSIS LAW IS MOST ADVANCED OF ALL

What is designated by The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, in a statement issued today, as the most advanced legislation in the campaign against tuberculosis that has been enacted by any State in the United States, if not by any country in the world, is found in the bill just signed by Governor Wilson.

The new law provides that tuberculosis patients who refuse to obey the regulations laid down by the State Board of Health concerning the prevention of their disease, and thus become a menace to the health of those with whom they associate, shall be compulsorily segregated by order of the courts, in institutions provided for this purpose. If such a patient refuses to obey the rules and regulations of the institution in which he is placed, he may "be isolated or separated from other persons and restrained from leaving the institution." The law further provides that all counties in the State of New Jersey shall within six months from April 1st, make provision in special institutions for the care of all persons having tuberculosis in these counties. The State treasury will subsidize each county to the extent of $3.00 a week for each person maintained in these institutions except those who are able to pay for the cost of maintenance.

Commenting upon this legislation, The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis says that this is the most advanced legislation of its kind that has ever ben enacted in this country by any State Legislature. The only other State which provides for compulsory segregation of dangerous cases of tuberculosis, is Maryland. The only city in the United States which has adopted a special ordinance providing for compulsory removal of dangerous tuberculosis cases, is San Francisco. A few other cities, such at New York, exercise this power under certain provisions of their sanitary codes, but no other city has any special ordinance on the subject. The National Association declares that a consumptive who exercises sufficient precautions in the disposal of his sputum need not be a menace to anyone. The association goes further, however, in saying that when a consumptive refuses to adopt the proper precautions necessary to prevent the spread of his disease, he should be forcibly isolated and segregated in a special hospital provided for that purpose.

—When you hear a man complaining that he isn't a friend in the world, it's a pretty safe bet that he doesn't deserve any.

—Nell—"We should all love our enemies." Belle—"But I don't think I have any." Nell—"Oh, it's easy enough to make a few."

—Mrs. Buggins—"I think it is disgraceful the way Mr. Muggins snores in church." Mr. Buggins—"Yes, he snored so I couldn't sleep a wink during the whole service."

WORDS OF A FAMOUS MISSION SONG SET DOWN

Much has been written lately about the "Houn' Dawg" Song that originated in Missouri, and was composed by an Ozark mountaineer. The song was submitted in competition for a State Song and was awarded the prize over hundreds of rivals. The song is as follows:

Wunst me'n Lem Briggs 'n ol' Bill Brown
An' ol' Jim-dawg, the onry cuss,
He jes nachelly follered us.

CHORUS.

Every time I come to town
The boys keen kickin' my dawg aroun'
Makes no difference if he is a houn',
They gotta quit kickin' my dawg aroun'

As we driv' past Sam Johnson's store,
Passel o' yaps kem out th' doors;
When Jim he stops to smell a box

They tied a tin can to his tail,
An' run him apast the county jail;
'N' that plumb nachelly makes me sore
'N' Lem he cussed 'n Bill he swore.

Me 'n Lem Briggs 'n ol' Bill Brown,
We lost no time in ajumpin' down,
An' we wiped them ducks up on th' groun'
Fer kickin' my ol' dawg aroun'.

Folks say a dawg kaint hold no grudge,
But wunst when I got too much budge,
Them town ducks tried to do me up,
But they did'n count on ol' Jim-pup.

Jim seed his duty thar an' then,
An' he lit into them gentlemen,
An' he shore mussed up the cote house square
With rags 'n meat 'n hide 'n hair!

Farms and Their Value in the United States

According to an advance census bulletin on agriculture in the United States, issued by the census bureau at Washington, there are now in this country 6,361,502 farms containing a total of 878,798,000 acres, of which 478,452,000 acres are improved. The land in farms represents somewhat less than one-half, 46.2 per cent. of the total land area of the country, while the improved land represents somewhat over one-half, 54.4 per cent. of the total acreage of land in farms. Improved land thus represents almost exactly one-fourth of the total land area of the country. The average size of a farm is 138.1 acres, of which, on the average, 75.2 acres are improved.

The total value of farm property reaches the enormous sum of $40-991,000,000, of which over two-thirds represents the value of land, about one-sixth the value of buildings, and about another one-sixth the combined value of implements and machinery and of live stock. In spite of the decrease in the average size of farms, the average value of all farm property per farm increased from $3,563 in 1900, to $6,444 in 1910, or 80.8 per cent.

It is a significant fact that whereas the total population increased 21 per cent. since 1900, the urban population increased 34.8 per cent. and the rural population only 11.2 per cent. It should be noted that "rural population" is a much broader term than "agricultural population." "Rural" as here used includes the entire population outside of incorporated places (or New England "towns") having 2,500 or more inhabitants.

The average size of a farm decreased from 146.2 acres in 1900 to 138.1 acres in 1910, but the average acreage of improved land per farm was somewhat greater in the latter year than in the earlier.

The total value of farm property a little more than doubled during the decade 1900 to 1910. The greater part of this extraordinary increase has been in farm land, the value of which increased no less than 118.1 per cent., and this in turn was largely due to the advance in the price of land, the average value per acre being more than twice as high in 1910 as in 1900, $32.40 as compared with $15.57. There have, however, been remarkable increases, also, in the value of farm buildings and equipment, the value of buildings having increased 77.8 per cent., that of implements and machinery 68.7 per cent., and that of live stock 60.1 per cent.

The increase in the aggregate value of live stock is almost wholly due to higher values per head.

GALE WHIRLED STEEPLE.

New Brunswick, April 29.—The storm that tore things up around this section late Wednesday afternoon staged a remarkable performance in Stelton. It wrenched a 137-foot steeple from the Stelton Baptist church, whirled it high in the air, and then dropped it in the roadway. In falling, the steeple turned a complete somersault. The steeple was erected forty-two years ago.

HELD FOR THEFT.

Newton, April 29.—Charged with stealing about $6 from the cash register in the restaurant of Milton R. Garrison, in Main street, Wednesday night, George Quackenbush, of Cedar street, was held for the grand jury Saturday. Quackenbush for a time was alone with a child who had been left in charge of the place. She left the room temporarily, and when she returned he was gone.

BARBER TAKES HIS LIFE.

Belvidere, April 27.—William Henry, a barber of Columbia, shot himself at his home and died almost instantly. It is understood that his wife was in the hospital, and this fact, it is thought, affected his mind. He was a member of the grand jury of the county at the December term of court. Henry was forty-five years old.

Paint that Stays Painted

That has been my slogan for years. I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective.

The trial was conducted in the Second Regiment Armory in this city, after which the announcement of the finding was reserved. It is expected that it will be sevral days before the result is made known. The Court Martial was constituted of fourteen officers of the National Guard, none of them being taken from the Second Regiment, in order that there might not be any semblance of partiality.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

What-cha-goin-ta-do to that weather man anyway?

All in favor of doing something, say "I."

But it was fine weather for sowing grass seed—so why worry?

The line up that Dorflinger had slated looked good on paper and should have made the McKeesport bunch keep on their toes.

Keep the Boy Scout movement in mind. Mr. Bingaman at the Y. M. C. A. will tell you about it.

Motor cycling is becoming more popular each year. Each week finds a number of new owners.

The Plainfield Cycling Club offers some of the best races in the east on Decoration Day. Over thirty prizes have already been donated by different manufacturers.

Saturday was the day set for the beginning of activities at the Park Golf Club, but the rain interferred.

The Giants were back in first place by remaining idle on Saturday. It looked natural to see their name first.

Seven straight victories with the prospect of more is liable to get them back in the coveted position once more.

Forty miles an hour on the water is going some. Commodore Blackston of the Atlantic Yacht Club had a hydroplane that burned the water to taht degree.

Leal's put up a snappy game against Morristown School Saturday. They should know now that they can do it and annex a few scalps.

Chatham will be the mischief maker at Crescent Oval next Saturday.

Which is May 4 and April weather will be entirely inexcusable.

Neither the city nor Borough High School teams could squeeze in a game day before yesterday, and the team from over the brook has been idle for more than a week.

Still doin' it.

RAIN KEPT FANS FROM SEEING GOOD GAMES

All of the games scheduled for Saturday afternoon were cancelled at the last moment because of a driving rain that began shortly after noon. The fans had been counting on seeing a game and felt keenly disappointed when "Old Sol" put on mourning.

Dorflinger's "Pets" were kept from mixing things up with the McKeesport team and are compelled to wait until next Saturday when they are scheduled to meet the fast Chatham team. The City High-Upsala game was called off, the local lads meeting Roselle High for its next game on Wednesday. The borough school team was to have played Roselle Saturday but the wet weather prevented. They meet Somerville High next Wednesday, when the quarrel for the Somerset county championship is started.

LEALS LOSES GAME IN UNLUCKY SEVENTH

Drop Game to Morristown After Having Game Well in Hand to the End.

After putting up a rather lose article of baseball against the Pingry school team last week Leal's tightened up on Saturday afternoon in its game at Morristown against the speedy Morristown School team and made the home team work for everything that it got. Leal's led 5 to 3, until the seventh inning when the game was called because of rain. In its half of the last however the home team added three to its list through the only errors made by the visitors and won the game.

It was a hard game to lose for Leal's had played errorless bail in the early part and it looked like a Morristown scalp for the Plainfielders' belt. But the rain and a slight tendency to try for an altitude record at the very end of the game turned what had looked like a victory at the beginning of the inning to defeat by a score of 6 to 5.

Finch started to do the twirling for the Plainfield team but proved to be no puzzle for the Morristown boys who clouted him to the extent of two runs. Then Lee was rushed to the rescue and the tall lad from the Plains proved to have a thing or two on the ball and had the argument all his own way until the fatal seventh. Then after striking out three and having his back stop drop the last ball each time he allowed the hits that were his undoing.

It was far from an ideal day for baseball but the game was started in spite of the threatening rain. Under the circumstances the Leal's team has every reason to feel encouraged in the game, for the team from across the mountains has the reputation of being a much faster bunch and previous to the game every line of dope pointed to Leal's defeat by a large score.

STARS OF TRACK AND FIELD SHINE IN RAIN

Sterling performances marked the relay games at the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday, depsite the fact that an incessant downpour of rain fell for the greater part of the afternoon, soaking some five thousand spectators to the skin and making Franklin Field a veritable quagmire. Pennsylvania took two of the championship races, but the third went to Syracuse. Although marred by unpropitious weather, the meet was probably the greatest that Pennsylvania has ever held, and had the day been clear it is altogether probable that a whole sheaf of new records would have been made.

Notwithstanding the fact that Cornell was not represented by a single athletic and that neither Yale nor Harvard had a relay team on the track, the number of school and college teams that competed far exceeded all expectations. Athletes from nearly every State east of the Mississippi and some from as far west as Missouri and Minnesota and from as far north as Montreal more than made up for the absentees. Cornell, with its powerful two and four mile teams, would have made the perfection of the afternoon's sport absolute. As it was, the meet showed that the United States will have athletes par excellence when the time comes to select the team that goes to the Olympic games in Stockholm.

The performances that stood out above all others were the remarkable broad jumping of A. L. Gutterson, of the University of Vermont, and the running of Reidpath, of Syracuse University, in the one-mile championship relay. Gutterson cleared 24 feet ⅝ of an inch in his winning jump under conditions that were the least favorable imaginable. The jumping pit itself was a mass of heavy mud, while the take-off was slippery. Nevertheless, is six attempts Gutterson cleared more than 23 feet, making his best distance on his third trial jump. Gutterson's performance is the best that has been done in this country in years and takes its place with the record-breaking jumps of Meyer Prinstein and Alvin Kraenzlein. Gutterson's jump andSaturday was within four inches of Kraenzlein's intercollegiate record and within six inches of Princeton's American record. Even on this performance alone Gutterson has undoubtedly won for himself a place on the Olympic team.

Pennsylvania carried off both the two and four mile championships and shared the honors of the day with Syracuse. The Western teams, except in the special events, were decidedly out of it. Michigan was beaten rather unexpectedly in the four-mile relay after it seemed to have the race well in hand. In the two-mile races Minnesota led at the start, but was soon passed by Pennsylvania and Princeton, who fought it out to the finish, the Quakers finally winning by a dozen yards. In the four-mile race the margin was less between Haimbaugh, of Michigan, and McCurdy, of Pennsylvania, the latter pulling out ahead in a wonderful sprint down the stretch.

MATTY WITH HIS NEW CAR VISITED FRIENDS HERE

"Christy" Mathewson, the peerless one, took advantage of yesterday's good weather and New Jersey's fine roads tor un out to Plainfield for a visit. He drove the new Columbia car that was presented him by the New York fans, through the New York Mail recently, reaching this city shortly before noon. He spent the rest of the day at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. P. B. Creger, of Graw avenue.

There were a number of Plainfielders who recognized the king of pitchers and his visit here caused the local fans to get their heads together and predict the chances of the Giants for the 1912 pennant.

JERSEY CHAUFFEURS CAN RUN CARS IN NEW YORK

Trenton, April 29 (Special).—The question of the right of New Jersey chauffeurs licensed in this State to operate cars in New York State without further license under the new automobile reciprocity act of this State, has been settled. Attorney General Carmody, of New York, has rendered an opinion that the chauffeurs of this State, duly registered, may operate in New York provided they be over eighteen years of age There is a difference in the laws of the two States as to the age of chauffeurs, the New York law not permitting them to be licensed until they reach the age of eighteen, while the limit in this State is sixteen years. It is this provision of the law of the Empire State which led to this interpretation by Attorney General Carmody. The gist of the opinion is as follows:

"Motor vehicles owned by residents of the State of New Jersey and there registered, may be operated in this State without registration herein for a period or periods not to exceed fifteen days in each calendar year.

"Chauffeurs residing in New Jersey who are registered under the laws of that State and are eighteen years of age and upward, may act as such in this State without registration here."

MOTOR CYCLE CLUB ON LONG CIRCUIT JOURNEY

About twenty members of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club went on a circuit run yesterday, leaving the club rooms about 9 o'clock, and proceeding to Bound Brook, where they turned and took the river road to New Brunswick. From New Brunswick the course led to Woodbridge, Rahway, Elizabeth and Newark, where dinner was found awaiting them at the Holland House.

After satisfying the inner man the Vailsburg track was visited, where the members stopped to watch the cycle races. Just as they got there, Tommy Smith, a former Plainfield boy and holder of the Union county championship, won the novice race against more than 100 entries. The home journey was made by way of Elizabeth.

Y. M. C. A. YOUNGSTERS IN HARE AND HOUND RACE

A hare and hound chase was run Saturday morning under the direction of E. C. Ostlin, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. There were four hares, including Ray Manley, captain; Arthur Stout, Alva Brownley and Este Goster, and twenty-six hounds captained by Alfred Day.

The course taken by the hares was up the Watchung mountains, around Washington Rock and home. The hounds succeeded in capturing three of the hares, all but Captain Manley being overtaken. He succeeded in eluding his pursuers and finished without a hound in sight.

B. A. A. WINS THIRD GAME.

The B. A. A. won their second game from the B. S. S. on the Cricket field Saturday morning by the score of 28 to 7. Mills, Sikes and Case were the points for the B. A. A., while Stewart, Ball and Van Mater officiated for the losers. This gives the B. A. A. three straight victories as the 6 grade E team also fell before them 30 to 23.

M'FARLAND FILES HIS OWN APPEAL

Condemned Wife Murderer Makes Last Stand.

SAYS WIFE DIED A SUICIDE

Declares "Bunny" Letters Were Presented In Such a Way as to Prejudice the Jury Against Him—Asserts He Can Prove Wife Died by Own Hand.

Trenton, N. J., April 29.—One of the remarkable documents which have figured in the criminal annals of this state is a brief prepared by Allison M. McFarland in his own behalf during his confinement in the death chamber at the state prison under sentence of electrocution for killing his wife. The brief, comprising ninety-four sections, has been filed with the court of errors and appeals, which is reviewing the conviction.

McFarland was found guilty of administering cyanide of potassium to his wife, the state's contention being that he placed the poison in a bottle where his wife would mistake it for bromide. Motive for the crime was found in the fact that McFarland had been carrying on an intrigue with a Miss Bromley of Philadelphia, whom he had promised to marry as soon as he could divorce his wife. McFarland's brief deals largely with the contents and admission as evidence of the series of "Bunny" letters written by Miss Bromley referring to her relations with McFarland and suggesting plans for the future.

MacFarland charges that by selecting parts of this correspondence and presenting it to the jury the prosecution has inferentially worked up a false case against him and misconstrued the attitude both of himself and Miss Bromley. Taken in its entirety, he claims that the correspondence only showed that Miss Bromley and himself were awaiting the time when he should secure a divorce, not that either contemplated getting rid of Mrs. MacFarland by other means. He also urges that newly discovered evidence would support the theory that Mrs. MacFarland had committed suicide, and said he could produce additional testimony to support the contention that at the very time of his wife's death he was planning to accomplish a separation by means of a divorce.

MacFarland also attacks the charge of the trial court as unfair and prejudicial to his case. He alleges that the state had confiscated evidence essential to his defense.

NOISE WORRIES NEIGHBORS.

So Preacher Makes Printer Put Up a Fence by Plant.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 29.—When a printing plant, managed by H. C. Eisenlohr, moved into South Vernon avenue, a residence neighborhood, and located next to the home of the Rev. Birney S. Hudson of the First Baptist church, the answer to the noise and confusion of the job office was the erection of a fence four feet six inches in height.

Eisenlohr makes threats and declares it is a spite fence and built to be "mean" to them. Besides, he says, it destroys a small garden started for the benefit of his six-year-old daughter.

"The fence is built so that I can have a little privacy, and that's all there is to it," said the Rev. Mr. Hudson.

COAL PICKER CRUSHED.

Phillipsburg, April 29.—Gassella Rasan, of Pine street, this place, was fatally injured by a pusher engine near the Central Railroad chutes while picking coal. Both of his legs were crushed near the thigh. He was taken to the Easton (Pa.) Hospital, where he died a few hours later. He was thirty-one years old and was unmarried.

There will be a women's one-day golf tournament at the Plainfield Country Club, Monday, May 27, under the auspices of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association.

New Brunswick, April 29.—Israel Sahn, a tailor, charges that his wife lived with him only two days and so sues for divorce. Sahn was a widower when he married the defendant, and had sixteen children. He was the father of triplets, whom he named Taft, Loeb and Roosevelt.

WESTFIELD BUILDING SHOWS AN INCREASE

Westfield, April 29.—Building operations in Westfield during the past year show an increase of about ten per cent. over that of former years. For business buildings, a start has been made in fireproof construction, using the steel frame and hollow tile with reinforced concrete floors. The first building in the town to be erected on that plan is for the Darby Motor Company, on Prospect street. The steel frame for a theatre will be erected this week, of the same style of construction.

Few houses are built on what is called the speculative plan. The prospective home owner selects a suitable plot, has plans prepared for a house, and in three months the dwelling is usually ready for the occupant. Eighteen houses and two fireproof business buildings are in course of construction and a third one is to be started within ten days. The Deltz Engineering Company will begin next June the erection of machine shops in Westfield, near the Garwood line.

MRS. HALL TO SENATE-JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, who is to speak her under the auspices of the Equal Suffrage League—but not on the franchise question—at the Unitarian church tomorrow, made the following speech before the Senate Judiciary Committee at the recent hearing in Trenton:

"It seems familiar to be here as we came here so often in the old days when we were working for school suffrage. I speak today not as a single woman but as a mother, a grandmother and a citizen.

"We must not look at this subject of granting women the ballot from a narrow point of view speaking of this or the other special story (as the anti-suffragists had just done). This is a question of self government, the splendid heritage of our race. There is a new movement on foot now in all parties, an extension of popular sovereignty, we are going in on that wave, we women.

"Abraham Lincoln, that splendid saatesman, lawyer, politician, said, 'I go in for all, sharing the privileges of government who share its burdens by no means excluding women.' I take my stand with Abraham Lincoln.

"The elder of you who remember the Civil War will remember Wall Whitman's poem voicing the response of het volunteers to the call of the President.

"The women are coming forward now in a great movement all over our broad land, thousands and thousands of them. We don't want New Jersey to be left behind, to be left out of the procession."

TAFT AT TRENTON.

Trenton, April 29 (Special).—The reception to President Taft here Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the William H. Taft Association, partook somewhat of a non-partisan character. For about an hour the President stood in the auditorium of the Republican Club and shook hands with all somers. It is estimated that he greeted more than 3,000 persons, including a liberal sprinkling of women. Former Governor E. C. Stokes, one of the Roosevelt leaders of the State, was one of those who met the President, and there were other Roosevelt men in the crowd. Quite a number of Democrats, too, passed before President Taft and shook his hand. The President was not scheduled to speak here and he only said a few words at the close of the function, thanking the people for the compliment paid him in the reception. A heavy downpour of rain failed to keep the crowds from turning out to see President Taft, and the greeting given him was enthusiastic.

ABOUT MMANUAL TRAINING.

Trenton, April 29 (Special).—Speaking at the dinner of the Trenton Board of Education Saturday evening, Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, State Commissioner of Education, declared that more manual training should be provided in the public schools of the State. He pleaded for more vocational instruction to enable boys and girls to go out into the world and the more easily earn their living. Dr. Kendall claimed that at least one-third the time in school should be devoted to work with the hands, and that this should be in harmony with the usual course of book knowledge.

THE FORUM.

MARCONNIER'S FRIENDS.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

In your fine account of the organization of the Marconnier Reformed church, I feel that a short addition should be made to the history of the chapel. Mention should have been made of the very efficient and self-sacrificing services of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Marshall, who took hold of the work with strong hands, after it became a branch of Trinity Reformed church. They were largely instrumental in raising the debt, building up the Sunday-school and during the period that the chapel was supplied by the students, M. Seymour Purdy and A. Peter Tulp, did much to provide for their comfort.

REV. J. Y. BROEK.

MASTER MUSICIAN IS GOD, SAYS PASTOR

And Singer Needs Heart Overflowing With Love of Him, Declares Rev. Dr. Strong

The usual large congregation gathered for worship at the First Baptist church, yesterday morning. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, gave a discourse on the subject of "Music, the part it plays in the Bible, in the life of the true Christian and in the Heavenly land to which the Christian is journeying."

"God is the Master Musician," said Dr. Strong, "and the singer who would render his song with most power and effectiveness, must sing from a heart overflowing with the love of God. No amount of training or skill will reach the hearts of the people like a simple little song sung by one who, although, untrained, sings with a passion for the souls of men."

The sermon was partially a tribute to the choir of the church which had done such splendid service, and its leader, Charles W. McCutchen. Miss Ruth Harris, who has been the first soprano for some time, sang for the last time yesterday, before going to a new field of service. Miss Katherine Bushnell, contralto soloists, also sang for the last time.

At the evening service, Dr. Strong took as his text, "And everyone that heareth these words of mine shall be likened to a man who built his house," Matt. 7:24. He spoke of the building of hopes, of knowledge, of character and destiny. The ordinance of baptism was administered to Mrs. Florence H. Wohlfert, of Westfield, at the close of the service.

DELEGATES LEAVE FOR METHODIST CONFERENCE

Delegates of the Newark and New York conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church to the general conference, which will meet in Minneapolis on May 1, left New York today. Among them were Dr. James R. Joy and Dr. H. K. Carroll, both of North Plainfield. The conference is expected to be in session for about four weeks.

One of the leaders from Philadelphia will be the Rev. Dr. Charles M. Boswell, assistant corresponding secretary of the board of home missions and church extension. It has been declared to be the intention of friends to urge his election as a bishop at the meeting of the General Conference. While it is known that there are bishops to be elected, the exact number will be determined by the conference.

One of the important changes which will be urged is the return to the former system of limited pastorates.

MR. CALVIN DERRICK TELLS OF GEORGE JR. REPUBLIC

Calvin Derrick, superintendent of the George Junior Republic at Freeville, N. Y., spoke before the Men's Club of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, at their regular meeting in the church last evening. Mr. Derrick, who is affectionately known by his boys as "Uncle Cal," spoke of the work as carried on at Freeville and elsewhere, showing how the delinquent and dependent boys can be made law-abiding and self-sustaining when treated as at the George Junior colony.

Mr. Derrick showed a wide knowledge of his subject and is well fitted for his position as superintendent of this great work. He was connected with the penitentiary at Auburn before taking up his present work and is an expert on criminology, consequently his remarks were most interesting and instructive. Following the lecture refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed.

BOTH CAMPAIGNING IN MASSACHUSETTS

Roosevelt and Taft Take Final Fling Before Primary.

Boston, April 29.—Colonel Roosevelt left Boston at 8 o'clock this morning on a special train. He made car end speeches through a number of the north shore towns and a fairly long speech to the mill workers at noon. He will speak at Pittsfield this evening. His speeches today were along the same lines as his recent attacks on the administration.

President Taft is in the same region today that the colonel touched on Saturday. He will speak at Lowell, where the colonel also speaks today, and at times will be within a few miles of the colonel.

The colonel was told that his supporters in the Back Bay were more numerous than he knew and that there were even some Roosevelt clubs in the aristocratic Back Bay society clubs.

"Yes," replied the colonel, with a laugh, "there is a Roosevelt association in the Somerset club, and I had both members at dinner with me."

ALUMNI OF LEAL'S TO HOLD BANQUET

EXPECT A BIG CROWD

John Leal's Boys, Many of Whom Have Made Their Mark in Life, Will Have a "Big Night" Together Soon.

The Alumni Association of Leal's School is planning to give a banquet Friday night, May 17, at the Park Club, it being the first affair of the kind since the association was formed several years ago. The officers have succeeded in getting in touch with about 300 former graduates of the school, which is about half the total number, but it is the desire that all who ever attended this school attend the banquet and if any have been overlooked they are asked to notify the committee of their intention to be present.

The Park Club will be elaborately decorated with the school colors, maroon and old gold, and the menus will bear an appropriate emblem designed by DeWitt Brokaw. Clifford McGee will be the toastmaster. Among the speakers beside John Leal, will be Lucius H. Biglow, 3d, who from being captain of a Leal football eleven became captain of a football team at Yale, and is one of the leading undergraduates.

The list of those present will include many of the leading citizens of Plainfield, and the balcony will be thrown open to the boys now attending Leal's School. This year is looked upon as especially appropriate for a banquet and reunion, not only because it marks the thirtieth anniversary of the school, but because it is marked by a great revival in athletic interest.

Recently, there have been few such star players as Charles Dupee, Howard Roome, Lucius Bigelow, Robert Tilney, on the football field; the Schoonmaker boys on the diamond and Robert Abbott and Frank O. Reinhart in golf, and interest had waned somewhat, but this season under the leadership of William T. Glenney and supported by the enthusiasm of all the boys, the school has a fast baseball team. The idea of giving a banquet was the result of the alumni and school baseball game recently.

The banquet committee is composed of the officers: President, Clifford H. McGee, '90; vice president, Charles A. King, '01; secretary and treasurer, W. Lester Glenney, '98; also William T. Glenney, '06; DeWitt Brokaw and Doanld A. McGee, '02; John Valiant, '06; Maxwell E. Perkins, '03; Alexander Milne '93; Daniel F. Ginnas '85, who entered the school in its first year and is one of the earliest graduates.

Among some of the well-known graduates of the school are the following: Edward R. Finch, former Assemblyman of New York; Walter Chandler, manager Martinique Hotel, New York; Walter J. Moore, New York lawyer; Prof. L. H. Miller, Princeton University; Prof. Charles S. Baldwin, Columbia University; Louis K. Hyde, Plainfield; Henry Opdyke, New York lawyer; Prof. Howard Opdyke, Union College; Dr. Eli Long, New York; Prof. A. W. Leonard, Andover; A. B. Wadsworth, M. D., also professor at Columbia University; Lucius H. Bigelow, 3d, captain Yale team '09 and member of All-American team; Charles Dupee, member of Gordon Brown's famous football team at Yale; Howard Roome, member of Yale football team and All-American team; Robert Abbott, graduate Yale, and Frank O. Reinhart, graduate Princeton, intercollegiate golf champions, and Henry W. Lowe, director Johnson & Higgins, insurance brokers.

Mr. Leal's school was established in 1882, thirty years ago. Since the days when there were no sidewalks even on Central avenue, it has been one of the institutions of the city. And while one of Mr. Leal's favorite ways of making a boy "wish he hadn't done it" is to remark dryly, "Tom, that trick was old twenty years ago," he might often, if less discreetly, say, "that trick was old when your father tried it," for there are many sons of graduates among the pupils of the school.

DESPONDENT BUTCHER COMMITTED SUICIDE

Supposedly despondent over losses of large sums of money through unfortunate expenditures, George Metschko, who for twelve years has been employed in this city, first with Fred Endress in his butcher business and later with the Endress Company, committed suicide Sunday night at the home of his brother, Peter Metschko at 490 West Sixtieth street, New York city. Metschko left his work Saturday night in his usual good humor and told his friends that he intended to visit his brother over Sunday. When he failed to return to work yesterday morning it was thought that he must nave been taken ill.

Late Sunday night George entered his brother's home in New York and stated that he had been doped, and that he felt as though his head would break. Peter put him to bed and made him as comfortable as possible. Both Peter and his wife are employed during the daytime at a near-by store and when Mrs. Metschko returned at noon and saw no signs of the presence of her brother-in-law she began an investigation.

She found the body of the missing man lying upon the bed with a gas tube in his mouth. Realizing that he had taken his own life she screamed and was heard by a policeman in front of the house. He found that death had evidently taken place many hours before.

Upon the dresser in the room was found a note addressed to his brother which read, "Forgive me, Minnie and Peter." Two books, which represented paid up sick and death benefits in an association were also found as were a number of pawn tickets that indicated the straightened circumstances in which the despondent butcher found himself. These things with a bunch of keys and a small amount of change was all that was left.

Metschko was well-known in the city and was always considered an industrious and good workman. He was 43 years old and lived in rooms over the Endress store. His brother and sister-in-law came to the city this morning to straighten out his personal effects. They found that he had run no bills in this city and his act caused great surprise to those who knew him.

DRASTIC PUNISHMENT FOR STEALING TWO DUCKS

City Judge William G. De Meza scathingly addressed Elmer Rice, colored, this morning, in police court, and then sent him to the county jail for fifty days and imposed a fine of $50, for killing two prize ducks belonging to Edward H. Henck, of Myrtle avenue. The case has been hanging fire since March, and it was only by luck that it was finally brought to trial.

Rice, and Herbert VanFleet, white, of Grove street, with VanFleet's father, were working in a lot adjoining Mr. Henck's property on the day the ducks disappeared. The birds were found later with their throats cut, laying in a clump of bushes, and while suspicion was directed to the three men there was no evidence to hold them.

A few days ago someone wrote a letter to the older VanFleet in New York, telling him to keep out of Plainfield or he would be arrested for the killing. He immediately came here and notified Mr. Henck that Rice was the guilty person, and the police picked up Rice and the younger VanFleet.

When brought before Judge De Meza this morning young Van Fleet told the whole story, saying that Rice caught the ducks, cut their throats and threw them in the bushes. The Judge told VanFleet that he was really a party to the crime for standing by and not telling Mr. Henck what had happened. He was fined $5. Rice has been arrested a number of times for being disorderly and for other minor offenses. Judge De Meza told him that he was an undesirable citizen and that he intended to get him out of the way for a short time anyhow.

John H. Barry was given a suspended sentence for violation of the hack ordinance, in having refused to take a passenger who hailed him.

FINE EXHIBITION OF CLASS WORK

Hartridge School Pupils' Showing Pleasing to Parents and Friends.

EXPLAINED BY TEACHER

Gymnastic and Fancy Dance Exhibition by Those of Various Grades—Remarkable Progress Made Creditable to the School's Faculty.

The exhibition of class work by the pupils of the Hartridge School, followed by gymnasium work and various fancy dances by the different grades, attracted a large number of parents and friends to the school yesterday afternoon. The class room work was exhibited from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock, during which time the teachers were kept busy explaining the work of the children to the visitors.

Marked improvement was noticed in the work of the children at present as compared with that performed early in the year. Special attention was directed to the kindergarten in which Miss Florence G. Burt and Miss Anna N. Tompkins are the teachers; the second grade elementary, taught by Miss E. May Tennant; third grade elementary, taught by Miss Elsie L. Lines; the fourth and fifth grades elementary, taught by Miss Unity R. Dannaker, as well as the art department in charge of Miss Maude Robinson.

Between 4:30 and 5:30 there was the exhibition by the gymnasium classes, together with fancy dancing. This work was in charge of Miss Violette B. Cuno, the physical director, who is a graduate of the New York Normal School of Physical Education. The pupils showed great improvement in this work and several of the dances were especially good, so much so that encores were given. Miss Cuno displayed remarkable ability in directing the exhibition, showing that she had carefully trained the young people. The program follows:

Ring drill and folk dance, first grade elementary; Norwegian folk dance, second grade elementary; wand drill, third grade elementary; Swedish folk dance, fourth grade elementary; English folk dance, first grade academic; hoop drill, fifth grade elementary; sailors' hornpipe, second and third grades academic; Irish lilt, sixth and seventh grades elementary; rainbow dance, fourth and fifth grades academic; apparatus drill, and Indian Club drill, elementary gymnasium class; butterfly dance, academic gymnasium class.

Miss Hartridge, together with members of the faculty, received the visitors and explained to them the various departments of work being carried on in the school.

'ALL-STAR' CAST FOR THIS COMEDY

LYMAN A HEADLINER

Park Comedy Club Jubilee Offering Not to Be a Farewell Production, but There's Going to be "Some Class" to It All the Same.

"Facing the Music," a farce comedy brimming with fun and startling situations, will be presented by an "all-star" cast of the Park Comedy Club at the Park Club, Saturday evening, May 10, at 8:15 o'clock. Following the performance an informal dance will be given under the patronage of the entertainment committee.

The cast: Charles H. Lyman, president of the comedy club, without whom no play is complete. Mr. Lyman is one of the most talented amateurs in Plainfield. He will be pleasantly remembered in the leading roles of "The Magistrate," "Henrietta," and many other productions, all of which owed much of their power to his clever and masterly interpretations.

A. M. Abbott, for whom no part has any terrors and upon whom dull care has no effect. He was born to fit any situation and no situation is complete without him. Those who saw him as "Bertie," "The Lamb," will look forward with keen appreciation to his appearance in "Facing the Music."

The Rolston Brothers, Brown and Boswell, not to be confounded with Weber and Fields or Montgomery and Stone, but equally as good. They are both graduates of the "Triangle Club," of Princeton University, and

GIVES PARTY TO CELEBRATE A DECREE IN DIVORCE

William Peel, of West Second street, entertained a party of relatives and friends at a "freedom" dinner at his home, Saturday night. Independence was the keynote of the evening and it was impressed on the guests at all times, decorations of defiant American eagles and the Stars and Stripes to the reciting of the immortal document of 1776. Souvenirs were distributed in the form of place cards, depicting Lincoln smashing the chains of a manacled slave.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, of Carlstadt; Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan, the Misses Bessie and Annie Ryan, of Dunellen; Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, of South Plainfield; Mrs. Annie Orr, of Philadelphia; William Ryan, of Dunellen, and William Peel, Jr., of Plainfield.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will hold a regular meeting Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

WHY CITY DID NOT JOIN IN BORO SEWAGE PLANS

Councilman Holt Takes Issue With Former Mayor Gilbert in Communication Regarding Views Expressed in Daily Press Editorial.

Councilman Frank L. Holt takes issue with former Mayor Alexander Gilbert regarding Plainfield's position during its negotiations with North Plainfield for a proposed joint sewage disposal plant. Mr. Gilbert's ideas were expressed in a contributed editorial appearing in the Daily Press last Saturday. In reply thereto, Mr. Holt has asked that this communication be published:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

In common with many others, I was interested in reading Mr. Gilbert's editorial in Saturday's Daily Press, and I feel that in view of the publicity given to his statement of the situation, that certain other features of the matter should be made public.

The idea that Plainfield should join with North Plainfield in establishing joint sewage disposal works on the Cramer farm, was suggested to the members of the Council by Mr. Gilbert himself in January last. He urged upon them the desirability of the project for the reasons mentioned in his editorial, and as a result of his interest in the matter, a meeting was held with the Sewer Committee of the North Plainfield Council, at which the proposition was formally made by North Plainfield.

The Plainfield Council thereafter took up the consideration of the matter at considerable length and upon such consideration it appeared that there were several substantial objections to the plan. There were three main objections:

I. The locality itself.
II. The cost.
III. The provisions of the law under which it was necessary to proceed.

I. In addition to certain physical objections to the location of the Cramer farm, it appeared that Dunellen was strenuously objecting to the selection of this site and it therefore seemed that if Plainfield were to secure the good-will of North Plainfield by assenting to its proposition, it would have to incur the ill-will of Dunellen, and this consideration irrespective of the other objections above mentioned led the Council to seek for some other solution of the question.

Several conferences with representatives of Dunellen as well as of

COST BOUND BROOK $5,000 TO FIGHT NORTH PLAINFIELD

Following announcement of the State Board of Health's refusal to permit North Plainfield to use the Zvolneck farm for a sewage disposal plant, a meeting of the Bound Brook Citizens' Committee, which fought the borough's plan of location, was held in the Middlebrook Country Clubhouse, last night. A full report of all that had transpired in the year-and-a-half of opposition, was rendered by the chairman, Henry C. Opdyke, together with a financial statement by the treasurer, I. F. Whiting. The latter showed a total expenditure of $5,000, most of which represented the cost of cutting a street through the desired tract. The money was all subscribed by Bound Brook citizens.

The report was received and the committee was asked to rest pending action in the event of operations beginning in another part of the effected section. The acting committee also received a vote of thanks for its untiring efforts. The meeting was well attended despite the bad weather.

The playing of "500" occupied most of the evening, eleven tables being used. There was also an informal program of vocal and instrumental music. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

SCHOOL ELECTION IN BORO, MAY 21

ONE TEACHER RESIGNS

Cases of Two Incorrigible Youths Considered and Action is Ordered Committee is Authorized to Purchase More Text Books.

The opinion rendered by Attorney General Wilson to Dr. J. H. Cooley, the president of the Board, to the effect that it would be necessary for the North Plainfield Board of Education to issue a call for another meeting of the taxpayers, came up at their meeting last evening. Tuesday night, May 21, was the day set for this meeting. The opinion given, as told exclusively in this paper, is that the district school authorities committed a fatal error in not inserting in the general call for the meting a clause regarding the expenditure of $18,000 for a heating and ventilating system in the Somerset school. Another mistake was made when the ballots on this proposition were cast in a special box and not with the vote on the budget for current expenses in the general box. The method of casting the ballots also invalidated the general budget.

The amount of the budget asked for by the board, aside from the above mentioned $18,000, is $23,500; to be raised by a special tax divided as follows, Curren: expenses, $19,045; manual training, $2,055, and repairs $2,400. This appropriation will be voted upon with the others at the meeting on the twenty-first.

Aside from this the board ordered bills to the amount of $4,200 paid, and authorized the supply committee to dispose of some old books and purchase others. The resignation of Miss Elizabeth H. Dodd was also accepted and the contracts and teachers' salaries for the coming year adjusted.

The names of two boys were brought to the attention of the board, one for insubordination and the other for insolence and absence from school sessions. It was the general opinion of the members that these boys and any others who thought that they could conduct themselves in a like manner, should be severely reprimanded and the matter brought forcefully to the attention of the parents, and then if no change resulted to compel them to leave school.

WAGES TOO SMALL; CAN'T GET LABORERS

Reason Why P. S. R. West 4th St. Improvements Are Being Made so Slowly.

The work of laying new trolley tracks on West Fourth street is progressing so slowly that Mayor G. W. Moy has been prompted to communicate with the President Thomas N. McCarter, of the P. S. R., requesting that something be done to hasten the work. Mr. McCarter has informed the Mayor that the matter had been referred to the general manager of the company.

In the meantime, Mr. Moy had a telephone communication with the general manager, and he informed the former that an arbitrary wage of $1.50 a day for laborers on such work had been fixed, and it had been difficult to obtain laborers. Mr. Moy told the general manager that Plainfield paid $1.75 a day for this class of work and he believed that if the P. S. R. should do likewise it would have no trouble in getting men for the work. The company promised to attend to the matter at once with a view to seeing what can be done to hurry the work.

CONVENTION CHOIR.

The Convention Choir will close its season with a service of sacred song to be held on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in the Plainfield theatre. The final rehearsal will be held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church at 8 o'clock this evening. All members of the original Convention Choir are urged to be present and help to make this closing service of the choir a great blessing to Plainfield.

PIANO RECITAL.

A piano recital will be given tomorrow afternoon by the Misses Muriel Collins, Helen George and Marguerite VanZandt, pupils of Miss May Vincent Whitney, in the studio of Miss Vincent in the Babcock building. The final musicale will be given in the High School auditorium, Tuesday night, May 21.

EVERY ELEMENT OF SUCCESS

Almost every new enterprise must do a considerable amount of expensive experimenting and developing before securing a market. The competition of old established firms must then be met, or if a new device, a market must be created by costly advertising and salesmanship. Not so with the Vitaphone. The musical and mechanical features are developed; the tonal qualities are so superior as to place it in a class by itself—and what is more important, we have orders secured on the intrinsic merit of the Vitaphone from large interests that recognize the wonderful selling features of the new musical instrument—the one that combines every form of music.

Additional capital is required to build and equip a large plant—not for experimenting—not to create a market—but to fill orders actually in hand. Those who wish to learn the details of a profitable investment that will soon be withdrawn, should write for a copy of "Facts do not admit of argument"—it is concise and interesting and a request for a copy entails no obligation.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

The marvelous creation of Dante's genius, known as the "Divine Comedy," has for six centuries been familiar to the world at large only in a very general way. Its exquisite charms and beauties were accessible only to a handful of scholars. The latest invention for the benefit and improvement of mankind, that is to say the moving picture, has now become the instrument of making these shares and beauties the common property of all. A noted band of Italian artists have reproduced in 100 splendid scenes, the "Inferno" of Dante. As most readers no doubt will know, Dante starts with the poet Virgil on a journey through the Inferno, and witnesses the various circles where sin and wrong-doing met their punishment. The scenic arrangements, the settings, the colors, the acting and every detail in this great production are as perfect as human skill could make them, and have justly won the admiration of all who have seen them in Europe.

SENATE WILL DROP FITZHERBERT CASE

Trenton, N. J., April 30.—It became evident that Senator Richard Fitzherbert of Morris county will be acquitted of the latest charge against him, that of acting improperly in soliciting a retainer from the Lehigh Valley Railroad company in connection with legislation for the abandonment of the Morris canal. At the conclusion of a preliminary investigation the senate committee announced its conviction that there was not sufficient developments to warrant further action. Senator Fitzherbert has been found guilty by the Republican majority of unbecoming conduct in connection with acetylene gas bills.

The senator was represented by former State Senator Edwards of Jersey City, while Attorney General Edmund Wilson appeared for the state. Hudson Maxim of Lake Hopatcong was the first witness. He knew little about the abandonment bill, and Harry L. Schwartz of Dover was called. He told of a conversation with Fitzherbert and of suggesting to him that the senator act as representative of persons interested at Lake Hopatcong. He said the senator told him he could not act in such capacity.

George W. Campbell testified that Schwartz told him Fitzherbert had made the remark that he ought to get some money out of the proposition. E. A. Quail, a Morristown lawyer, said he had gathered the impression that the senator would oppose the legislation for a consideration. Benjamin Larue of the railroad's law department said that Elmer Harrington, said to be a relative of the Morris county senator, had called upon him and said the railroad could get anything it wanted through Fitzherbert. Larue declared Harrington said Fitzherbert ought to be retained to represent the road at Trenton. This testimony was corroborated by Edgar H. Boles, general counsel for the railroad company.

Harrington testified that he was only joking when he said the senator should be retained by the company.

WORKS' SPEECH ON FEDERAL HEALTH BILL

He Says Owen Measure Would Establish Medical Trust in This Country.

Both Christian Scientists and Osteopaths here are interested in a remarkable argument before the United States Senate, delivered by Senator John D. Work, of California, against the bill introduced by Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma, who has presented a number of measures looking toward the establishment of a department of public health. Senator Owen's latest bill provides for an independent bureau of health which many believe would tend to establish a medical trust or monopoly in this country.

"Mr. President, there is no complaint now of the inefficiency or lack of power or authority on the part of the various health bureaus now in existence and supported by the National Government. The Public Health and National Quarantine Bureau is given ample and sufficient power to deal with all such questions. No new legislation on the subject is necessary. Even the bringing together of these various bureaus whose province it is to deal with public-health questions, attached as they are to different departments of the Government and performing different and varied functions affecting the departments to which they respectively belong, not only will not strengthen them but will result in confusion, conflicts of authority, and weakness.

"But, Mr. President, I desire to go a little deeper than this into the wisdom and propriety of vesting in one school of medicine such unlimited power over the health, even the lives of the people of the country. What claims to superior knowledge and understanding have the old school or "regulars" in medicine that should induce Congress to give over to them this vast power over the public health?

"I have no animosities against the doctors, individually or as a class. They have their work to do in the interest of mankind, and should be fully protected in their right to pursue that work. It is needed in the interest of mankind, because the great majority of the people still believe in the medical doctor and his drugs. So long as this is the case the physician of whatever school should be fully and amply protected in his right to administer what his patients believe in and want. This must be so in a free country like ours so long as there is a single individual who believes in and wants the services of a medical doctor. That is what I call medical freedom. On the other hand, they who do not believe in the efficacy of drugs or in the services of a medical practitioner, but who do believe in another and different remedy, should be accorded the same right, and that right should be jealously protected. That, too, is medical freedom. No one class of men who believe in one mode of healing do not believe in it. That is tyranny and a violation of the liberties of the people.

"Mr. President, I have no objection even to the American Medical Association, so long as it confines its efforts to the advancement of science as it sees it or for the elevation of the standard of the physicians of its school of medicine, or the advancement in any way of members of its own profession. I do not complain even of its attempt to benefit its own members by legislation. But I do object most seriously to the intolerant, tyrannical, and oppressive efforts it has been making for years to prevent other schools of medicine or the practitioners of other modes of healing from exercising their right to heal the sick. Its course in this respect has been un-American.

"Mr. President, it is a conceded fact that within the States health regulations are within the power and jurisdiction of the State authorities, and it is an authority that is and should be jealously guarded. Ostensibly this bill purports to confine the activities of the Government in this respect to Federal territory and within Federal jurisdiction. If it does not, it would at once be declared unconstitutional. But one of the prime objects of the bill is to extend this power to every State in the Union, and if it is passed, the powers granted by it will be used for that very purpose. That is the very thing the doctors are most desirous of bringing about. The bill is very ingeniously drawn to accomplish this result. It provides:

"It shall be the duty of the bureau of health to collect and disseminate information relating to the public health and to enforce the observance of all regulations and laws of the United States relating to the public health.

"This is as broad and comprehensive as language can well make it. It is attempted or pretended to be modified by a proviso to the effect that this shall not authorize the bureau of health to—exercise, or attempt to exercise, without express invitation from the chief executive or other proper authority of the State, any function belonging exclusively to such State.

"Under this clause any board of health of any State composed of the very doctors who are interested in extending the power of this health bureau to the farthest limit may extend the invitation. These two interested parties will not be long in extending the activities of this bureau into the States; and, unfortunately, if it were left wholly to the executive authority of the State he would, as a rule, leave it to the health authorities and the result would be the same. The author of the bill was not quite satisfied, however, with this convenient opportunity to invade the States. The director of health is authorized, in his discretion, to appoint an advisory board of not more than seven members, who may, of course, be doctors of the regular school in as many States "to confer with him * * * concerning the health of the people," who shall hold office for a term of seven years. This makes a very close and satisfactory connection between State and Nation, and should be entirely satisfactory to the doctors.

"But, Mr. President, the bill does not stop there. It gives the director of health power to request the health authorities of all the States to send delegates—to confer with him or his duly appointed representatives and with each other at such time and place as he may designate concerning any particular matter, or matters relating to the public health.

"Not only so, but he is authorized by the provisions of the bill to call a health conference of all the States, and compeled to do so upon the petition of the health authorities of five States and Territories.

"A more ingenious attempt to evade the Constitution and encroach upon the province of the States in one of their most vital and sacred rights has never been attempted. The obvious purpose is to make the head of this bureau the autocratic power that is to control the health activities doctors at the head of the health boards of the several States, and as that is ust what they all want and are striving to obtain by this bill, it may be regarded as done as soon as the bill becomes a law.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

John Galsworthy's comedy, "The Pigeon," entered on the last week of its engagement at the Little Theatre last night, as the season at the Little Theatre closes Saturday night, May 4. There will be an extra matinee of "The Pigeon" on Wednesday. The strong characterization displayed in "The Pigeon," and the whimsical humor and gentle irony in the author's point of view, have served to give this play of Mr. Galsworthy's a vogue which has never been attained by any of his other plays, either in England or in the United States. The kindly and tender-hearted artist, Wellwyn, the French vagabond, Ferrand, the broken-down cabman, Timson, whose only consolation is drink, and the pathetic flower girl, have all found such favor in the eyes of New York playgoers that many of them have returned to see the little comedy again and again.

One of the most interesting events of the season at the Columbia Theatre occurs this week. It is the first production of a new burlesque called "The Winning Widow," written by Frank Kennedy and William Heelan, with musical score by Seymour Firth. It is in two acts, the first showing a fashionable house on Riverside Drive, and the other reproducing a section of the board walk at Atlantic City. The company includes many of the most popular performers in burlesque, among them Joe M. Fields, Florence Mills and George B. Scanlon, whose work in the College Girls will be pleasantly remembered by patrons of the Columbia. There is a large chorus and ballet and several entirely new musical numbers of the prevailing popular kind are announced. In the incidental vaudeville bill are Jean Gomez, the modern male Juno; the Dancing Woods, the Musette, the rag-time violinist.

T. R. REPEATS THAT TAFT KNEW OF SUIT

Says Harvester Case Was Discussed In His Presence.

North Adams, Mass., April 30.—Colonel Roosevelt, answering President Taft's assertion that "So far as my recollection goes, I never heard the harvester trust mentioned in any cabinet meeting that I attended," in a statement flatly reiterated that the president attended a full cabinet meeting that discussed the harvester affair.

"I clearly remember Mr. Taft being present at one such discussion and taking part in it," was the colonel's direct rejoinder.

The colonel declared emphatically that the harvester affair was repeatedly discussed at length in the cabinet both before President Taft went abroad and after he came back and that Mr. Taft had full information as to the action taken and could not have failed to have had. "Every important matter of this kind involving a question between two departments of the administration were always carried out in full cabinet. Mr. Garfield, Straus, Bonaparte and Cortelyou have stated that this particular question was discussed more than once in full cabinet meeting. I clearly remember Mr. Taft being present at one such discussion and taking part in it. If he thought that the action I took in the harvester case was in any way inadequate or reprehensible, it was his duty when he was in my cabinet to protest, and it was even more his duty after he became president to act at once. The action which after three years of inaction he actually took last week must have been taken in collusion with the Lorimer Democratic senator who introduced the resolution and could only have been taken with a view to the effect on the Massachusetts primaries. Mr. Taft has treated this harvester trust question in a way to show that he subordinates the interest of the people as a whole to the purpose of securing political advantage for himself."

CONVICTS' ESCAPE FUTILE.

After Dash For Liberty Four Desperate Men Are Recaptured.

Ottawa, April 30.—Kelly Browne and the Jones brothers, the four desperate convicts brought from Stone Mountain penitentiary lately, who made an effort to escape when on the way from Toronto, tried the trick again.

Overpowering Dr. Phelin and his attendants, Matten and Davis, they tied them up, put on their clothing and got away.

Two miles from the big prison here all were recaptured. Some of the attendants were badly used up.

OFFICERS' SCHOOL PLANS.

Trenton, April 30 (Special).—An order just issued by Adjutant General Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., the first of its kind, ever promulgated from the Adjutant General's Department, gives detailed information and instruction for the school for officers of the National Guard of New Jersey to be held at the State Camp Grounds, Sea Girt, May 27 to June 1, inclusive. The order announces that Major General P. Farmer Wanser, Division Commander, will be in command of the camp. Those who desire to attend the camp of instruction will advise the commanding officer at their respective headquarters, departments or regiments, by May 15, who will submit their name directly to the Adjutant General's office, not later than May 17. No officer whose name has not been submitted to the Adjutant General by that date will be permitted to attend the camp. All officers attending the camp will do so as students, without consideration to rank and they are required to take complete camp equipment, besides field glasses, the Leavenworth War Games and Maps and other necessary accoutrements for the study of real military tactics.

YOUNG TAFT'S FIRST VOTE.

Cambridge, Mass., April 30.—Robert Alphonso Taft, son of the President, will cast his first vote at the primaries here today. Although more than 100 Harvard students were disqualified by the election officials because they were not self-supporting, young Taft's right to claim residence was supported by evidence showing that he could exist even if he had no allowance from his father. He gave his last place of residence, previous to entering college, as Washington, stating that he had not lived in Cincinnati for six years.

BOTH CLAIMING MASSACHUSETTS

Roosevelt Men Expect 20 of 36 Delegates.

TAFT FORCES CONFIDENT.

Primary Opens After Hottest Campaign In Many Years, and Outcome May Go Far Toward Determining the Result at Chicago.

Boston, April 30.—The opening of the polls all over the state for the general primary election marked the end of the hottest campaign seen in New England for many decades. The great interest was aroused by the president and Colonel Roosevelt, his opponent for the Republican nomination for president, centering personally on this state for the capture of the delegation to the Chicago convention, recent results in other states bringing about a situation that makes the carrying of the state of great importance to the fortunes of the rival candidates.

No man can foretell what the outcome of today's primaries will be so far as it pertains to the fight for the Republican delegates. Champ Clark will undoubtedly get the delegates to the Democratic convention. The Roosevelt people are claiming at least twenty of the thirty-six delegates to be chosen directly by the people, but the Taft managers do not concede the colonel ten.

Roosevelt Claims Grow.

Two weeks ago the Roosevelt men were claiming at the best ten delegates out of the thirty-six. They say now they will carry the Second, Third, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Fourteenth congressional districts and elect two delegates at large. The Taft men admit that the Sixth and Fourteenth districts are bad spots, but they hope to carry them and assert that they will surely win all the other districts and all the delegates at large.

When the polls opened in many places there were voters waiting to cast their ballots in order that they might be sure not to miss their vote. The voting started heavy and has continued so.

The Democratic ballot in the primaries is salmon color, while the Republican is an almost white blue.

On the Democratic ballot there are fifteen candidates for the eight places as delegate at large and eleven for the eight alternate places.

One thing is certain—it will be late tonight and probably well into Wednesday morning before the results of the balloting are known.

Taft Expects 24 of 36.

President Taft ended his Massachusetts campaign here and left for Washington with assurances from his managers that he will have at least twenty-four of the Bay State's thirty-six delegates to Chicago. The Roosevelt people, on the other hand, asserted with every show of confidence that the colonel would be the preference of the Massachusetts Republicans and would have a good majority of the delegates to the convention.

President Taft acknowledged the far-reaching effect that the Massachusetts contest will have on primaries to be held in other states.

It was evident that the president was grieving over the severe strain to which the exigencies of the present situation subjected the dignity of his high office. Repeatedly he referred with regret to the necessity of the president of the United States "taking the stump" and defending himself.

"Can Win Without Massachusetts."

Pittsfield, Mass., April 30.—"Mind you, I think we can win without Massachusetts, but I don't want to have to drag Massachusetts along behind us. I want Massachusetts to pull us along," was Colonel Roosevelt's parting injunction to the state before he left it.

The colonel in his Pittsfield speech said:

"Mr. Taft says I preach class hatred and excite discontent. The only class hatred I am stirring up is hatred for the class of crooked politicians backed by crooked financiers. I am against that class of crooks. I have, it is true, preached abhorrence of Mr. Lorimer and of all that for which Mr. Lorimer stands."

STILL NEGOTIATING.

No Form of Arbitration Between Engineers and Railroads Yet Agreed On.

New York, April 30.—While there was a good deal of talk of engineers, who have voted to strike on fifty eastern railroads, being ordered to quit any time on account of the delay in reaching any basis of settlement in the meetings with the federal mediators, United States Commissioner Neill and Judge Knapp of the interstate commerce court, no strike has been declared yet.

The conference committees of the railroads held two conferences with Messrs. Neill and Knapp, but while arbitration was talked of no form of arbitration agreeable to both sides was decided on.

WAR ON THE MOSQUITO.

War has been declared against the mosquito by the Plainfield Board of Health and all residents are called upon to enlist for the campaign. Just at present the local board is co-operating with the Union county mosquito extermination commission organized under the provisions of the Mitchell law passed by the recent Legislature. Previous to the enactment of this statute everything done in that direction by municipalities or citizens was entirely voluntary. An appropriation of $350,000 was, for instance, made by the State to solve the salt marsh problem with excellent results.

By an act passed in 1896, cities, towns and townships were permitted, if they so desired, to appropriate money for fighting the mosquito nuisance, but as the matter was optional it did not have the desired effect. One municipality would accomplish what it could to keep a stream clean while a neighboring town or city would do nothing in that direction, thereby spoiling the effect of the progressive community's efforts.

The Mitchell law creates county commissions with power to "eliminate all breeding places of mosquitoes" and to do whatever they consider best to kill off the mosquito. The expenses thus incurred are to be assessed as taxes upon the county. These boards are allowed to co-operate with municipal bodies interested in the same work. This explains why the Plainfield Board of Health is at present acting in harmony with the Union county commission.

The local health board in another column makes an appeal to the residents of Plainfield to assist to rid the community of the pest. How this can best be done is explained in a circular letter issued by the board. Here are the suggestions:

"See that all collections of stagnant water are abolished; that all depressions of ground are filled in or drained; that cellars are kept clean and dry; that pails, tubs, barrels, cans, bottles, pans, dishes or anything in which water may collect, are kept off the premises. Clean the edges of ponds or brooks and see that the retaining walls are kept in repair. See that roof gutters have the proper fall and that they are kept clear of any dirt or rubbish which would obstruct proper drainage. See that you and your neighbors comply with these requirements and assist the inspector who will make frequent calls to see if you are violating the law."

New Jersey's new law is the first compulsory mosquito extermination act in this country. It is also the first to carry the crusade into each and every county and the first to make mosquito extermination general and compulsory, instead of local and voluntary.

A BLASPHEMOUS SENATOR.

One of the most blasphemous utterances of which any public man in America has been guilty was that delivered on the floor of the United States Senate a few days ago by Senator John Sharpe Williams. This representative of the people of Mississippi in venting his spleen on Theodore Roosevelt, a former President of the Republic, had written a sacrilegious parady on the Apostles' creed and he read his vile composition while acting in the capacity of a member of the highest lawmaking body of his country. So shocking is his offense that Christian ministers and laymen all over the country have sent formal protests to the United States Senate. Prelates of the Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches as well as the heads of many other great bodies of Christian churches have vehemently denounced this despiciable exhibition of sacrilege and demand that the disgraceful parady be stricken from the records of Congress. The enormity of his offense brands John Sharpe Williams as a man unworthy of sitting as a member of the Congress of a Christian Nation.

When the advertiser plants his seed there is practically no end to the reaping, says the Philadelphia Record. Today's advertisement in the daily newspoper, to quote that paper, brings a harvest tomorrow, a supplemental harvest next day, another next week, next month, next year. All that the supplemental harvests yield is "velvet." The right kind of advertising in the right kind of newspaper pays for itself immediately; after that it goes on paying almost indefinitely. A newspaper advertisement seven years old has been known to sell goods. But that, of course, was an exceptional instance of longevity.

The people who make instant response to newspaper advertising, says the Record, are numerous enough to make the newspaper "ad" highly profitable. But every "ad" makes its impression on thousands of folk whose purchases are deferred, and who remember the advertiser when they are finally ready to buy. The advertiser who bears in mind the compelling power of cumulative publicity lands them.

In another column is to be found a communication from a member of the Common Council taking issue with the views expressed by our contributing editor of last Saturday regarding the attitude of the Plainfield councilmen when in conference with North Plainfield councilmen on the sewage disposal question. While it is not the purpose of these Saturday contributed editorials to invite a controversy, it must be recognized that arguments of this sort redound to the best interests of the community's welfare. A good healthy discussion of any subject of vital interest to the municipality should always be welcomed and therefore we give prominence to a reply to the editorial in question.

The King of England attended a performance at Oscar Hammerstein's opera house in London last night and cable dispatches announce that the American impressario shook hands with his majesty. Now it is up to Oscar's press agent to get busy describing how the operatic explorer slapped King George on the back, took a jaunt through Hyde Park with his Britanic majesty; swapped jokes and the like.

PROGRESSIVES MEET TONIGHT AT ELIZABETH

Union Co. Roosevelt League to Perfect its Organization for Primary Campaign.

The Roosevelt Progressive Republican League of Union county will hold a meeting tonight in Association Hall, 1164 East Jersey street, Elizabeth. No speakers are announced as the work of the evening will be concerned entirely with the perfecting of the organization throughout the county.

District organizations already named have been requested to attend and vacancies still remaining among them will be filled. A plan of campaign will be outlined for the district organizers. John K. English, president of the county organization, has appointed the following members to the executive committee. Mayor G. W. V. Moy, Plainfield; Albert Dabb, Linden; Elston C. Hill, Roselle Park; Albert P. Cain, Springfield; John Shallcross, Jr., Kenilworth.

The Roosevelt delegates to the National Republican convention from the Fifth district, are Edgar A. Knapp, of Elizabeth; Charles W. Ennis, of Morristown, and the alternates are Mayor G. W. V. Moy, of Plainfield, and Robert F. Oram, of Wharton. Mr. Moy filed his petition with the Secretary of State at Trenton yesterday. Within an hour yesterday Mr. Moy secured fifty signers to his petition from one small section of the city.

HEALTH BOARD WAR ON MOSQUITO BEGUN

Vigorous Campaign Against Mosquito Launched and Citizens' Aid is Sought.

The Plainfield Board of Health in common with other similar bodies throughout the State, has declared war on the mosquito and steps are to be taken at once looking toward the banishment of these pestiferous insects that make life miserable for one during the summer season. Inspections with a view to finding out the conditions now existing in and about Plainfield, as regards this situation, have been started by the local Board, and notices will be served on those owners or residents who are maintaining anything on their premises favorable to the breeding of mosquitoes, requiring them to abolish such breeding places.

Such action is well supported by both the State and local law. With the small force at the command of the local Board, it will be difficult, however, to see that the law is enforced in all cases unless the people of Plainfield co-operate with the Board. The Board will order the following precautions to be taken by the owners and householders to prevent the increase in the number of these enemies of personal comfort and health:

That all collections of stagnant water are abolished; that all depressions of ground are filled in or drained; that cellars are kept clean and dry; that pails, tubs, barrels, cans, bottles, pans, dishes or anything in which water may collect are kept off the premises. Clean the edges of ponds or brooks and see that the retaining walls are kept in repair; see that roof gutters have the proper fall and that they are kept clear of any dirt or rubbish which would obstruct proper drainage; see that you and your neighbor comply with these requirements and assist the inspector who will make frequent calls.

The Board says that if these breeding places of mosquitoes are abolished, this undesirable pest will be abolished. Mosquitoes breed in stagnant or slow running water, and a very small amount of water is sufficient for this purpose; therefore the only way to get rid of these pests is to see that there is no stagnant water on the premises. The Board further cautions householders to the effect that the mosquitoes which fly into the house or infest the vines on the porch, are hatched in the immediate vicinity, as this particular species called the Culex or house mosquito, seldom fly long distances.

"IMPORTANT TO MEN"

Furnishing's at Dry Goods Prices

Whereby you Save at Least 25 per cent

How's that you say. Well, in the first place an Exclusive Furnishing Store has only the one line to sell and has to make all their profit on that one line, whereas we with our hundred lines don't have to depend upon any particular one and are satisfied with a small average profit. But you say I have to pay a quarter for sox, a half dollar for an undershirt or a dollar for a shirt, just the same as if I had bought it anywhere else. True, but we offer you a better article for the price than you get elsewhere. A large shirt manufacturer is a member of our company, one of the largest neckwear makers is also interested in this concern, and it stands to reason that we are in a better position than the other fellow when the plum tree is shaken. Then again we are one of a chain of stores controlled by this company, and are very large buyers; we get the very best prices obtainable and the savings we make, you get the benefit of. But what's the use of talking. The proof of the "Puddin'" is the eating. The very next time you want Furnishings of any sort, "Get the habit" and come here. You'll become like everybody else, a steady customer. The Men's Department is just to the left as you step in the door.

NEMO SELF-REDUCING CORSETS

In Model No. 319 the "Nemo Self-Reducing" front reduces and supports the abdomen, while the broad bands of "Lastikops Webbing" at the bottom of the long skirt produce the fashionable slender-hip effect and turn the corset edge inward, so that the ends of the bones and steels do not show through even the thinnest dress. Your gown fits closely and smoothly when you are standing, and when you sit down the semi-elastic hip-confining bands of "Lastikops Webbing" expand enough to give you complete ease, and the corset doesn't "side-up." Try a "Nemo" once and you won't buy any other kind. They sell at . . $3.00

ALL-STAR CAST IN COMEDY

William D. Flanders is one of the most versatile members of the comedy club. Whether as the hard-hearted broker in "Henrietta," the lover in "Betsy," or the statue in "Chiseling," it makes no difference to "Bill." He will do equal justice to the part assigned to him in this instance.

Miss Elizabeth McGee, in the role of "Mrs. Smith," leaves nothing to be desired. She has a natural gift for acting and her impersonations are clever and winsome. Miss McGee adores comedy and comedy adorns Miss McGee. Her part in the forthcoming play will give her ample scope for the exercise of her talents and her friends have a treat in store for them.

Mrs. A. M. Abbott, who created such a favorable impression as "Vonia Bunn," in "Trelawney of the Wells," has kindly consented to portray the sparkling character of "Miss Frothingday," of the Bijou theatre, thus insuring a perfect and successful rendering of the part.

Mrs. Francis E. DuBois' success in "The Money Spinner" was spontaneous and instant and she is given equal scope in the present play. The club could not have made a better selection for the part.

Miss Eva Brown assumed one of the leading comedy roles for which she is especially well fitted. The part is brimming with fun and vivacity and those who were fortunate enough to witness her previous successes will not fail to take advantage of the present opportunity to see her again in a character which gives ample scope for the exercise of her charming and spritely style of acting.

The proceeds of this performance, in connection with generous private subscriptions will be used by the Park Club for the construction of a women's social and card room. This room will be located downstairs in the rear of the billiard room and will be connected with the main floor by a series of arches extending the width of the building. The club is also in need of new stage properties and additional scenery so that more diversified entertainments can be given.

Reserved seat tickets will be placed on sale at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night at the Park Club. The patronesses for the affair are as follows:

Mrs. Augustus VanDeventer, Mrs. C. Everett Murray, Mrs. Henry K. Dumont, Mrs. G. D. Hallock, Mrs Leslie M. Hallock, Mrs. William B. Nash, Mrs. Henry D. Hibbard, Mrs. Nelson A. ON YOUR WAY

WHEN THE SCHOOL DAYS ARE OVER

THE schoolgirl and her social affairs are a matter of interest as the commencement season approaches. School friendships are often lasting, and out of them grow some of the most helpful influences of life.

The mother who takes an interest in her daughter's affairs can show to these friends many thoughtful courtesies.

Spring luncheon tables are charming, for the advantage at that time in the way of flowers for decorations is obvious. If the affair can be given late enough to use roses so much the better, for a pink scheme is always lovely and is one that never fails to appeal to the girlish taste.

The luncheon served should be a simple one. Girls like plenty of sweets, and the favors should be as pretty as possible, though they ought not to be expensive. Bonbons in pretty boxes, sachets, any dainty fancy work which may serve as a remembrance of school days, are suitable for the commencement farewell luncheon.

Bonbon boxes, which make charming luncheon souvenirs because of their unique shape and the uses to which they may afterward be put, are miniatures of water buckets in hand pierced tree bark, carved to allow for the interlacing of the joined edges, equipped with handles. They are lined with moss green satin and make convenient receptacles for finger rings.

Of braided straw there are small turbans trimmed with flowers made of silk and floss and in metallized pasteboard representations of clocks, mandolins, guitars and violins, which are just what is needed for holding sets of fancy toilet pins.

Ideal receptacles for gloves and veils are the large sized bonbon boxes of gold watered white silk, edged with gold cord and of glace paper painted on the sides with a crocus design. Crape paper tulips decorate the tops of these boxes, which have hinged lids, satin linings and practical key equipped locks.

French fruit bonbon baskets, which come in quilted satin lined willow with daisy and lilac topped white satin ribbon hinges and tied together lids, may be used for sewing utensils or embroidery flosses, and the shallow, low circular baskets of fancifully woven splints, color striped and with conical lids fastening with hasps, are useful for cards and invitations.

Also of French design are the silk covered round bonbon baskets having an upper edge wreathed with tiny flowers and foliage of silk and velvet and a padded sunken lid, which make a dainty pincushion for the desk or the dressing table.

Among the more practical boxes are some of heavy silk representing an ear of corn, the kernel covered portion holding the sweets and the flat end forming a lid which opens with a tiny spring, miniature log cabins of wicker which fit over wood colored lower sections of stiff paper and grass covered oblong boxes with tops representing white canvas wall tents decorated with a union jack.

Pretty china, immaculate linen and shining glass will make a table attractive. A cluster of flowers in a vase is ample to beautify it to suit the schoolgirl's taste. Music, and that of the kind the young girls enjoy, will be enough to promote their enjoyment of the after luncheon hour. Accessories may be handsome, but they should not be overelaborate or costly.

The afternoon tea, lawn party and picnic are all ways of affording the girl graduate a chance of saying a formal goodby to school days and of celebrating this event with her chums.

Padding Embroidery.

Where heavy padding is needed under embroidery try using wads of cotton instead of filling in the padded space with many stitches of darning thread.

To pad a scallop catch up a bit of raw cotton in your fingers and roll it between the thumb and forefinger until it is the length of the scallop, thick in the center, but tapering to a mere thread at each end. Lay this on the scallop and with a few stitches catch to the material. Embroider over it in the usual way.

Flowers have their petals padded by making little cushion-like wads of cotton and catching them down to the material well inside the working line with ordinary sewing cotton.

Have Plenty of Towels.

Lack of towels in a bathroom is an unfortunate economy. A single towel bar is not enough for the average family. A good plan is to reserve one or two for the towels in use, where they can be spread full width while drying.

The practice insisted upon in some homes is that all towels be folded after using, regardless of condition, is both insanitary and foolish.

The supply of soap, as well as of towels, ought not to be allowed to run short. Reserve cakes should be easily accessible and every member of the family should understand where they can be found.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CHICKEN SALAD.

CHICKEN salad when superfine is made only with the white meat of the young chicken. When a large quantity is needed, as for a reception or afternoon tea, both white and dark meat are used, and the chicken is eked out with a portion of well cooked veal. Mixed with the chicken the veal is not noticed. The chicken must be freed of bones and skin.

In selecting celery to be used in the salad tender white stalks should be chosen. About one-half as much chopped celery as chicken is required.

The General Method.

When cutting either the meat or the celery chop it on a board in preference to running it through a meat chopper.

Moisten the celery and chicken very slightly with French dressing. Arrange on overlapping lettuce leaves so that two or more may be served with one portion of the salad. Cover the top with mayonnaise, halved or quartered olives and slices of hard boiled eggs. Capers may be used instead of olives.

In serving chicken salad it is convenient to lay a couple of lettuce leaves on each of the individual plates. Then it will only be necessary to place on these a large spoonful of the salad, a small spoonful of mayonnaise, a slice of hard boiled egg and two or three olives or capers.

A Cream Dressing.

Chicken Salad With Cream.—After you have cut the white meat of the chicken into dice let it stand in a cold place until needed. Select the white, tender parts of celery and cut into half inch lengths. Throw them into cold water and let them stand to crisp. To a pint of chicken take two-thirds of a pint of celery. Three-quarters of a pint and white pepper, lay on a bed of lettuce leaves, cover with the dressing and garnish with celery tips taken from the small white heart of a dwarf bunch.

Easily Digested.

Minced Chicken Salad.—Grind the chicken in a food chopper. Mix with the ground meat of one chicken a cup of chopped celery, four hard boiled eggs chopped, the stock in which the chicken was boiled cooked down to a cupful, a cupful of chopped parsley, salt and pepper. Mix well, arrange on lettuce leaves in individual plates and put a spoonful of mayonnaise on each salad.

Chicken salad is economical when made from left over fowl. It is best when prepared with freshly cooked chicken.

For the Children

The Pussy Mascot of Uncle Sam's Submarine.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

Perhaps some young folks do not know what a submarine is, though doubtless most boys and girls know a great deal about Uncle Sam's big navy. A submarine is a small war vessel so built that it may dive below the waves and be navigated under water. They are designed to disappear so they may approach an enemy's ship unseen and send her to the bottom with a torpedo. One of the newest and largest submarines in our navy recently joined the fleet for practice. She had on board as a mascot a cat, which is shown held in a sailor's arms. Soon pussy will be a deep sea diver, for when the boat goes down pussy will go with her. She won't know, however, whether she is under the sea or on top of it, for the boat is tight and not a drop of water can enter.

Wriggles.

This artistic problem need frighten no one who may lack confidence in his power to give expression to his thought with his pencil, for this disqualification will but add to the fun of the contest. The players, being provided with pad and pencil, each draws a short irregular line upon the paper and then passes it to his neighbor. The person who receives it must address himself to the problem of drawing a picture, figure, bird, beast or whatever he pleases, incorporating the "wriggle." He may turn the paper in any direction he pleases in order to facilitate his success and before putting it to the criticism of the company should make the "wriggle" part of the drawing heavier in outline to distinguish it from the rest.

When all the drawings are completed they are intrusted to the leader, who exhibits them in turn, inviting criticism. The name of the artist (?) of the cleverest of most ridiculous of them is revealed, and he should, with becoming modesty, accept the plaudits of the crowd.

Conundrums.

Why is education like a tailor? Because it forms our habits.

Why is a nobleman like a book? Because he has a title and several pages.

Why are the legs of an ill bred fellow like an organ grinder? Because they carry a monkey about the streets.

Why is a blackboard like a safe steed? Because one is a horseshoer and the other is a sure horse.

Why are photographers the most uncivil of all tradesmen? Because when we make application for our photographs they begin with a negative.

Where does charity begin? At O (sea).

Which is the strongest day in the week? Sunday, because all the others are week days.

Why is an elephant like a wheelbarrow? Because neither can climb a tree. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Guessing Proverbs.

This proverb contest is a little "different." To play it each man or girl names the subject or moral of some proverb and one of the words used in its original form. Thus a player having in mind the adage "Straws show which way the wind blows" would say, "Subject, importance of trifles; word, way." Another, "All is not gold viously agreed upon.

Blow the Feather.

This is a game for little ones. If there are thirty in the party they are divided into circles of ten each. A light feather is thrown above each circle, and the circle keeping its feather in the air longest by blowing wins. They do not have to keep the circle formation, but may chase the feather wherever it goes.

March Winds.

March winds noisy and chill,
Blustering through the branches,
Whistling high and shrill,
Tearing adown the highway,
Snatching at caps and curls,
Eagerly trying to frolic
Among the boys and girls.
This is their happy message,
This is the song they sing:
"Hurry away, O winter!
Hurry along, O spring!
We are the winds that waken
Brooks that have slept so long.
After us come the blossoms
And the springtime joy and song."

CLEVER NEW TOYS.

Up to Date Dolls That Roll Their Eyes.

DOLL WITH MOVABLE EYES.

The funniest dolls seen in a long time are those that roll their eyes like a pickaninny in sight of a watermelon patch. The eyes move not only up and down like those of the familiar sleeping doll, but there is also a side to side motion that is particularly funny and by which the doll may be made to take on all sorts of expressions. There are also dogs and cats with these movable eyes.

Such toys, amusing to old and young, are not at all expensive, and it would be a very fractious child who would not be won into good humor at the end of a long, tiresome journey by the production of one of these comical toys from the traveling bag.

The Width of Skirts.

The persistent rumors that the skirts are to be wide and full appear to be without foundation. On the contrary, skirts continue to be narrow and only wider by a very few inches than those of last season. They are, however, draped and folded tunic-wise, which takes away from the effect of extreme tightness which was de rigueur last year.

Tailor coats and skirts mercifully remain simple in outline. The coats show a tendency to be cut away from the front, falling to a rounded tail at the back. This will no doubt have a modified version, as it is becoming to very few people, and they are, as usual, the tall and slim. The skirts are slightly trimmed with the inevitable tunic effect, but for ordinary morning wear remain a fairly short length all round. It seems at present most unlikely that the tailor suits will ever reach the aggravating length of touching the ground so that we shall again be forced to lift them to clear the ground. It is, of course, a difficult matter to lift these narrow skirts, which fact may in some degree explain the continuance in favor of the short skirt.

WHY CITY DID NOT JOIN BORO

North Plainfield were held, and it finally seemed to the Council that the selection of the Darling farm might solve the difficulty, as Dunellen had no objection to the selection of that site.

The Council thereupon decided to decline the proposition to go to the Cramer farm and to state its preference for the Darling site and this was done by a resolution adopted at a meeting held, I think, in the early part of March, but at the same time North Plainfield was expressly invited to join with Plainfield in a system with disposal works located at the Darling farm. North Plainfield decided not to accept this invitation and as I understand it, made a new application to the State Board of Health for permission to establish its own disposal works, not, however, at the Cramer farm but at the Zvolneck farm, but I believe that the State Board has just refused to grant North Plainfield the desired consent. Plainfield meanwhile has filed a formal application with the State Board for permission to use the Darling site and the State Board has requested us to secure, if possible, the consent of Piscataway Township, before rendering a decision.

II. As to cost. At the time that this joint project was first suggested in the early part of January, Mr. Gilbert stated that he had been informed that the cost of a joint system to the Cramer farm would be about $240,000, of which Plainfield's share would be about $180,000. After the conference between Plainfield and North Plainfield, a resolution was passed authorizing the expenditure of $300 for the making of tentative plans and estimates as to the cost, and Mr. Fuller, the engineer, later on reported to the municipalities that the expense would be $328,000, of which Plainfield's share would be $246,000, and in addition to this last named sum, it would cost Plainfield, in either case, about $33,000 more to get its sewage across Green Brook through an inverted siphon. The Darling site, in addition to other advantages over the Cramer site, has the advantage of costing, as estimated, for a system sufficiently large to as against $279,000 at the Cramer site.

III. As to the law of 1910, under which it is necessary to proceed. That law provides that two or more municipalities may join in establishing sewage disposal systems and that each municipality so joining shall have one vote in the joint board having the management and control of such systems, and this is so irrespective of the amount contributed by each municipality toward the cost of the system or toward the subsequent maintenance charges. Furthermore, the law provides that any municipality contributing 25% or more toward the cost of such system, shall have a veto power in regard to any action taken by such joint board. The result of this would be that in the management and control of any joint system established by Plainfield and North Plainfield, the former, although contributing 75% of the cost and maintenance charges, (this being the proportion suggested in the proposition for joint action) would have only an equal vote with North Plainfield as to all matters of policy and management, and could not take any affirmative action in regard to any extension or alteration of the system without the consent of North Plainfield.

Now it naturally occurred to some of the members of the Plainfield Council that there might be some question as to the advisability of entering into a joint project under such conditions, and let me stop here for a moment to say that this doubt is not prompted by any unfriendliness to or distrust of North Plainfield or its Council, and that every member of the Plainfield Council has the most friendly feeling toward North Plainfield and will be glad to co-operate with it and assist it in any possible way, subject only to the duty which they owe to the City of Plainfield itself.

Mr. Gilbert says that if the situation had been handled with business sagacity a basis of joint action could easily have been reached. It was because the Plainfield Council felt that there was a question as to whether it was ordinary business sagacity to enter into a partnership in which one partner contributed three-fourths of the expense and the other partner one-fourth, and where each had equal voting power and each had an absolute veto power over any positive action suggested by the other party, that the hesitation arose. Perhaps we were wrong as to this, perhaps that question should not have been considered at all and it may possibly be that the sentiment of the people in Plainfield is so strongly in favor of a joint project that any hesitation upon this ground is unnecessary, but if this is the case it is extremely desirable that the people should express their feelings in some clear and unequivocal way, and I do not think there is the slightest doubt that if this should be done the Plainfield Council will eliminate this particular question and give it no further consideration.

The advantages of a joint system are apparent to everyone and it is to be hoped that this will be the ultimate solution of the problem. If North Plainfield will accept Plainfield's proposal to use its system with disposal works at the Darling farm, upon some satisfactory basis, other than a joint arrangement under the law of 1910, and if the State Board of Health will grant us permission to use this site, the matter can then be settled to the satisfaction of everyone.

Yours truly,
FRANK L. HOLT.

PETITIONS FILED FOR DELEGATES AT LARGE

Trenton, April 30 (Special).—Petitions for the Taft delegates-at-large and alternates-at-large to the Republican National Convention at Chicago were filed with the Secretary of State yesterday afternoon, being brought from the State Republican Headquarters at Newark by John R. Flavell, Sergeant-at-arms of the Assembly. The candidates named by these petitions are the same as those agreed upon at the Republican conference in this city two or three weeks ago.

The candidates for delegate-at-large are United States Senator Frank O. Briggs, of this city; former Governor Franklin Murphy, of Newark; former Supreme Court Justice Gilbert Collins, of Jersey City, and F. Wayland Ayer, of Camden. Those named for alternate-at-large are William N. Runyon, of Union county; former Assistant Postmaster General William M. Johnson, of Bergen; John W. Herbert, of Middlesex, and Chas. M. Biddle, of Burlington.

Two petitions naming delegates-at-large to the Democratic National Convention at Baltimore were also filed. They placed in nomination United States Senator James E. Martine, of Union, and former Judge John W. Westcott, of Camden. Both men are pledged to support the candidacy of Governor Wilson for President.

WANTED TO RENT.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

This is the last day of April.

Consequently, tomorrow will be the first of May.

Then Y is the Fourth of July.

The games that are scheduled by local teams for Wednesday, the first are: Somerville H. S. and the Borough High on Hyde Field; Roselle High and P. H. S. on Parker Field, with Leal's playing out of town.

Then a two day's wait followed by another attempt next Saturday to crack the season open in this city.

In the motorcycle run of the local club Sunday Percy Haberle got mixed up with a dog near Bound Brook. Loss, one medal and a temper.

Looking over the percentage column we find the Phillie's Pirates and Cubs nestled in the second section. Last year all three were scrapping it out with the Giants for first place in the other section.

You can now drive your car into New York without changing numbers as you go over the ferry.

When Wolverton traded Jack Knight for Gabby Street baseball experts said that it was all on the Yankee manager's side. Jack has been putting up snappy ball while Gabby has not been up to his past form. Now said experts are writing a different sort of stanza.

Lee, the eLal's School pitcher, struck out 17, made 2 hits, 9 assists and was the manstay of the Front street team in the game with Morristown Saturday.

If Mr. Wardlaw's youngsters keep up their present pace they are due for a scalp soon.

Davenport leads the City High playing in batting, .500 is clouting the bal some. Barone, center fielder, leads in the percentage column, but has been at bat only three times.

There are a number of good stickers on the team.

The Cranford-P. H. S. game, which resulted in a disputed tie in the rain and wind of last Wednesday, probably will be played over.

Hal Chase has been ordered home by Wolverton to be under the care of a physician. It is thought that a nervous breakdown has been aggravated by a severe cold.

Good-bye A—Pril.

EUGENE LIDGATE WILL PLAY WITH DUNELLEN

Eugne Ledgate, a backstop of no mean ability has signed up with Manager Bogardus of the Dunellen team, and will take care of the receiving end for that club this seasen. Manager "Bob" is doing all in his power to put on a winning combination this year and has his eye open for all promising local players. Already his list includes a strong bunch.

Ledgate is not a stranger to the local fans, having caught for the City High School team in good style. When the Central Jersey League started last year the different managers were combining the players in this section for players that could stand up to the racket. Scotch Plains found Lidgate at his home in Fanwood and used him in a few games, when he recived an offier from Highbridge and played the rest of the season with them.

The management of the Pittsburgh Pirates makes the offer of $25,000 for a player who can guard the territory around the initial sack a la Ed Koney,

Hal Chase or Jake Daubert, and the Pittsburgh Pirates have spent $40,500 trying to get a first baseman of this kind.

This may sound fictitious, and some may believe that one too many ciphers appears in the first line, but Secretary William H. Locke of the Pirates gives the startling information that, if any minor league magnate can develop a youth about the equal of Koney, Chase or Daubert, President Dreyfuss will sign the check for $25,000.

So here is the chance for some minor league magnate to acquire a small fortune on one player, as did George Lennon, owner of the St. Paul American Association club, when he sold Marty O'Toole for $22,500.

Of course there are few first sackers in the class with Koney, Chase or Daubert, and it is not necessary that a written guarantee shall accompany the sale and purchase, but the Pittsburgh club stands willing to expend $25,000 for such a player as the Cardinals, Yankees and Superbas own.

The subject of paying this fabulous sum for a first baseman was discussed by Locke, and the whys and wherefores were made very plain by the shrewd and smart secretary.

"Did the Pittsburgh club really pay $22,500 for Marty O'Toole?" was asked of Locke.

"Yes, and if there are any more pitchers as good as O'Toole, Dreyfus will pay $22,500 and perhaps more," replied Locke.

"During the past few years we have paid more than $22,500 for pitching material and haven't a single twirler out of the lot to show for our money," continued Locke. "Experimenting is costly these days, and to pay a big price for one who is certain to make good is the best policy in the long run.

"Why, since Bransfield was traded in 1904 we have spent a fortune trying to get a player to fill his shoes, and not until now do I think we have found him. He is Jack Miller."

Two years back Roger Bresnahan was on the verge of trading Ed Koney for three Pirates, but the Dublin Dook weakened when it came time for completing the deal and called all bets off.

"Several times since we have tried to buy Koney, have offered star players for him, but Bresnahan has flatly refused to listen to a trade with Koney mentioned. He's a star, and I wish we had him. With Koney on first Pittsburgh would cinch the flag."

K. O. BROWN WILL NOT DO AS AN UMPIRE.

"Knockout" Brown, the New York lightweight pugilist, had an experience that nearly cost him his life. He was the man behind the bat in a recent game in Gotham where two colored teams played. The first man up whanged out a corking single and hotfooted it to first.

"You're out!" shouted Brown.

That settled it. The entire team made a rush for Brown, and he took the fence.

"What's the matter with you?" demanded Dan Morgan after Brown was out of harm's way.

"I couldn't think of safe, and I hollered out the first word that came to my mind."

WOLGAST TO GIVE RIVERS A CHANCE

BATTLE SHOULD BE GOOD ONE.

Rivers One of Best Boys Ever Produced on Coast—He Has Met With Only One Defeat—Wolgast Must Be In Good Shape In Order to Win.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Ad Wolgast, who tacks world's lightweight champion after his name, will make his re-entry into the ring when he tackles Joe Rivers, the Mexican, in Los Angeles, Cal., July 4. The battle will be a twenty round affair, and the title holder will receive $15,000 for his trouble, while Rivers will get $7,500 for his end.

The battle between the lightweights will give the Jack Johnson-Jim Flynn scrap at Las Vegas, N. M., a wallop in the attendance line and should furnish better amusement to those who pay cash. The fight from start to finish should be one worth witnessing. Both boys love to mix, and whoever gets the first real wallop over (the one will undoubtedly be Wolgast) gets the big hand and the accompanying adoration

But Wolgast will have to be right to beat Rivers. The Mexican has proved to be a tough nut, especially when he comes in at catchweights, and 133 means that he will not have to take off any poundage. When Johnny Kilbane, the present featherweight champion, stopped Rivers, the Mexican boy was forced to make a low weight, and this left him weakened and drawn. He was not able to put up his best fight, nor could he take the beating handed out by Kilbane. It will be different when he faces Wolgast.

There is considerable speculation among the boxing element whether or not the operation for appenditicis which Wolgast was forced to undergo will slow up the champion. Many are of the opinion that he will not be able to take the gaff like he has done heretofore or as he was forced to take in his affair with Battling Nelson when he won the championship. Some contend that the operation will make him weak about the body and that Rivers will be able to make the little Cadillac boy quit with stomach punches.

The champion has just as many optimistic boosters in this regard, who point out the fact that athletes have been stricken in a similar way in the height of their career and that the opera, on which followed never impaired their athletic ability. Tommy Gary, the Chicago lightweight, lost his appendix, and he is battling in the ring now frequently and taking the punishment without a quiver. He says that the operation left no ill effects.

There is but one danger to Wolgast, according to physicians who take an interest in pugilistic doings and who have studied the case of the champion. This danger is being too fat. Medical authorities and trainers of athletes agree that a man cannot make a proper showing if he be carrying any superfluous flesh. Medical men agree that flesh usually accumulates speedily after an operation for appendicitis. Therefore it seems that Wolgast would do well to train down fine and up to the day of the affair, that he may get rid of the redundant weight.

Should the champion go as fast in his fight with Rivers as he has against other challengers, he should win. Rivers has many angles of the game to learn before he can hope to beat the lightweight champion, and it seems that his only chance is to land the "haymaker." And it may be that he will not win then, for Nelson stopped Wolgast in the twenty-second round of their fight, but the Cadillac boy revived in the twenty-fourth and from that time until the fortieth he beat Nelson all the way. Wolgast has to be on his back, stiff, before he is licked.

SPEAKER'S HAT IN RING.

Boston's Outfielder Says He's After Batting Scalp of Cobb.

Tris Speaker, the sterling outfielder of the Boston Red Sox, has thrown his hat into the ring for the batting championship of the American league.

Ty Cobb of Detroit and Joe Jackson of Cleveland have been hugging an opinion that the batting honors of the organization should be the personal property of one of them next October. Speaker says they "have got to show him."

ASSEMBLYMAN SLAPS AT GOVERNOR WILSON

Assemblyman William delaR. Anderson, of Somerset county, caused a stir at the William H. Taft Club meeting at the Republican City Committee headquarters last night, when he declared that in his opinion that Governor Wilson was serving his own selfish ends by vetoing the grade crossing bill, of which Anderson and Senator Pierce were the sponsers. The Assemblyman told of a private letter addressed to the Governor having been found enclosed in the bill when it was returned by Wilson to the legislative committee. This letter, he asserted, was written by a railroad man in New York. In it, the Governor was urged to veto the measure in question and it is alleged to have contained a sentence to the effect that it would be to the Governor's interest to kill the bill. Anderson did not name the author nor did he explain why a private letter was made public.

Charles W. McCutchen and Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., both of North Plainfield, were added to the list of vice presidents. A large number who had made favorable replies to invitations to join were added to membership.

CLIMAX OF A ROMANCE THAT BEGAN IN SCOTLAND

A romance which began in Scotland several years ago, termined in the marriage of Miss Anna Baird Smith, of Jackson avenue, in the Netherwood section, and Alexander McDonald, of Bound Brook. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage of Grace M. E. church by Rev. C. C. Caine and was witnessed only by members of the pastor's family. The couple will reside in Bound Brook.

Both Mr and Mrs. McDonald are natives of Scotland and became acquainted there. The former came to this country to make his fortune with the understanding that Miss Smith was to follow at the proper time. Word was sent to her recently and she originally booked passage on the ill-fated Titanic but changed her plans afterward and sailed on a steamer leaving a week earlier. She reached Plainfield three weeks ago, coming here because she had friends at the Netherwood address.

—The absence of spyglasses in the crow's nest of the Titanic will only account in part for much of the short-sightedness that was shown in the management of the [illegible]

LOSES NERVE AFTER MURDER; KILLS SELF

Musician Planned to Hide Slain Wife's Body.

New York, April 30.—Albert de Brahms, a violinist, well known in the hotels and cafes around Longacre square, murdered his wife in their home in an apartment house some time late Friday night or early Saturday morning. For two days he made preparations for disposing of the body by shipping it in a trunk, and when an attempt was made to deliver the trunk to him the ringing of the doorbell and the banging of an excited Frenchwoman on the door so shattered his nerve that he committed suicide.

De Brahms and his wife did not live a life of harmony. They were intensely jealous of each other, and she was indiscreet in a way that caused serious disagreements.

MILLIONS FROM CEMETERIES.

Suit Says Chauncey M. Depew Shared Big Profits of Promoters.

New York, April 30.—The name of former United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew is mentioned in a suit brought by Francis E. Baker, a cemetery promoter, against Reese Carpenter, comptroller of the Kensico Cemetery company, for his share of the profits of cemetery promotions in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, in which it is alleged that Senator Depew, Carpenter and William H. Lyon, president of the Kensico Cemetery company, have made profits of from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

One of the contentions of the plaintiff is that by the use of Senator Depew's name the promotion of cemeteries in various states was made profitable through expediting the sale of stock.

HARVESTER SUIT FILED.

Action Brought Against Trust In St. Paul by Taft's Direction.

Washington, April 30.—Suit for the dissolution of the International Harvester company under the Sherman anti-trust law was filed in St. Paul, today by direction of President Taft.

The filing of the suit is the result of the failure of negotiations between the department of justice and the legal officers of the corporation. The government alleges that the harvester company is a monopoly in restraint of trade, and its dissolution will be sought on that ground.

THIRD TRAGEDY FOR GIRL.

First Fiance Died Suddenly of Pneumonia Before Nuptials, Second Killed Himself When Health Failed—Pretty Musician Millionaire's Granddaughter.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 30.—Disappointed because Miss Edna Baier, twenty-seven years old, pretty soloist in the Olivet Presbyterian church, failed to return his love, Howard Fisher, aged forty-two years, of Perryville, Md., ended his life with gas here. His body was discovered in his apartment at the Hotel Netherland, where he had been registered for over a month.

The tragedy is the third that has been connected with the name of the young woman, the daughter of J. Leonard Baier, a wealthy merchant, and granddaughter of James Henry Mason, a millionaire realty broker.

Eight years ago she was engaged to marry E. D. Hand, a young broker. A few weeks before the time set for the nuptials he died suddenly of pneumonia. Two years ago she was to wed Clarence Albertson, then assistant prosecutor of the county and son of one of the resort's oldest families. Three days before the day of the wedding Albertson told friends he was going to New York on a business trip. The next day his body was found in his boathouse at Ventnor. He had blown his brains out while suffering from melancholia superinduced by ill health.

Less than a month ago death claimed Miss Baier's younger sister. She had not fully recovered from the shock when the news of Fisher's death was conveyed to her. Miss Baier had never encouraged his attentions and had asked him to stop bothering her. In a letter written before turning on the gas he had addressed a photograph of himself to her, and he clasped a picture of Miss Baier in his hand when his body was discovered.

ROBBERS MAY GO FREE.

Trenton, N. J., April 30.—Thomas and James Reilly and Lena Goss, a trio of noted criminals, may be released from custody by the authorities of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., because there is no legal procedure under which a convict who would testify against them can be taken from state's prison here to testify in another state.

The two men are being held for complicity in a number of burglaries, the case against them having been furnished in an affidavit by William J. Burke, now confined here for safe-breaking.

Chief of Police McCabe and Assistant District Attorney Conger, both of Poughkeepsie, presented the evidence to Governor Wilson, hoping to obtain an order which would permit them to take Burke into New York state in custody.

The governor conferred with the attorney general and found that Burke could not be removed.

LAST OF "PHANTOM BANDITS" IS CAUGHT

Garnier, Aid to Bonnot, Surprised In Room.

Paris, April 30.—The last of the "phantom bandits," Garnier, chief lieutenant of the slain Bonnot, was arrested here. He was surprised in his room and gave up without a fight.

The arrest put a peaceful end to preparations by the police to dynamite an anarchist den where it was believed Garnier was hidden, with a possible repetition of the scene that thrilled Paris Sunday. Garnier, a mere youth, was the aid of Bonnot, who, with Dubois, another pal, was killed after a hot gun fight, which ended with the blowing up by the police of the garage they made their "fort."

OUR MOST HYBRID WORD.

"Remacadamizing" Can Boast of Having Five Language Parents.

The most hybrid word in the English language, according to Professor A. F. Chamberlain of Clarke university, writing in the Popular Science Monthly, is "remacadamizing." Professor Clarke points out that this word is derived from five languages—Latin, Gaelic, Hebrew, Greek and English. He resolves it into its factors as follows:

First.—Re, a Latin prefix, signifying a repetition or doing over again.

Third.—Adam, the representative in many European languages of the Hebrew name of the first man, according to the Mosaic account of the creation as given in the book of Genesis.

The root of this word, "macadam," illustrates in another way the vitality of our English speech and its ability to draw new words into its vocabulary whenever the need arises. The term "macadam" is really the family name of the man, John Macadam, who in 1819 devised the now common method of paving roads with small broken stones, etc. Celtic and Semitic had already combined to produce macadam, meaning "son of Adam," which the English language then took up and further molded to suit its genius.

There are many such hybrids, but this is probably the worst.

Brother Jonathan.

The origin of the term "Brother Jonathan" was as follows: When General Washington went to Massachusetts to organize the army he found a great lack of ammunition and of other necessary means for the conduct of the war, and at one time it seemed quite impossible to arrange things properly. Jonathan Trumbull was then governor of the state of Connecticut, and the general, who placed complete reliance on his excellency's judgment, said, "We must consult Brother Jonathan." He did so, with the satisfactory result that the governor was successful in supplying many of the pressing wants of the army, and thenceforth, whenever difficulties arose and the army spread over the country, "We must consult Brother Jonathan" became a common saying until it passed into a nickname for the whole country.

A Kingdom For a Horse.

The king of England owes his crown to a horse's shoe. The act of settlement by which in 1701 parliament elected the house of Hanover to the British throne, passed the commons by only one majority. This deciding vote was given by Sir Arthur Owen, M. P. for Pembrokeshire, third of his title, who rode post haste from Wales for the purpose. He had relays of fresh horses all along the route, but arrived, dusty and travel worn, at Westminster barely in time to the very minute. Had one of his horses gone lame or cast a shoe he would have been too late.

TITANIC INQUIRY IS ALMOST ENDED

Sailors Held as Witnesses Are Given Freedom.

ISMAY IS RECALLED AGAIN

Washington, April 30.—That the Titanic inquiry in the senate is about at an end and may be concluded today was indicated by the announcement of Chairman W. A. Smith of the investigating committee that he was through examining the crew and officers of the ill fated ship and that they were at liberty to return to England at their pleasure. Notice to this effect was sent to the White Star line officials.

Senator Smith also announced that he would call J. Bruce Ismay, president of the International Mercantile Marine company and one of the survivors of the Titanic disaster, to the stand today. He said he expected to finish with Mr. Ismay by night.

Much time was spent in once more going over the ground of the transaction between a New York paper and Bride and Cottam, wireless operators of the Titanic and Carpathia, respectively, regarding their sale of accounts of their personal experiences, with the approval of the Marconi Wireless company. It was developed that the young men received a total of $1,750 from this paper.

"How much did you get for the story you sold to a New York paper?" asked Senator Smith.

Parliament Inquires.

London, April 30.—In the house of commons the government was asked whether it was aware that British witnesses had been brought before the American senatorial investigating committee when their health and physical condition precluded their giving evidence in a satisfactory manner, and, if so, would it give assurance that no official notice whatever would be taken of the inquiry that is now going on in the United States.

Parliamentary Undersecretary Acland, speaking for the foreign office, said it was not desirable by question and answer in the house of commons to make references, based on imperfect and possibly inaccurate reports, to the proceedings of a committee of the American congress. The president of the board of trade, he said, was taking steps to obtain verbatim reports of the proceedings of the committee in case they may be of service in consequence of the court of inquiry to be held. In reply to further questions as to the alleged forcible detention of British subjects by order of the committee of the United States senate, Mr. Acland said that no complaint of that kind had been received. The committee in question, he said, had certain statutory powers to summon witnesses while within the territory of the United States.

New York, April 30.—John McPhie, forty-five years old, a musical director from Pittsburgh, was found lying in the basement of the tenement house at 306 East Forty-ninth street, in a pool of water. He was suffering from a deep laceration on the crown of the head and a fracture at the base of the skull. He was removed to Flower hospital, where it was said that he will die.

Mrs. McPhie was waiting for her husband who was to play at the Metropolitan Opera House. There was no evidence of his being robbed. All his jewelry and money were found on his person.

Colorado Springs, Colo., April 30.—The Colorado state Democratic convention adopted a resolution that the state delegation to the national convention be instructed for Champ Clark and that the delegates support him at the Baltimore convention until such time as he was no longer a candidate or they were released by him.

An effort to have Woodrow Wilson named as second choice of the convention was defeated on roll call 676 to 372.

HOME FOR BLIND BABIES IS NOW CLEAR OF DEBT

Summit, April 30—Assets amounting to $30,000 and no liabilities was the report presented Saturday at the second annual meeting of the Sunshine Society which conducts the Arthur Home for Blind Babies, in Pine Grove avenue. The report, which was compiled by David B. Mills, of Montclair, chairman of the property committee of the society, was read by an officer of the International Sunshine Society, in the absence of Mr. Mills.

During the past year an indebtedness of $7,250 on the home was liquidated and repairs to the building were made at the cost of over $10,000. Fire escapes were placed on the building, a new heating system installed, new roadways built and a sewerage system installed, as well as the remodeling of the barn.

In the three years which the society has been in possession of the home more than $35,000 has been collected through the efforts of the members in this and other States. Of this sum $15,000 was secured during 1910.

There are twenty-five blind children in the institution which is equipped to care for forty. The inmates are from: Texas, North Dakota, Kansas, Illinois, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York and this State. Blind children are admitted at a small charge from any State in which no provision is made for the care of the blind. This State makes an annual appropriation to the home of $330.

New York and New Jersey are the only two States which provide for the care of the blind. Mrs. Stewart Hartshorn, of Short Hills, chairman of the playground committee of the home, raised over $1,000 during the past year for the establishment of a playground on the home property.

Following the business meeting Saturday a luncheon was served, at which sixty-four persons were seated. A congratulatory message was received from Governor and Mrs. Wilson, each of whom expressed regret at not being able to be present. During the day there were more than 100 visitors to the home. They were entertained by the inmates, who presented a varied program. Miss Sara Esterbrook, of Rahway, was the hostess.

Mr. Mills, J. Clifford Woodhull and Charles O'Brien compose the property committee. Mrs. Theodore F. Seward, of Brick Church, is president of the local branch of the Sunshine Society, and Mrs. George B. Seeley, Coleman is the matron.

NOVEL QUESTION IN THE TRACK RAISING PROBLEM

Morristown, April 30.—Willis K. Howell, who owns a tract of land on both sides of Fort avenue, including most of the property which will be affected by the depression of Ford avenue under the plans for grade crossing elimination, has served notice on the Board of Aldermen that his deeds cover the land to the centre of Ford avenue. He has legal advice, he declares, that the town cannot sell to the railroad the earth which it is planned to excavate.

AFTER CLERKSHIP.

Summit, April 30.—Seeking appointment as city clerk to succeed Dr. J. Edward Rowe, whose resignation, it is expected, will be accepted by City Council tonight. Frederick Kentz Saturday morning forwarded to Thomas M. Debevoise, president of the Council, an application for the position. Kentz is a Democrat. It is said Frederick Clift, son of John W. Clift, editor of the Summit Herald and one of the local Republican leaders, could have succeeded Rowe, but his father was opposed to it. Rowe's successor will serve for the remainder of the present year. An election for city clerk for a two-year term will be held in November.

BAYONNE RELIGION CAMPAIGN.

Bayonne, April 30.—A six-day and Religion Forward Movement campaign was begun in Bayonne Sunday with meetings at several of the churches. The speakers were Rev. George A. Reeder, Orin G. Cocks and John Callahan, Professor Robert W. Veach and William A. Whiting, who with Rev. L. E. Sprague and O. H. Bronson, will conduct the meetings during the week. The campaign was arranged by a committee of 100 laymen.

DISCOVERED WIFE; FINED.

Easton, Pa., April 30.—John Derringer, of Oxford, came to Easton Saturday night to look for his wife. He found her walking with a young man from Bangor. Derringer invited his wife to return home with him. She refused to do so and there was a quarrel. Roundsman Miller ordered Derringer to be quiet, and when the Jerseyman refused, placed

ELECTION REGULATIONS FOR STATE PRIMARIES

Under the provisions of the German law all nominating petitions for delegates and alternates to the National conventions of the political parties, at large and in the Congressional districts, must be in the hands of the proper officials not later than tomorrow. Petitions for candidates who run in the State at large and for those in districts larger than a single county are filed with the Secretary of State. Others are filed with the clerks of the counties in which the respective districts are located.

By the sixth of May the Secretary of State is required to certify to each county clerk nominations for delegates and alternates at large and for delegates and alternates for any district made up in part of the county of such county clerk. Within two days therafter the county clerk must forward to the clerk of each municipality in the county a statement of the persons whose names are to be printed on the primary ticket of each party as candidates for delegates and alternates. It is then the duty of the city clerks at once to procure polling places, as nearly as may be, the same places used for the primary and general election of the previous fall.

May 18 is the last day for filing with the municipal clerks affidavits registering voters for the primaries. Within three days after that the municipal clerk is directed by the law to deliver to boards of election the poll books and primary books of the last preceding election and primary books and forms for writing down names, and also to deliver to these boards sample primary ballots and one-cent stamped envelopes to use in sending the ballots out to voters. The municipal clerks are allowed to deliver ballots and ballot boxes to election boards as late as the morning of primary day, May 28. The polls are open from 1 to 9 p. m.

Any voter who voted at the last general election and whose name appears upon the poll book of the last general election may vote at the primaries, or any person entitled to vote may register and vote by filing an affidavit. Any voter may register by filing with the municipal clerk an affidavit as now required by law, ten days prior to the primary. A voter may cast his ballot only into the box of the party with which he voted at the last primary election.

BERNARDSVILLE BANK TO HAVE $30,000 BUILDING

Bernardsville, April 30.—The bad weather of the last few weeks, while it has been a little drawback to real estate operations, has not been serious enough to stop building. Architects are getting out plans for new homes, and it is expected that when the weather becomes settled a number of buildings will be under way. Perhaps the most extensive building operation planned is that of the Bernardsville National Bank, which is expected to cost about $30,000. The structure will be a model one of its kind, and will be in keeping with the general tone of the community.

The rental business shows improvement over a month ago, and this encouraging state of affairs is pleasing to real estate men and owners alike.

Funeral services will be held at the house tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Robert W. Elliott, of the Church of the Holy Comforter, will officiate.

WOULD SELL BRIDGE.

Seaside Park, April 30.—Representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad have suggested to Mayor Haigg that the county purchase the railroad's bridge across Barnegat Bay. Jersey City, April 30.—The body of Louis Anderson, a night watchman for Henry Steers, a dredging contractor, was found Sunday floating in New York Bay at the foot of Linden avenue. He was last seen alive on the morning of April 8 as he was getting into a rowboat at Linden avenue. Anderson was fifty-six years old and lived at 608 Ocean avenue.

FALL FROM BRIDGE FATAL.

Jersey City, April 30.—Frank Overmeyer, of 60 Oakland avenue, fell over the railing of the stairway of the Palisade avenue bridge over the Ravine road, Sunday. His skull was fractured and he was dead when picked up. He was seen to topple over the railing by Kenneth Ball, of 36 Barclay street, who called a policeman. How the man came to fall is not known.

W. C. T. U. BUILDING.

Paterson, April 30.—The remodelled building of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, at 156 Broadway, was formally dedicated Sunday afternoon. Special services will be held every evening this week except Wednesday.
